MADAME NAZIMOVA FAILS IN EMOTION

'The Red Lanterns' Described by New York Literary Critic.

EARLY REELS DELIGHTFUL

Less Sensationalism in Scenes and Finer Recognition of Values on Part of Star Desirable.

NEW YORK.—By popular demand
Newmora and "The Red Lantern" had a return date at the Rivoll last week; a return date at the Rivoll last week; a fact, we are informed, without precedent. Also a fact which makes walk again that hoary shost of what the public, writes Virginia Tracy in the public, writes Virginia Tracy in the Tribune. These who are refreshed and resisted by anything so quaintly, so authentically delightful as the opening of the picture wonder what nourishment the rest of us find in the empty and senseless hubdub of its close.

For the earlier reels are so good that we thought we had found in them the rainbow's end. The street in Peking: the sobbler, Mathless; the silp of a girl who stops to have her shoe mended.

NEW YORK.—With a total of $1,550.

the cobblet, statutes, the shoe mended the poor home to which the goes and all the subsequent scenes of native living are enchantingly fresh; we are not disenchanted even when one-half of Mahee turns out to be of what blood?-

at least never had her feet bound and we soon are diverted by the old Chinese grandmonner who in her bed on the top of the stove. Hes longing for death and yet discovers through some dark magic that, though the own has called three times, death will not accept the grand-horror begins to fascinate us, the picture becomes possessed by an eerle and grand to the new form of contract between the grain corporation and dealers and millers and its bearing on condit that hanks may advance to deal. witching spirit, as simple and irrestistthis as folkiore, the owl calls, the lamp burns low, a sort of Hallowe's thrill creeps up the spine of the spectator, and when the terrible old woman of wheat price, proposes to make this safor, and when the terrible old woman at length demands that the girl cut off her feet, there is nothing incredible about it—even the girl's appalled consent fells into place like the right than by license regulation. "With this in view, after numerous the consent fells in the product of the producer, rather than by license regulation." With this in view, after numerous that the producer of the producer of the producer of the producer of the producer.

Natimova's economy and simplicity of motion and by a photography almost as creative as Tourneur's into an expressiveness which Capellani has made sincere and typical, like legend, like the very face of a people. This, now, is what we call direction.

From then on there is not sincerity enough for one more paving stone. It is as though the work of one man stopped and another began. Well, when we tell you that the half-white girl, enough for one more paving stone. It is an though the work of one man stopped and another began. Well, when we tell you that the half-white girl, fainting from a slash across her ankles, is found by a handsome all-white youth from the mission, then, surely, we need to have guarantee price will be proposed by a part of the contract obligations to pay the guarantee price will be proposed by the pay and the pay have loved to dance!"

of, and contracts with these two trade: to the officers who wandered into Mrs. Harrison's office looking for the day's content of the operation of the operations of the operations. These tickets were turned over to the officers who wandered into Mrs. Harrison's office looking for the day's on basis of their contract obligations to pay the guarantee price will be proposed. tell you no more. You know already that Mahlee is taken to the mission, that she becomes its favorite daughter, that she falls in love with the handsome youth and he with her, that, as he is struck by the half-whiteness of the hay many to have the half-whiteness of the hay many the half-whiteness of the hay many the half-whiteness of the hay many the half-whiteness of the hal of his own—a circumstance which up to that moment he apparently has not happened to notice; you know the nurky whisperthat thrills through the udience, "it's yellow." The mission bares the hero's shock at one-half of the heroine's nationality and things begin to happen; things that might have made one of the great pictures of

The "War Maid."

For Mahlee, in her pussion for revenge, flees to the Boxers, who set her impersonatin gibe goddess of the red lanters, the Chinese war maid, repeople to drive out the foreigners. Finally, when her own father has refused her offer of peace, if only he will acklowledge her, the goddess vouch-safes to appeal to the empress of china and enlist her sympathies on the side of the Boxers by predicting that a great victory shall sweap the foreigners fro mthe land. The prophecy falling and the goddess being deserted by lor own people, she takes poison; the victorious foreigners, among them the all-white lover, enter the palace only all-white lover, enter the palace only to find her dead body, seated on the is find her dead body, seated on the formaken throne.

Now is not this an ideal story for a pleture? An ideal part for a star of Mme. Navimoza's comewhat sinister variety and force? We cannot resist calling attention to the fact that shereas we are sick to death of always complaining of picture stories and al-ways paying homage to picture acting, here is a story worthy of the best act-ting there is, a story upon which the acting, the direction and the scenario all turb their backs for the sake of othing more nor less than some street

Well, take the street scenes. They are effective, but their effectiveness is that of a ballet—of a hippodrome, and not a Russian ballet, if you please. There are a lot of beautiful settings, of beautiful rushings and tumults in picturesque lightings—crowd splendor, as Vachel Lindsay calls it—which survive as best they may amid the histle and the hullabaloo, amid the masses of neople stremously obeying somebody's idea that the brass must crush and the trumpet beay, and we'll cut a dash as one of the most lavish and opulent productions ever made. You have the sense of multitudinous swarms of supers working line collies, of directors pers working lips collies, of directors and assistant directors shouting all day through megaphones, of care and toll and conscientious consulting with continuers and decorators and of munifications.

A "Mobby" Mob.

A "Mobby" Mob.

But as for any sense of a people set afire, not one flash. There is no terrible mob rage, no patriotic or mational sentiment, no atmosphere of religiou frenzied to fanaticism; there are only crowds running up and down. Like most pictures starting out to be "big pictures, this one contains congregations of scenes, congregations more or less disorderly, instead of waves lifting themselves toward a satisfying crest. Those who saw the uprising of the people around the cathedral in Jusordon Edward's direction of "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" will remember the gathering together of restive individuals, the growth of a mysterious, convulsive agitation, the fusion of all personal feeling into the tossing of a furious, pent-up sea, until the solid wall of high-piled ocean sweeps at last into the outraged but still continous and engulfing shadows of the great cathedral; they know what can be done in crowd-splender that is drama and not hallet. The loss is heart-breaking, but of all losses we wonder what Mine Nazimova thinks of the loss of her part.

For exactly the same thing has happened to the smotionally that has happened to the smotions of the crowd. It ten't there. We have the docile little maid whom Nazimova plays with such illuminating sobriety, but she never changes to the vengeance, who in her-changes to the vengeance, who dictating terms to an empress, then to the vanquished war maid, defiant to death. Instead of the novelty of o death. Instead of the hoveity or neident and circumstance, the emo-ions, the psychology which these per-onages might offer her, what does the cenario offer her? Well, what we hight call in the movies the regular Im Mms. Nazimova were a helpless In Mms. Nazimova were a helpless employe we should rather praise than blame her for giving to this nonsense only second-rate effort: it is worth nothing better than the stereotyped emotions or lack of emotions which she employes in it. But she is not helpless in the hands of either director or scenariolst; she is not a person whom one easily sees weep with delight when they give her a smile nor tremble with fear at their frown. She might surely have had any development of the scehave had any development of the sce-nario she liked. Why does she treat the war maid like a highly decorative scrap picture? Or if she wants to keep Mahlee a mere peasant with no race pride and race despair save as she snivels about herself, what is she doing that death? What point is there in the defiance of that thronged corpse unless it is also the defiance of China? For this she has courageously defied the common weakness of a happy

NEW YORK .- With a total of $1,150 .-00,000 at its disposal for financing the purchase and carrying of wheat pur-chased from the farmer under the gov-ernment guarantee, the United States Grain corporation, which is handling The Denth of the Grandmother.

However, as a half caste, Mahlee has I least never had ber feet bound and a soon are diverted by the old Chinese does not diverted by the log of the top.

Thefanaticism and supersition, the trade conferences, we have devised conmost interest and simpleness mingled with the fantastic, the fine dignity of most ordinary actions, such as the washing of a dish, each activity having its own place in a long established civilization, these are moulded by Mme. Through these contracts is constructed sines have become a machinery to reflect a lower resale price of wheat products in this country. The "golden to be west."

erly secured."

Peas Known as "McAdoos."

WASHINGTON.—Farmers who want to buy quantities of the variety of field pea intreduced several years ago by the Enited States department of agriculture from Germany, and then known as the "Kaiser" pea, will save trouble by not using that name any more. These peas are now known as "McAdoos," and they are as widely distributed through the northwest as liberty bonds, which caused the substitution in name.

exclaimed Mrs. Harrison, as she told of the work of her department. "We arranged dances for them at the Imperial and the Holland House, and the dances in the private homes of the work of her department. "We arranged dances for them at the Imperial and the Holland House, and the dances in the private homes of the work of her department. "We arranged dances for them at the Imperial and the Holland House, and the city." There were innumerable dances in the private homes of the work of her department. "We arranged dances for them at the Imperial and the Holland House, and the city." There were innumerable dances in the private homes of the work of her department. "We arranged dances for them at the lone city." There were innumerable dances in the private homes of the work of her department. "We arranged dances for them at the Imperial and the Holland House, and the city." There were innumerable dances in the private homes of the city. There were innumerable with the city." There were innumerable dances for the work of her department. "We arranged dances for them at the Imperial and the Holland House, and the city." There were innumerable dances for the work of her department. "We arranged dances for them at the Imperial and the Holland House, and the city." There were innumerable dances in the private homes of the city." There were innumerable dances for the work of her department. "We arranged dances for the work of the work of her city." There were innumerable dances in the private homes of the city." There were innumerable dances for the city. The city of the work of her c

FIRST AS HOSTESS

Mrs. Benjamin Harrison Heads Entertainment Bureau.

HOMES OPENED TO MEN

Constant Stream of Young Men From the West Pours Into Parlors of New York Mansion.

NEW YORK .- Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, widow of President Harrison, has won the distinction of entertaining more officers of the American army and navy during the present war than any other hostess in New York. As head of the entertainment bureau of the officers' service department of the New York War Camp Community Serv-lice she has afforded clean amusement and entertainment to 1409 officers a week. Of course, many of these are "repeaters," who found in Mrs. Harri-son's department just the sort of pleas-ure they were looking for. Perhaps the most striking phase of this bureau's work is the quiet manner in which it sent the officers from all parts of the country into the homes of the social clite. There has been a constant stream of young men from the west pouring into the pariors of the mansions of the city for afternoon tea. dinners and dancing parties. And al

"These men have seen a side of life hfat they would never have seen in any other way," said Mrs. Harrison, "Some-times I wonder if it won't spoil them when the time comes for them to go back to their old life, but then I reason out that the experience will have broadened them, made them better and will help them a. their lives.

"The houses which have been opened them experience and but the second have been opened to the second have been experience and but the second have been experience and but the second have been experience and but the second have been experienced."

o them generally welcome none but those whose names appear prominently in the society columns of the newspapers, but during the war they were opened to hundreds and hundreds of opened to hindreds and undereds of men from all parts of the country who had heard of New York's social life as a thing never to be seen."

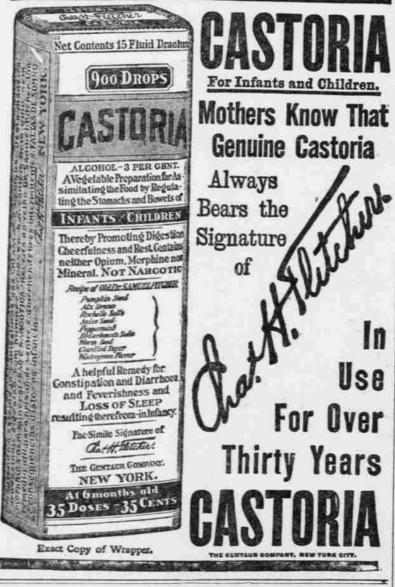

In addition to seeing the homes of these wealthy people, the officers have had an opportunity to meet the debuantes of the season-have danced with them, chatted with them and eaten with them. The girls whose pictures have appeared the fashion maga-zines have become "chums" of the men from the west.

The "golden horseshoe" of the Metropolitan has been thrown open to these men, too, and this came about as the result of Mrs. Harrison's efforts. During the winter season Mrs. Harrison had o nher desk at the Pershing club tickets left there by boxholders who found some other engagements interfering with their pursuit of the opera. These tickets were turned over exclaimed Mrs. Harrison, as she told

Rheumatism, Sciatic Nerve Trouble and Foot Trouble

Dislocated bones and ligaments of the foot affect the sciatic nerve and cause pains in different parts of the foot, legs and upper parts of the body. People come to me from all over the states of Washington and Oregon who have doctored for rheumatism, sciatic nerve trouble and foot troubles, without results, and I have given them instant relief and a permanent correction of their troubles.

No matter how long you have suffered, I can give you relief.

ROBT. FISHER—Foot Specialist Foot Comfort Store, 255 Washington, Bet. 2d & 3d worked until she completed arrangements whereby the officers could purchase seats in almost any theater at half-price. This arrangement still holds good, and the officers are applying for the men, and in many cases of the men who were started on the half-price. This arrangement still holds good, and the officers are applying for the men, and in many cases of the men who were started on the tothe war work. I thought we could a dinner in one of the big homes of the city.

Outdoor Fields Enjoyed.

But winter has gone, and the season for outdoor sports has set in, bo Mrs.

Motoring has always been an appeal
Marison has centered her efforts now ing invitation to the men, too, and many parties have been supervised by Mrs. Harrison. She tells with pride of some of the men who were started on the tothe war work. I thought we could adminer in one of the big homes of the city.

That is why I have been making this bureau my contribution of the men who were started on the tothe war work. I thought we could adminer in one of the big homes of the city.

The officers are just as human as the enlisted men," she says, "and we ought to provide just as wholesome

Read The Oregonian classified ails.

Ask your barber to give you a KDX treatment