

'TROOP D' HEROES WELCOMED HOME

Pendleton Folk Claim Men After Two Long Years.

SOLDIERS ARE ALL BRONZED

Parade Breaks Up When Relatives Break Kidnap Fighters.

SET PROGRAMME IGNORED

Mothers and Sweethearts Take Men Home; Others of 148th Get Swim, Banquet.

PENDLETON, Or., June 25.—(Special.)—Pendleton took the boys of old "troop D" to her arms this evening with even more of a demonstration than she went through two long years ago. Bronzed and vigorous, the 28 members of the troop who are with the 148th Field Artillery landed here shortly after 6 o'clock this evening. It seemed that the entire country was at the train to meet them. Hardly had the train stopped moving till the boys were out and in the arms of their sweethearts and mothers.

It was "Hello Dan, hello Bill," all the way down the line as the boys leaned from the car windows to greet their acquaintances at the station platform.

"Here, this is no time to cry," warned Sergeant Gill as tears started to flow during the greeting. "Let's laugh. The weeping time's past."

Men in Good Shape.

"Don't look like I had trained down much," eh," said Jack Coleman. "No, well, maybe it's been a mighty fattening since four or five months ago."

"It's sure warm in this Pendleton town," was the comment of Lieutenant Walters. Pilot Rock, who is in charge of this detachment of the 148th, "but it's nothing compared with Utah, or with some of the things we've been through. Coming back? Well, rather, and so are all old troop D boys, so far as I can learn. Of course, we're not all back quite yet, but with a little more at Camp Lewis, I guess we'll be home in a few days."

Quite a demonstration had been prepared for the boys, but the troop D men didn't share in it to any extent. They took their places in the line and marched down Main street through the cheering crowds.

Pendleton Men Led Home.

But as the line of march changed to go toward the natatorium, where the boys were to freshen up before dinner, there was a mutiny, incited and inspired by the home folk. This was no time to take a swim, there was plenty of good hot water right at home, and John and Bill could visit while they had dinner.

Since that was pretty good logic, and there wasn't much else to do, the order was given that troop D men could have the time till midnight, when the train leaves for Portland; and that was the end of the parade. Nevertheless, out of the some 200 men who were on the train, there were more than enough to fill the natatorium to overflowing. Too many, in fact, for the limited supply of bathing suits. Mayor Vaughan solved the problem by banishing the women folk from the premises, and turning the boys loose without suits. It was some time.

Banquet Is Enjoyed.

Then, after the swim, the members of the cadet committee of the Red Cross had prepared in the Elks club rooms a regular banquet and there the men gathered later in the evening and proceeded to lay in a week's supply of eatables.

In the evening, after the dinner had ceased to be troublesome, Happy Canyon was turned over to the soldiers for a dance. The great pavilion during the first training days of the troop was in barracks. It was there that the troop was mustered into the federal service and it was there that the final farewell was given two years ago.

Tomorrow morning another detachment of old troop D will reach Pendleton on the train carrying the members of the 148th field artillery. The men were about divided between these two organizations. The exact time of arrival of this train has not yet been made known, but it is expected some time around 6 o'clock.

WHEAT DIRECTOR IS TO STABILIZE PRICES

AUTHORITY TO REGULATE BY LICENSE GRANTED.

Tremendous Gain in Grain Stocks on Hand Shown by Food Department Bulletin.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Julius Barnes, United States wheat director, made public tonight a proclamation by President Wilson granting him full authority to regulate by license the exportation and importation of wheat and wheat flour for the purposes of stabilizing prices.

Mr. Barnes said that the regulations he would put into effect were similar to those which have been enforced by the war trade board, which heretofore has exercised the functions delegated to him.

Stocks of wheat in country elevators, mills and terminal elevators on June 25 totalled 40,023,000 bushels, as compared with 18,539,000 on the same date a year ago, according to a bulletin issued tonight by the food administration grain corporation. This was a decrease from the preceding week of 5,640,000 bushels. Receipts from farms for the week ended June 13 were 2,200,000 bushels, as compared with 2,881,000 the previous week.

PORTLAND DEPOSITS GAIN

Federal Report Shows Rose City Heads District.

Portland leads all cities of the 12th federal reserve district for increase in deposits since May 10, 1918, according to a report issued recently by the federal reserve bank in San Francisco, this being based upon figures from the local institutions at the close of business May 12. Portland's gain is given as 24,601 per cent, with Seattle in second place and San Francisco third.

For the period from March 4, 1919, to May 12 the gain in deposits of Portland banks also leads, this being 15,542 per cent, as compared with 12,749 for Seattle and 11,566 per cent for San Francisco. The report shows that the volume of business transacted by local institutions was $47,980,000, compared with $43,155,000 for Seattle. An increase of 15 per cent in bank clearings for May is shown for the 19 principal cities of the 12th district.

COMMITTEE BACKS WARTIME DRY BILL

Enforcement Measure to Be Reported Out Today.

EARLY ENACTMENT FORECAST

Passage by House Expected Before July 1.

AMENDMENT IS REJECTED

Constitutional Prohibition Legislation Separated to Assure Action Before End of the Month.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—A straight, clear-cut bill for enforcement of wartime prohibition will be reported out tomorrow by the house judiciary committee.

Decision to separate the wartime from the constitutional prohibition enforcement measure, said to be the most drastic liquor bill ever presented to congress, was reported after an all-day session. A proposal that two distinct bills be drafted was rejected yesterday, but it was brought up again today by Representative Walsh, republican of Massachusetts, and was pending when a motion to adjourn abruptly ended the discussion.

Bill to Be Reported Out Today.

There was no indication as to how the committee would have voted, but several of the leading prohibition members agreed tonight that in view of the manifest differences between the two issues and the possibility that the sale of beer and light wines might be permitted until January by presidential proclamation the wisest thing to do was to report out the wartime bill the first thing tomorrow and the constitutional bill later in the day. In this way there is every assurance, they said, that the wartime bill would be passed probably by both houses before the end of the month, at which time the "dry" act becomes effective.

Amendment Is Defeated.

An amendment by Representative Steel, democrat of Pennsylvania, which it was admitted later would have nullified the entire law, got through by a vote of 9 to 8 subsequently was reconsidered and defeated, 19 to 7. The amendment stipulated that provisions of the enforcement act, except those relating to interstate and foreign commerce, should not be effective in any state until ratified by the people. It was said tonight that one or two members voted for the amendment as a "joke."

When the committee adjourned without acting on the Walsh motion for separate enforcement bills, Representative Gardner, democrat of Ohio, returned

HIGH FOOD PRICES WILL STAY AWHILE

RETAIL GROCERS EXPECT NO REDUCTIONS SOON.

Two or Three Harvests Must Be Passed Before World Supply Gets Back to Normal.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 25.—Food prices will not be lower for some time, according to John A. Green, former secretary of the National Retail Grocers' association, who addressed the annual convention of the organization here today.

"It will take two, probably three, harvests to restore the world to its normal food state," Mr. Green declared. "Meanwhile," he continued, "the retailers must do business upon a substantial foundation as they can."

Mr. Green warned the delegates against being too cautious and declared that the cost of selling must come down, but that there could not be any reduction in the wages of employees at the present time.

Delegates to the convention were the guests of Ogden grocers this afternoon, adjournment being taken at noon. Following an inspection of several Ogden canyons and a luncheon through Ogden canyon and a luncheon occupied the grocers during their half-day.

The convention will close tomorrow with the election of officers, adoption of committee reports and selection of the next convention city. Atlanta is the only city seeking the convention.

ALARM PROTECTS VAULT

Ashland Cracksman Frightened by Electrical Device.

ASHLAND, Or., June 25.—(Special.)—A little terror belonging to people in apartments over the Citizen's bank of Ashland started barking furiously about 10:30 last night. He was hardly quieted when the clanging of the bank's electrical burglar alarm drew a large crowd.

Investigation brought to light an open window at the rear and numerous footprints and fingerprints. Apparently an amateur cracksman had sought to break into the bank vault, but had escaped when he ran afoul of the electrical protective device.

The device was set to go off at 5 o'clock had the bank employees left the door out of adjustment, and the bank officials are positive that the installation of the alarm system two weeks ago saved their vault.

PACIFIC FLEET TO SAIL WEST IN JULY

Daniels May Be Passenger on Inspection Trip.

SECRETARY TO VISIT YARDS

Changes at Panama Required by New Arrangement.

ORIGINAL PLANS ALTERED

Ships Under Admiral Rodman to Visit San Diego, Los Angeles and Puget Sound Region.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The recently created Pacific fleet, now being organized from vessels heretofore forming a part of the Atlantic forces, will sail from Hampton Roads for the west coast between July 15 and 20, Secretary Daniels announced today. Mr. Daniels probably will be a passenger on one of the warships.

The superdreadnought New Mexico will be Admiral Hugh Rodman's flag as flagship of the Pacific fleet and the Pennsylvania will remain the flagship of the Atlantic fleet. The composition of the two fleets, Secretary Daniels announced, will be made public within a few days.

Coast Ports to Be Visited.

The Pacific fleet upon reaching the western coast will visit San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco and probably will make the last stop at Puget sound. Secretary Daniels, if able to make the trip, will visit the Pacific coast naval yards and establishments with a view to making recommendations to congress next December for necessary changes.

In announcing the date of departure of the Pacific fleet from Hampton Roads, which is about a month earlier than previously contemplated, Secretary Daniels said he had planned on visiting the Pacific coast in August and that he, therefore, would make every effort to go with the fleet in order to study the scope of contemplated improvements of naval facilities at the Panama canal.

Canal Changes Necessary.

It was learned at the navy department that extensive changes would be necessary in the naval establishment at the canal zone, especially on the Pacific side, to take care of the greatly augmented Pacific fleet.

When it was first decided to make the Atlantic and Pacific fleets of equal size and strength, the plan was to send all of the oil-burning ships to the west coast and to keep the coal-burning vessels in the Atlantic, due to the geographical disposition of the nation's fuel resources. This plan has been abandoned; it was announced today.

BIG THREE DISCUSS SCAPA FLOW SINKING

COUNCIL EXAMINES FULLY ALL FACTS AT HAND.

American Denial Made That President Favored Internment Instead of Surrender.

PARIS, June 25.—The council of three, composed of Premier Clemenceau and Lloyd George and President Wilson, at its meeting today, discussed the scuttling of the German fleet at Scapa Flow, according to the Paris office of Reuters, Limited. The council examined fully the facts relative to what took place with regard to the ships at the time the armistice was signed.

The following statement, the news agency says, may be regarded as an official explanation:

"At the time of the signing of the armistice the British admiralty and the British government strongly urged that the German ships should be surrendered. The French military authorities, however, put forward the view that for the purpose of the armistice the surrender of the German ships was not absolutely essential. They were most anxious that the armistice should be concluded, having regard for the very serious loss of life daily on the western front. Insistence upon surrender of the fleet, they felt, might delay the signing for which, despite rumors to the contrary, Marshal Foch was as desirous as anyone."

The French, therefore, suggested that the German ships be interned in neutral ports. This view was supported by Admiral Benson, American naval representative in Paris. Ultimately a compromise was reached providing for the internment of the ships in a British port.

An authorized denial was made in a high American source today that there was any truth in an intimation made in the British house of commons yesterday by Horatio Bottomley, independent member from South Hackney, respecting the disposition of the German war fleet. Mr. Bottomley's intimation was that President Wilson had overruled the plea of Premier Lloyd George that the German ships should be surrendered instead of interned.

COXEY PLAN IS TOO "DEEP"

House Committee End Hearing Suddenly; "Revolution" Talked.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Jacob S. Coxe of Massillon, O., who, in 1894, led his famous "army" of unemployed to the capital, appeared before the house banking and currency committee today to advocate legislation which he said would end unemployment, but after he had distributed copies of a pamphlet to members, the committee adjourned suddenly.

The publication discussed various proposals for correcting conditions of unemployment and contained this final passage:

"Or, falling in this peaceful and desirable mode, their revolution. Think it over; is there anything else left for us to do?"

Coxey told the committee "revolution" is the generally accepted sense was not meant, but he refused to explain just what he did mean.

WILHELM REPORTED SHOCKED

Former Kaiser Hears of His Abdication by German Leaders.

AMERONGEN, Tuesday, June 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—News of Germany's decision to accept the peace terms, including the clause providing for the delivery of the former German emperor to the allies, reached the castle yesterday evening. Exactly how the tidings cannot be ascertained, but the attitude of members of his party gives rise to the belief that the news was a shock.

When the Associated Press talked with attendants they made the most scathing criticism of the German national assembly for its action. Evidently they had held to the hope that some way would be found for the former emperor to return to Germany. Now, however, it apparently is realized that he is exiled forever.
