

SCHOOL BOARD WILL APPEAL SALARY CASE

Substitute Teachers' Pay Suit
Goes to Supreme Court.

PORTABLE UNITS ORDERED

Proposal for Substantial Wooden Structures Rejected—Instructors
Appointed for Years.

Appeal of the Taggart substitute teacher case to the Oregon supreme court and purchase of sites for three complete units of portable buildings were ordered Thursday night by the local school board. In order that construction may be begun at once, the clerk was asked to submit offers to purchase the property in question and if the price were not considered satisfactory condemnation proceedings will be begun at once.

The Taggart case lost by the school district in the circuit court Tuesday morning involved the status of substitute teachers in the Portland schools. Mrs. Eugene Taggart, the plaintiff, had taught several years on a substitute basis, but, claiming that she had served her probation period in this time, asked for full teacher's salary. This was denied and she was dismissed. Suit was brought, with the result that the court stood by her. School directors declared that the only way the question could be definitely settled is by putting it up to the supreme judges. Chairman E. A. Sommer told of his efforts to bring about legislation which would apply to such cases and protect the districts, and mentioned particularly the utility of such an attempt. The board was unanimous in the opinion that the case should be carried to a higher court.

Portables Are Discussed.

When the matter of portables was taken up A. C. Newell, the new member of the board, submitted plans for one-story wooden structures costing approximately 50 per cent more than portables, but more substantial. The construction of these was opposed by Dr. Sommer, who said that no go-between should be attempted. He showed that heating plants, plumbing and other suggested equipment would put them on the same basis as brick structures without bringing them up to standard.

O. M. Plummer also actively opposed starting a substitute proposition. "I hate to get anything going like this just because the people slap me on the wrist. Some day they'll realize their needs and put up structures the city will eventually be proud of," he said.

All of the James John high school building is to be emptied and turned over to elementary grades, according to plans outlined last night. It will be replaced by a complete portable unit situated on a 10-acre tract centrally located between the peninsula and Jefferson high school. The school board will meet with the city council at an early date to ask co-operation in the purchase of the remainder of the tract for a park, in accordance with the policy adopted by the park board of improving such grounds near the schools.

Site May Be Condemned.
Because Edgar E. and Anna F. Courson place a valuation of $25,000 on blocks seven and eight, Riverside addition, while the Portland Realty board claims it is worth but $16,500 the school clerk was instructed to offer the latter amount as purchase price for the other site and if this is not accepted, prepare for condemnation proceedings. Sections of blocks one and two, Dixon place, were approved for purchase and offers on other portions stipulated. If these are not satisfactory to Susan E. Heints, owner of the remainder, steps to obtain the property will be taken. Trading two blocks at Thirtieth and East Harrison streets for acreage adjoining was also suggested as a solution to providing a new set of portables in that district.

The board voted to move the main school for backward children from the Allen Preparatory building at East Twelfth and Salmon streets, to a new group of five portables to be put up on the block in the rear of the Kern school. Mrs. Allen offered to sell her building, but its purchase was deemed inadvisable. To relieve the crowded condition in Couch and Shattuck, where the west side defectives are cared for, City Superintendent Groat suggested putting them in three rooms in the Atkinson building.

Group's Salary Increased.
Salary increases for Mr. Groat, School Clerk Thomas and the two supervisors were granted by the board. Provision for these was made in the budget. Mr. Groat will receive $650 his first year and increase $50 each of the two succeeding ones. Mr. Thomas is to have $1500 and a $250 increase, this being made to apply correspondingly to the present superintendent's salary.

Chairman Sommer announced his committees for the coming year as follows: Building and grounds, O. M. Plummer and George B. Thomas; finance and judiciary, A. C. Newell and O. M. Plummer; educational affairs, George Orton and O. M. Plummer; supplies and equipment, George B. Thomas and A. C. Newell.

All requests for leaves of absence approved by the superintendent were granted teachers in the various schools. Bids on certain supplies were declared opened and the remainder of the business consisted in the election of the following instructors:

ASHLAND ROUND UP OPENS

FORTY COWBOYS ON HAND FOR FIRST DAY'S EVENTS.

Crowd of 4000 Witnesses Furious
Competition; Bucking Contests
Furnish Many Thrills.

ASHLAND, Or., July 4.—(Special.)—Forty cowboys from the cattle ranches of eastern Oregon and northern California, participated in the opening day's programme of the Rose river roundup here yesterday. The programme was replete with unexpected thrills.

The fact that real cowboys out for the glory of their home state rather than paid roundup performers made up the majority of the list of contestants, lent a fury to the competition lacking in former years. The opening day crowd numbered about 4000 and all indications point toward a crowd which will tax the capacity of the grounds tomorrow, as Ashland is the only Fourth of July celebration in a 100-mile radius. Two hundred head of bucking horses, mules and wild cattle are corralled at the grounds.

In yesterday's events the riding of O. L. Chandler, Coyote Smith, Steve Callahan, Jackson Sunlight and Roland Jackson featured a bucking event replete with spills and thrills. George Riddle of Klamath rode Nero, the winner of the bucking contest, and the oldest old bucking bull of them all for ten seconds. Nero has never been stuck longer than 20 seconds.

A six-horse chuck wagon race and a chariot race were added features of the programme this year and were hits with the crowd. Ray Murphy's string of ponies won both relay race and pony express today. A string belonging to Sims of Klamath won the woman's relay. Only one accident marred the day, one of the corral men being bitten by a mule. He is at a local hospital.

Last night the city was crammed and hundreds were seeking accommodations in the lower valley towns. Today's celebration programme includes an immense patriotic parade led by local war veterans, ball game between Ashland and Yreka, band concerts by three bands, dances, old-fashioned sports, swimming events and scores of other attractions in addition to the roundup programme.

SOVIET CHIEF IS OBSCURE

EXECUTION OF 40 YOUTHS HELD
NOTICE TO ENEMIES.

Killing of Military Academy Students
Ordered by Government as Reprisals Against Its Foes.

VIENNA, July 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—The execution of 40 youths of the Budapest military academy and three officers were ordered by the Hungarian soviet government as reprisals against anti-communists who attempted to seize the telephone and telegraph stations and who bombarded soviet headquarters, according to delayed dispatches from Budapest.

Bela Kun, head of the communist government, issued a proclamation that since proper appreciation has not been shown "for the mild treatment of the past three months," blood shall flow henceforth, if necessary, to insure the protection of the proletariat. Many were killed and wounded during the disorders and a hundred of the counter-revolutionists were arrested. Three of the anti-communist officers were executed. The disorders began June 24. Three monitors in the Danube river, whose officers and crews aided the counter-revolutionary forces, bombarded soviet headquarters. Fifty youths from the military academy who held the central telegraph station, surrendered to the soviet forces after the anti-communists failed to send aid. Forty of these youths were executed. An immense gallows were erected on Kosuth street for the hangings.

Lieutenant Colonel Romanelli of Italy, the only allied representative prisoner, was released to his country. He said the allies would not tolerate ruthlessness against hostages or anti-communist prisoners, and that the soviet could not permit interference with its internal affairs. Colonel Romanelli protested against the hangings, but was unable to save the collegians.

PICNIC FIRES ARE DANGER

Forest Service Apprehensive and Warning Is Issued.

MISSOULA, Mont., July 2.—Considerable improvement is noted by the local forest service headquarters in the forest fire situation today, but officials are apprehensive of the results of picnics in the woods on the Fourth of July and today issued a warning to all planning such trips over the holiday to be sure to extinguish all fires. The only serious fires at present are on the Madison river, south of Virginia City, one in the Selway forest south of Darby, one in the Blar Root forest, also south of Darby and two on the south fork of the Flathead river, though one of them is said to be practically controlled.

TURK POWER IS TOTTERING

Resignation of Interior Minister Is Latest Government Development.

PARIS, July 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—All Kemal Bey, Turkish minister of the interior, has resigned because of difference with the minister of war, according to a dispatch received in official quarters yesterday. Kemal Bey explained that the minister of war and his staff were taking a strongly nationalistic position with which he could not agree.

Conference advices indicate that the present Turkish government is extremely weak.

MOONEY STRIKE PLAN NOT SUPPORTED HERE

Central Labor Council Refuses to Go on Record.

ACTION LEFT TO UNIONS

Resolutions Regarding Move Are Ruled Out of Order; Heated Argument Then Follows.

Resolutions presented to the Portland Central Labor council Thursday by the Mooney strike committee, seeking to place the council on record as favoring the Thomas J. Mooney five-day sympathetic strike, were ruled out of order by President Harry Anderson, and strike actions taken will be by individual unions that have voted to strike rather than by all organizations affiliated with the central council.

When it was seen the resolutions were facing defeat, members of the metal trades section announced that their organizations would go out solidly, after having adopted the Mooney report without dissenting votes. The machinists and shipwrights announced that their members would quit work, though for ten days instead of five, managers of the Columbia River, Albina and Northwest Steel shipyards having announced, they said, a general closing of the plants for that period. A vote taken in the Standifer yards, it was reported, was strongly in opposition to the sympathetic strike.

Parliamentary Tangle Ensues.
Mr. Anderson, in ruling the resolutions out of order, explained that the various unions on record for the strike would not be deterred from taking such action at noon today, but he opposed concurrence in resolutions that would place the council on record as advocating a general walkout of organized labor.

Members of the strike committee, which was composed of one representative of each union, sought to force a favorable ruling on the contention that the resolution to "urge" strike action would not place the council in the position of calling upon affiliated bodies to act. They showed some resentment, also, that the council would not receive the report, to which Mr. Anderson replied that the body was named to pursue its own action, to maintain separate autonomy and take such action as it saw fit without involving the central organization.

Following debate a motion was made that the resolutions be printed on the first page of the Labor Press, but it was not carried when explanation was made that the paper had gone to press for this week. The resolutions provided in substance that members of those locals that had voted in favor of the Mooney strike go out at noon July 4 for five consecutive days.

Unions Split on Action.
In addition to the unions affiliated with the metal trades council, four other unions have taken affirmative action on the Mooney strike. Members said last night that, in view of the fact that the strike could not be made general, it is doubtful if these unions will walk out. Others maintained that a large percentage of the industrial workers in these unions would exercise their own convictions and go on strike, whether their fellows followed them or not.

The four unions which have taken affirmative action, as have the unions of the metal trades council, are the building laborers, the upholsterers, structural iron workers, and the longshoremen. A member of the latter organization declared that the walkout would be practically complete on the waterfront.

Special Vote Is Called.
Although the structural iron workers have already voted the strike, they will, in view of the new circumstances, take another vote, to test again the sentiment of their union, at a special meeting called for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the central labor council hall.

The resolutions adopted at the mass meeting in the Plaza Wednesday night, scoring Mayor Baker for refusing permission to use the auditorium for a Mooney meeting, were presented last night, but were rejected because they bore no signature. Speakers who took part in the debate said those who drew the resolutions should have had the "courage of their convictions," and attacked their signatures. The meeting suggested that some investigation should be made to ascertain the reason for the mayor's action.

Phone Strikers to Get Aid.
Later it was announced that the Oregon Hygiene society had engaged the auditorium for the date in question, but that Mayor Baker had announced his opposition to the strike, which he believed was called to agitate a strike that was not for the best interests of the community. The resolutions were referred back to the committee, and were presented again before adjournment, but not acted upon last night.

The central council voted to give financial assistance to telephone operators and electrical workers who are out on strike, endorsed the Oregon production show, for which plans are being made, and heard reports from delegates from the various locals relative to strikes now in progress.

Members of the Mooney committee announced that a meeting would be held in Labor hall at 7 o'clock each evening during the next five nights.

BUTTE TO PUNISH STRIKERS

Employers to Bar Men as Many Days
as They Quit Work.

BUTTE, Mont., July 4.—Butte mines and associated industries are operating as usual with no advance indications of what effect, if any, the Mooney protest strike will have. Eight unions, including the miners' organizations, have declared their intention of ceasing work for five days as a demonstration protesting imprisonment of the California labor leader, beginning today. Twenty-two unions of the district, including the hoisting engineers, have signified their intentions to remain at work. Recently presented demands for wage increases will not, it is expected, affect the labor situation immediately, as there was no fixed limit for reply to the demands by the employing companies.

Chief of Police J. J. Murphy stated he would hold an adequate police force in reserve to handle any situation which might arise tomorrow as a result of the protest strike.

The larger mines rely principally on their regular guards for protection in an emergency.

Butte employers have announced through the associated industries, a statewide organization of employers, that any employees who strike in sympathy with Mooney will be denied employment as many additional days as they elect to remain away from work.

Mulford Wins Big Race at Tacoma Speedway on Famous Braender Tires

—Read His Letter—

TACOMA, Wash., June 27, 1919.

R. M. WADE & COMPANY,
Portland, Oregon.

GENTLEMEN:

I have decided to use Braender tires in my races at the Tacoma Speedway on July 4.

I have used these tires in all my eastern races this year, and have come to feel a great dependence upon their strength and dependability.

In one day at Sheepshead Bay I won two races and finished second in a third, using them throughout.

Inasmuch as I understand that Braenders are new in the west, it has occurred to me that possibly you might want to co-operate with me during this race by having some of your tire men in the pits to watch them and aid in making changes, should any be necessary.

You can realize, if you have ever followed racing, how extremely important good tires are in the winning of a race.

Any service you can render in this connection will be greatly appreciated by the writer.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) RALPH MULFORD.

SILVER BUTTONS FOR WOUNDED
MEN SOON EXHAUSTED.

Enlistments for Duty in France and Germany With American Forces
Will Be Stopped Tomorrow.

An even 300 applicants visited the local recruiting offices at Third and Oak streets yesterday, but, much to the disappointment of the army officers, they did not desire to enlist. They visited the headquarters to obtain the bronze service buttons, the official designation issued by the government to be worn by those who saw service during the war. The first shipment of 25 silver buttons, to be worn by those wounded while in the service, has been sent to Washington requesting more.

Three men left Portland Thursday for the concentration depot at Camp Lewis. All signed up for service in France and Germany. Those who left were Leo J. Payne, 19 years old of Vancouver, Wash.; Dan N. Karan, 27, of Pendleton, both of whom enlisted in the infantry, and Charles B. Cooper, 18, of Newberg, who chose the engineer branch. Sixteen more men have been accepted for service in France by the local offices.

Lieutenant J. A. Bannister, infantry, who served two years ago as a private in the Portland recruiting office, returned to the city Thursday from Camp Lewis. He is in command of a recruiting party.

Today will be the last day for those who wish to enlist for service in France and Germany with the American expeditionary force for midnight, July 5, has been set as the limit by the war department at Washington.

California Scientist Elected.

BERKELEY, Cal., July 3.—Dr. John C. Merriam, professor of paleontology and historical geology in the University of California, has been elected president of the Pacific division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, an announcement today from the university said.

STEFFANSON GOES NORTH

Arctic Explorer Who Found Bland
Esquimos Dislikes Summer.

NEW YORK, July 4.—Vilhjalmur Steffanson, Arctic explorer, left here last night for Glacier, B. C., for a few good shivers. He said he found New York's sweltering sub-tropical climate "vitalizing."

Mr. Steffanson took with him two secretaries who will live with him in tents near the British Columbia city and will return here next fall when the mercury no longer hovers in the 90s.

The discoverer of the blonde Eskimos declared his belief that in the near future scientists will turn their attention seriously to the study of climate on intellectual development and progress.

"The trend of civilization is northward," he said. "I believe that the northern part of the United States and Canada will develop the best products of our civilization. The climate is admirably suited to physical and intellectual health and vigor."

Seven promotions were announced today by the state adjutant-general.

Second Lieutenant R. C. Barlow, company F, Tacoma, first lieutenant of the supply company, F. M. Lash, to be acond lieutenant, supply company; Sergeant Howard Wright, company F, to be second lieutenant; Sergeant S. P. Miller, company F, to be second lieutenant; Fred J. Downie, to be first lieutenant, company L, Bellingham. Brigadier-General H. J. Mose announced July 13 would be governor's day at the camp, when a formal review will be held.

Horse Racing Still Banned.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 3.—The order-in-council prohibiting horse racing for six months after signing of peace will not be modified, according to a statement today in the House of Commons by Sir Robert Borden, premier of Canada.

Soldiers' Fare Stays Low.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The interstate commerce commission today dismissed a complaint brought by William E. Golden of Chicago, attacking the order giving reduced fares to men in uniform.
