

HOME DECLARED TO BE AMERICA'S ANCHORAGE

Nation Will Weather Revolution, Says Dr. Pence.

ABIDING PLACE ESSENTIAL

Institution Is Security Against All Menaces and Fundamental Necessity of All People.

America will weather the present world storm of revolution through its institution of homes, according to Dr. E. H. Pence of the Westminster Presbyterian church, who spoke yesterday morning on "How to Lose the Home."

"No other word enters our very souls like the word 'home.' When Jesus sought to nerve the hopes of the men about him, to cheer them, brace them, sinew them to fight on after he was gone, he told them that they were fighting for 'home.' The word 'manliness' grew out of the same roots as the word 'home.' It meant home. We but sojourn elsewhere, we tarry there; at home we relax, slough off dull care, release the joys of freedom. At the time of restraint upon these liberties the home ceases to be home; it is a mere tavern, where we halt until it is convenient to move on, and perhaps leave it with pleasure.

"Home is the soul of the house. The home may die and leave the house a corpse. An anchor is not the house for you; your character must make the home. Home is a secretion of the soul. Pity, gentleness, tenderness, sympathy, brotherliness, forbearance, charity, unselfishness, service—all are but petals upon the glorious flower called love. Love is more—it is atmosphere, it is climate to the home; it is its presiding disciplinarian and chastener. It is home's maker, as selfishness is its destroyer.

"You parents teach your children no greater lesson than when you make home such a place as to plant the unfading years for return to it, and the passion to make another like it, in spirit and substance, the constraining purpose within their breasts, to which all other passions are subordinated. One man hungered for a home because he never had one in fact; another hungered for it because he once tasted and found it better than any other life, and counts all other gains in life but less until this is won.

"That home and the passions which it arouses are to be America's anchor against all menaces is the fundamental fact and assurance with which we may go to work now. He who remembers home, who hopes for it, who has begun to build it, is the best picket to guard against the encroachment of foes to our social welfare. Our plea is for more hours at home-making, more minutes at the task, more energy saved for it, more love, more Christianity."

NEW CIVILIZATION AT HAND

Impulse to Be Free Sweeps World, Says Trinity Pastor.

"We are today sitting on a volcano that may at any moment shatter our economic, social and political structure, crumbling and crowns are bawling. Great changes appear before our eyes. Old things are passing away. You may not like the change, but will your opposition alter that which must come to pass?"

Dr. A. A. Morrison, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, preached yesterday morning from the text in St. Matthew which tells about the house that was founded upon a rock and defied all the winds and floods.

"We stand today in a period of momentous world history," proceeded Dr. Morrison. "The impulse to be free has swept the world, politically and economically. Mighty kingdoms have been and are being swept into oblivion. If any man stands in the way of this progress, this change, he will suffer. Everything that lives and that we know is the product of a great genius. This genius has an insidious plan. Individual entities are evicted in this plan. Those builders and makers is God.

"People with empty stomachs and without food to their shoes have looked at titled lords and ladies in the old lands; and can you wonder that those people who have not got the best in this world have a rebellion, may suffer, and so may you—but the great change will go on until the kind of government that Jesus Christ preached will be lived up to.

"Have courage. Remember that there is enough goodness in the human family to redeem the world. We are God's creatures. Then will come the blessedness of a permanent peace, in the working out of God's plan."

PUNISH DISLOYAL, IS PLEA

John Barleycorn "Dempseyized," Says Wilbur Methodist Pastor.

John Barleycorn was "dempseyized" through the voting support of the American laboring class. Such was the declaration made yesterday morning at the Wilbur Methodist church by its pastor, Rev. Francis Bragette Short, in the assembly room of the Multnomah hotel, where the church is conducting its regular services.

"The further we proceed from the havoc of the great world war, the more emphatic and impressive some important lessons become to every thoughtful American," said Rev. Short. "Three classes of inhabitants of our country are shown by this great war: Native-born loyalists and disloyalists, naturalized loyalists and disloyalists. The most despicable type among them all is the disloyal American-born citizen, and he should be imprisoned for life, while the disloyal naturalized citizen should be stripped of his citizenship, and along with the disloyal alien, should be sent back to the land of their nativity. The great war has imperatively emphasized the necessity of Americanizing America.

"The war has also evidenced the necessity of non-partisan and non-partisan combination with purely foreign interests or classes. The most outstanding illustration of this point is doubtless the Irish problem. But the solution of the Irish situation is not America's to make, and while the great body of loyal Irish-Americans are still interested in the welfare of their mother country, yet they are more interested as loyal Americans in preserv-

PORTLAND BOY IS GUARD AT MOST ADVANCED ARMY POST IN GERMANY.

CORPORAL JAMES LYNN, 15TH INFANTRY, FIRST DIVISION.

That an unreconciled element in Germany sometimes vents its spite on American soldiers is indicated in a postcard message received by Mrs. Robert Griffith of the Multnomah hotel from her brother, Corporal James Lynn, who is with the most advanced outpost of the American army, at Wolfenlingen. "Two were killed the night of the tenth and one wounded the eleventh, so you see we are not exactly merely playing soldier," wrote the young Portlander, member of company E, 15th infantry, 1st division. He is in post No. 2, outguard No. 2, support No. 1, in technical army language. He speaks of his guard having two Germans in the "barricade" or guardhouse, presumably in connection with the sniping, or disturbance which broke out. Corporal Lynn adds that he and his "bunkie" have a nice room, quite modern except for plumbing, in which to live. The big sign before which Corporal Lynn posted and marking the farthest advance into Germany is the usual signboard warning the civilian population not to pass without permission. The German version occupies the lower portion of the board.

ing the peaceful integrity of their adopted country, and in seeing to it that unnecessary foreign entanglements shall not obtain. "Our governmental authorities must demand patriotic loyalty on the part of both our citizens, and the alien population that remains here. Disloyal citizens must be punished, and strifemaking aliens must be returned to the lands from which they came without parleyings. Our ports of entry must be guarded with the greatest precaution against undesirable immigrants coming to our shores. Our language must be the one uniform language that is taught to every youth in our primary school, both private and public, and the meaning of our institutions must be upheld before all grades. "We must protect American products and labor against every conceivable source of cheap foreign competition, and see that every wage earner in every sphere of labor with brain or brawn shall receive proportionate to his ability to produce given results. We must keep America free from the manhood-blighting evils of the saloon. The saloon's closing did not produce bolshevism; it was rampant before the saloons closed in America, and it is rampant in Europe with them open. "We must continue to maintain a cordial relation with all nations. Some league of nations is doubtless a necessity, but I tremble for the day that America abridges her own democratic government for the purpose of conformity to those of European birth. America must Americanize her own institutions, bind together her own inhabitants into a citizenry of unquestioned loyalty, and lead the world on to the bright day when every man shall receive his just reward and Christ shall be crowned king."

PASTOR BIDS HEARERS HOPE

New World Era Now Opening, Says Rev. Elbert E. Flint.

Rev. Elbert E. Flint of the Atkinson Memorial Congregational church in his sermon Sunday morning on the question, "Shall We Have Peace or War?" declared that the world's present war was but a prelude to a new era. "The world is now entering upon one of the most notable periods of the world's history. The deliberation of the nation's greatest statesmen has had the effect of a great change. It will engage in war only as a last resort. There will remain some skepticism as to what still may happen, for the world's work needs change, and war have followed, but it is to be hoped that the great minds and hearts of men have wrought to a different end. "The second source of our hope is in God's word. Let us be frank to confess that at times the world has been fearfully upset, sometimes even to the point of hopelessness. The first Eden was shockingly corrupted. Israel rescued from cruel slavery soon forgot her new blessing and fell down before her idols craving the old fleshpots, and Jesus himself came to a world so running over with hatred that it crucified his love. Fagan has said that the world had the same kind of a day. Think how they have scattered murderous doings over civilization and a beautiful world in recent months. Think how on the battlefields of France the bodies are still lying, hunting for some mark or memento of their dear ones. "It was in the midst of no less shocking world conditions that the shepherd boy of long ago declared, 'I shall be satisfied when I awake in his likeness.' To be near a great personality is a part of modern-day education. To be near the presence of an infinite God is a part of the training of the citizenship necessary for the new age of democracy. We must have change of heart for genuine and lasting peace. "Two great facts have come to us out of the world upheaval: first, that great material power and defense have been shaken. The second is that God remains. We have evidence that the world is entering into this great truth. We might think that all men are God and that fools are talking the world for force when we think of millions wasted on brutal prizefights, in which men enrich themselves to become owners of oil wells and mineral lands, while others cry for bread. But I am still reminded that there are people with sense enough to vote millions of dollars for highways and road improvements and abolish the liquor evil in the brief space of a lifetime. The eternal God remains, the same yesterday, today and forever, and Christ remains the central figure of history."

DR. BOYD SPEAKS FAREWELL

Pastor in Sermon Outlines Future Work for Congregation.

Celebration of holy communion, the last at which Rev. Dr. John H. Boyd will officiate in the capacity of pastor.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK BREEDS OPTIMISM

Federal Reserve Board Makes Statement of Conditions.

PROSPERITY IS IN SIGHT

Renewed Warning Is Sounded by High Authority Against Undue Speculation.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Optimism as to the business outlook reported in the federal reserve board's monthly statement of conditions was tempered with renewed warning against undue speculation.

"In nearly all the districts," the board's statement said, "the opinion is entertained that the prospects for a successful and prosperous year, with very large output of goods and almost unprecedented financial returns to manufacturers, agriculturists and laborers now are positive. The possibility that speculation may be carried too far and may exert an injurious influence, aided and furthered by the existence of free credit and speculative tendencies, appears as the principal offsetting influence in the situation."

Prices continued to rise throughout June, the board's statement showed an enormously heavy demand for goods for export had rendered products in many lines scarce. In nearly all districts it was reported business men had decided they could rely upon heavy demand and continuously sustained prices for some time to come, while a feeling of apprehension entertained early in this year was disappearing. Jobbers and retailers readily entering into large commitments for fall and winter.

Coast Crops to Make Record.

In many respects the agricultural prospects of the early spring are being more than justified. Wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco and Pacific coast crops will be harvested in record quantities. Livestock continues high in price and iron experienced a distinct turn for the better. The fuel situation has been much below normal, with prospects of a tight situation next winter. Metal mining industry was again improving. Manufacturing likewise took a strong upward turn during June. Demand for fine cotton goods exceeds production. Shoe factories are producing at maximum capacity, while heavy demand from Europe has drawn off much of the available supply. Wool products are sold ahead for months. Automobile manufacturing is running in many plants at record levels.

Building Revival Continues.

Building shows continuation of the revival noted in previous months. Heavy buying of lumber by retailers has become a fact because of the fact that the church was pictured as standing in the center of a great city with opportunity for accomplishment on every hand, and with the work looking to the church to justify its faith in the promise for betterment. "In my new work," said Dr. Boyd, "I do not expect to see the results during my lifetime. The seeds I shall sow will be so slow in their growth that I never expect to see the ripened harvest. But I am going into that work. Why? Not because of gratitude, but for the Master, and with the determination that what is mine shall be His."

Jewelry Stolen From Homes.

C. T. Evans, 345 East Lombard street, reported to the police yesterday that burglars had stolen from his home a diamond solitaire made of 14 diamonds, and two diamond rings and a coral ring. J. F. Naff, 613 Gantenbein avenue, reported the loss of jewelry and other articles. Roy Phelps, 279 East Thirty-ninth street North, reported that a highwayman with a nickel-plated revolver had held him up at East Thirty-seventh and Wasco streets and had robbed him of $35 and a watch. He described the robber as five feet six inches tall, and weighing about 170 pounds. He said the robber wore dark clothes and a dark slouch hat.

Irrigation Survey Progresses.

YAKIMA, Wash., July 6.—(Special.)—G. C. Finley of the reclamation service, who has returned here from his work of surveying the Columbia basin project for the state reclamation commission, declared last night that that project, with irrigation, would become Yakima's sole rival among the productive districts of the northwest.

GEORGE MIDGLEY IS DEAD

Lane Planing Mill Operator Passes After Long Illness.

EUGENE, Or., July 6.—(Special.)—George Midgley, for 25 years owner and operator of the pioneer planing mill in Eugene, died at his home in this city yesterday morning at the age of 58 years. Mr. Midgley was taken ill several months ago and never regained his strength although he was able to be out on the streets up to a short time before his death. Only a few days ago he sold his mill to S. B. Schmieding and David M. Graham of this city. Mrs. Midgley survives him. Read The Oregonian classified ads.

Permanent Positions for Young Women

Permanent and temporary positions open for young women as telephone operators with or without previous experience.

Applications will be received during the present strike at any Central Office in Portland or Room 601, Sixth Floor, Telephone Building, Park and Oak Streets; or Room 226 Morgan Building, Washington street between Broadway and Park street. Telephone Broadway 12000.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company

INDIANS JOIN IN FROLIC

MANY TRIBES REPRESENTED AT MOLO MOLO CELEBRATION.

Parade, Races, Dances and Many Other Entertainment Features Enliven Occasion.

YAKIMA, Wash., July 6.—(Special.)—At Molo Molo, three miles south of the town of White Swan, in the interior of the Yakima Indian reservation, 2000 Indians, representing all the tribes of the Columbia river basin, are gathered for their annual fete and games.

Warm Springs and Umatillas from Oregon are in attendance, as are Nez Perces from Idaho and representatives of the Chinook, Speltem, Wenatchee, Kittitas and Klickitat tribes. The Umatillas have brought their fastest horses and the racing will be chiefly between them and the Yakimas, while the Nez Percés count on winning at the ancient "stick" game, at which they are said to be especially skilled.

The meeting began Friday with a grand pageant in which the trappings of former great chiefs of the tribes were worn by Indians selected because of their resemblance to the original owners. Valued heirlooms of lesser celebrities were carried in the procession.

GEORGE MIDGLEY IS DEAD

Lane Planing Mill Operator Passes After Long Illness.

EUGENE, Or., July 6.—(Special.)—George Midgley, for 25 years owner and operator of the pioneer planing mill in Eugene, died at his home in this city yesterday morning at the age of 58 years. Mr. Midgley was taken ill several months ago and never regained his strength although he was able to be out on the streets up to a short time before his death. Only a few days ago he sold his mill to S. B. Schmieding and David M. Graham of this city. Mrs. Midgley survives him. Read The Oregonian classified ads.

Who Can Elect Our Next President?

The Republicans? No. The Democrats? No. A third party? Wrong again.

William A. Brady knows the answer. He tells us in an article in the August Photoplay (it's on sale today) called

"A New Master in Politics"

He's got twenty-one warts and a gross of freckles. And when it comes to really, truly kid parts, he's more in demand than a Julep in Georgia. Wes Barry is his name. You want to meet up with Wes, he's a boy after your own heart. Get acquainted in the world's leading moving picture magazine (Photoplay of course for August.)

"Where Do We Eat?"

is the title of an August Photoplay article that sits you right down at the table with your screen favorites in their most affable moods.

Pre-historic, itchy-things fighting titanic battles to the death, germs at play and at work, careering flowers, all have recently posed for the camera man and the inside story is one, you mustn't miss.

So be sure you get your Photoplay on your way home tonight. The August number with Alice Brady on the cover.

THE WORLD'S LEADING MOTION-PICTURE MAGAZINE

PHOTOPLAY

JAMES R. QUIRK, Publisher

AUGUST ISSUE

OUT TODAY

20 cents the copy

$2.00 the year

HOLSUM bread keeps fresh longer

If you are going camping or to the beach for a week or so, it is good to know that you can take along all the bread you need and it will be just as fresh and good when you want it as though you bought it on that very day. Because is rightly proportioned and well made, of the purest ingredients, it will retain its perfect flavor and keep fresh longer than ordinary bread.

HOLSUM BREAD

Your Grocer Has It

Log Cabin Baking Company

