CORN OVER $250 AN ACRE

Takima Valley Growers Get Big Price for Seed Corn.
Corn growers in the Prosser district of the Yakima valley have been reading big returns from last year's crop. Mr. Starkey, whose corn took the sweepstakes princ for the grand championship at the St.
Paul corn show, has sold much choles seed at 180 to 25c a pound. J. Kowalski, another corn grower, has sold corn seed as high as 25c a pound. Prosser's farms as a corn-growing flatrict has spread no that inquiries are coming in from many middie west states. D. T. Smith netted over $1000 from 5 seres of corn which he fod to hogs last year. J. F. Richards had a yield of 124 bushels an acre, which netted him $250 an acre. Hundred-bushel averages of corn are common and as a consequence hogs and cowe are numerous on every 20-acre tract. Write for our filutrated price list.
