

NOTE ON DRY BILL DELAYED BY WETS

House Permits Early Consideration of Enforcement Act.

MEASURE MAY BE SPLIT

Chairman Volstead Declares 14 Glasses of 2.75 Per Cent Beer Would Cause Drunkenness.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The house by adopting, 225 to 159, today a special rule for immediate consideration of prohibition enforcement legislation, indicated sufficient votes to enact the measure without the 12 hours of general debate allotted members anxious to speak for and against its passage.

But despite this big majority and the promise by Chairman Volstead of the judiciary committee that all of the time set aside might not be used, indications tonight were that a vote on the bill itself will not be reached this week. Every effort was made today by anti-prohibitionists to delay consideration by claims of no quorum, demands for roll calls and by forcing the reading, word by word, of the printed text of the bill.

Democrats Protest Delay.

All these attempts at delay were accepted with good grace by the majority until Representative Sabath of Illinois and Representative Caldwell of New York, both democrats, brought a protest from members who declared they were endeavoring by dilatory tactics to slow up the proceedings. Less than two of the 12 hours for debate had been used when the house adjourned, to resume consideration Thursday, tomorrow being calendar day.

No attempt was made today to split the bill so as to take out the first part relating solely to enforcement of wartime prohibition with a view to its early passage. This, however, will be done later, and while members fighting for modification or repeal of the wartime act are hopelessly in the minority, they announced their determination to keep on fighting until the whole question of enforcement legislation was settled in the house.

Additional Act Held Need.

The principal speech in support of the judiciary committee's report was made by Chairman Volstead, who declared he did not belong to the anti-saloon league. In a general way his address followed the tenor of the majority report, prepared by him. Present-day conditions showed the need of enacting additional legislation, the chairman declared, because of the attempt to set the wartime act at naught by dealers selling 2 1/2 per cent beer.

Referring to the 2 1/2 per cent beer controversy Mr. Volstead said he had found by examination of records and by consulting druggists that if a man drank 100 glasses of that beverage he would get in alcoholic content exactly seven beer glasses of the strongest whisky, or, the chairman explained, if a man took only 14 glasses of beer he would get the equal of one beer glass of strong whisky. And this one glass of whisky, he contended, was sufficient to "make anybody drunk except a confirmed toper."

Beverage Feature Discussed.

Once when Representative Caldwell had interrupted him to say that during the influenza epidemic last year whisky was the standard remedy, Representative Layton, republican of Delaware, who is a physician, took vigorous exception and said the statement was not true.

There was extended discussion as to the beverage possibilities of patent medicines, extracts and the like, which led Mr. Volstead to remark that a beverage was something which was pleasant to drink.

Mr. Volstead told the house that in his opinion one congress could define intoxicating liquors as a beverage containing one-half of 1 per cent alcohol, while another congress might put quite a different construction upon it.
