

CHILD AILMENTS ARE TOPIC FOR DOCTORS

Minneapolis Specialist Talks on Infant Treatment.

INFLUENZA IS DISCUSSED

Tour of Columbia Highway, Baseball and Other Diversions to Keep Physicians Busy.

From nearly every corner of the state yesterday came members of the medical profession to take part in the 45th annual meeting of the state association, which opened in the morning at the Elks' lodge room. Up to late in the afternoon a number of sessions were expected today.

Child welfare is the center of interest this year and addresses by Dr. E. J. Hueneke, child specialist from Minneapolis, are being featured. He was the principal speaker at library hall last night, when the physicians held a joint session with the Oregon conference for social work.

Election of officers will form the main business of this morning's session, which is to be followed by a lunch at the hotel. Portland. The guests will depart by automobile at 1:30 P. M. for a trip up the Columbia highway to Bonanza, where the remainder of the day will be passed with races, baseball games between the Portlanders and out-of-town men and dancing.

Wives of the members were entertained yesterday with a tea at the country club and an automobile ride about the city. Dr. Katherine C. Manion heads a committee in charge of their reception. A number of luncheons were also held yesterday noon for the visitors.

Dr. W. H. Lemon Speaks

The opening session was largely taken up with an illustrated talk by Dr. W. H. Lemon of the Mayo hospital at Rochester, Minn. He emphasized the necessity of making careful examinations in all cases connected with ulcer of the intestinal tract and spoke of differential diagnosis. Discussion was led by Dr. E. B. Pickett of Medford and Dr. R. J. Wilkinson of Astoria.

Dr. T. C. Whitherspoon of Butte, Mont., was also scheduled for the programme, but was unable to come to Portland. Dr. Hueneke spoke in the afternoon, dwelling to a large extent on carefully diagnosing children's ailments instead of giving medicine the first thing. He explained the danger of giving a thorough examination. Rickets, he declared, is the most common of all their diseases, even with breast-fed children. Cows' milk, he added, is often an irritant and the infants must be fed in other ways. He also touched on neurosis, saying it is a growing evil and that a knowledge of the psychology of the child is essential. The speaker advocated taking neurotic children away from their parents and putting them in care of experienced nurses in extreme cases.

Influenza Is Topic

In the discussion which followed post-influenza infection was brought up. Dr. Manning of Seattle told of instances where the "flu" germ was found in the blood of three little children after the illness had passed. In two of these cases heart disease was brought on during convalescence.

Apparatus for extension of broken bones while they are being healed together was shown by Dr. Leonard Freeman of Denver. He brought with him a quantity of equipment which he himself invented.

Dr. Hueneke will also make an address today on "Care of the New-Born With Special Reference to Prematures" and Dr. C. C. Browning of Los Angeles will speak on "Some Physical Signs Which Aid in the Differential Diagnosis of Pulmonary Tuberculosis."

Those who have registered for the convention are as follows: C. M. Barbee, Portland; Louis Buck, Portland; A. L. Houseworth, Marshfield; H. J. Clements, Bandon; William Pettit, Portland; R. S. Eugene Soldier Returns.

EUGENE, Or., June 25.—(Special)—M. Vernon Parsons, first lieutenant in the marines and before the war a practicing attorney in Eugene, has come home from France, having been placed on the inactive list of the marine reserves. He will remain in Eugene for some time, according to present plans. Lieutenant Parsons was in the 4th regiment of marines in the 2d division and saw a great deal of fighting.

Moving Picture News

Nasimova, in "An Eye for an Eye," celebrated screen drama of the Arabic western civilization, which will open today at the Globe theater.

TODAY'S FILM FEATURES.

Liberty—William Russell, "Some Lies."
Peoples—Helen Jerome Eddy, "The Turn in the Road."
Majestic—Leah Baird, "As a Man Thinks."
Star—Vivian Martin, "An Innocent Adventure."
Columbia—Shirley Mason, "The Final Close-Up."
Globe—Dorothy Gish, "Boots."
Cirolei—Dorothy Gish, "The Hope Chest."

HER Russian Birth, Her Early Training and Liberty-Loving Nature

combine to make Nasimova the one person of all screen actresses to play the lead in "An Eye for an Eye," the stupendous motion picture drama which will open today at the Globe theater. The picture will continue throughout the week.

In this production Nasimova plays the part of the daughter of an Arabian chief, who because of the lawless deeds of his tribe, is the object of an invading French detachment. The tribe is massacred and Nasimova, alone, is saved. She later comes into the life of the officer who ordered the killing of her father and friends. And at the last minute the ancient doctrine of an eye for an eye is put to the supreme test.

The picture includes delightful dancing scenes, pictures of the French navy in action and gives an interesting insight into the life of the wandering Arabs.

Word was received yesterday by Manager Lacey of the Majestic theater that the exclusive rights to a picture of Jack Dempsey, training for the Toledo fight has been granted to his theater. The picture is on its way to Portland now and while it is not known definitely when it will arrive, Manager Lacey hopes to be able to show it with the Saturday bill. It will run a week.

Screen Gossip.

Work will be started on "Huckleberry Finn" in about two weeks under the direction of William D. Taylor, who directed "Tom Sawyer" and "Huck and Tom." Mr. Taylor has just returned from overseas, where he served as a lieutenant with the royal army service corps.

"Europe is motion picture mad," he declared, "particularly London, Italy and some parts of France. I should say 90 per cent of the pictures shown are American, but I find that star names don't mean so much. They go to see the picture, and it must be a good one."

Many of the secrets which were hidden behind the veil of censorship during the days when the submarine chasers were making the seas an unsafe place for the Hun are revealed for the first time in the sane release of the Burton Holmes travelogue, "With Uncle Sam's Submarine Chasers." This travelogue carries the spectators on one of the trips made out of Plymouth, England, by a submarine chaser.

J. Van Beuren announces that Mrs. Sidney Drew will continue to make two-reel comedies. As in the past, Mrs. Drew will prepare her own working scenarios and will direct the comedies in person. She will play her famous character of Polly, but henceforth will be the sister of a frivolous bachelor brother, Donald McBride, a popular comedian who has been associated with the Drews in many comedies, has been engaged to play the brother.

One of the biggest beats ever recorded in the history of screen news weeklies must be credited to Kinograms. Wednesday night, May 28, at 11:30, the United States destroyer Bell anchored in the North river, New York, carrying aboard pictures showing the arrival there of the NC-4 with Lieutenant Commander Read and his crew; also pictures of the Crippled NC-2. Al Wetzel, the Kinograms' photographer, was on the spot and made these remarkable shots. At 12 noon Thursday, May 29, the subscribers of Kinograms in New York city were able to show the pictures to the patrons of their theaters. Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other spots within seven hours radius of New York city were able to present on the same day this wonderful achievement. Sixty prints left the Kinograms laboratory within 12 hours of the arrival of the vessel that brought the pictures from Ponta Delgada.

Having finished "Phil for Short," with Evelyn Greely as the star, Oscar Apfel has started on "Bringing Up Betty," with Charles Sawyer, with Miss Greely in the stellar role.

Ethel Clayton will next be seen in "Men, Women and Money," which was released this month. This picture is said to be one of the most elaborate in which Miss Clayton has starred. In the matter of gowns and settings it is said to be extremely luxurious and dramatically it is exceptionally strong. Law Cody, who is becoming known as

The breakfast that never keeps him waiting

You are smiling and unhurried, and breakfast is ready on the dot—when it's Aunt Jemima Pancakes! For it takes but a jiffy to beat up the batter—before you know you've started you are taking the hot brown cakes from the griddle; and everything's ready as soon as the coffee is!

All the ingredients come ready mixed in Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour—specially ground cereals, baking powder, even sweet milk—so you add nothing but water. And oh, how those pancakes do taste! They're America's favorite breakfast! Ask your grocer for a package today. Try it for muffins, too.

LOST CHILDREN ARE FOUND

PARENTS ON AUTO TRIP LEAVE PAIR TO AWAIT FRIENDS.

Sheriff at Eugene Gets Word Family Is Reunited After Few Days' Separation.

EUGENE, Or., June 26.—(Special)—The two children of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. N. Christianson of Selma, Cal., who were left at Ashland a few days ago while the parents proceeded to Eugene and who were thought to be lost, have been found and are now safe with their parents, according to information received by Sheriff Fred G. Stuckles today. The sheriff was telephoned to by friends of Christianson's family who had left word to notify him. As the Christianson family was on the way to eastern Oregon by way of the McKenzie pass, the two children, Oliver, aged 11, and Agnetta, aged 9, begged to be left at Ashland to wait for their friends. William Throssel and family, who were behind the Christiansons somewhere on the highway, bound for the same place. The Christiansons proceeded on to Eugene slowly, expecting the Throssels to overtake them. They waited here for a few hours and then proceeded as far up the McKenzie as Blue River without hearing of the Throssels or their children. They started back south Monday and came up with the lost party south of Roseburg. The Throssels had met with an accident to their car and were delayed several days.
