Defense Consents to Substitution of New Charges.

300 OR 400 ARE INVOLVED

Hearings Open at Douglas When First Case Is Called; Seven Corporations Are in-Vet.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., July 14.—When Justice of the Peace Jack called the case of the state of Arizona, versus Harry Walters this afternoon, charged with kidnaping, growing out of the Risbee deportation on July 12, 1917, County Attorney French said that the attorneys for the defense had agreed that he might substitute new complaints in lieu of the ones originally filed, and reports of warrants of arrest had been issued. This statement was confirmed by the attorneys for the defense.

The action of County Attorney French was taken because it had been discovered that the original batch of complaints were faulty.

County Attorney French today filed additional complaints alleging kidnaping against approximately 250 persons, bringing the total to date to more than 300. The process of serving the complaints probably will begin tomorrow. He announced that from 50 to 100 more complaints yet remain to be filed.

County Attorney French said that Justice Jack today were signed by Fred W. Brown of Bisbee.

In addition to the individual complaints filed there were seven against corporations operating in the Warren mining district: Phelps-Dodge corporation, Shattuck, Ariz., mining company; Carson Arizona Mining company, Denn Arizona Copper company, Wolverine Arizona Mining company, the Warren company, the Pasa and Southwestern railroad, all charged with kidnaping.

FORD IS TACITURN ON WITNESS STAND

Answers Confined to "Yes," "No" and Brevities.

PEACE PLAN IS DETAILED

Manufacturer's Son Tells of Activity in War Work and of Methods of Payment.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., July 14.—The third month of Henry Ford's $1,000,000 libel suit against the Chicago Daily Tribune got under way in Judge Tucker's court today, with Mr. Ford on the stand as a witness called by the Tribune.

So much of the evidence consisted of editorials from the Tribune or articles from the Detroit Free Press that there was little testimony from the witness himself. Today he said "yes" or "no" or its equivalent a few times, and that was about all.

Tribune editorials of 1914 eulogizing Mr. Ford for the introduction of the $5 a day minimum wage and characterizing him as a genius, establishing a new standard for the relations of employer and employe, were read to show that at that time the Tribune bore him no ill-will, but, on the contrary, admired him greatly.

The name of Theodore de Lavigne, a Free Press reporter, who became a peace publicly man for Mr. Ford, appeared in the testimony today. The employment of Mr. de Lavigne, it appeared, was the beginning of Mr. Ford's efforts looking to disarmament of the world and the establishment of universal peace, for which purpose, it appeared from one of the De Lavigne articles, Mr. Ford set aside $1,000,000. De Lavigne wrote a long article which was published in the Detroit Free Press quoting Mr. Ford along Pacifist lines.

The government advanced no money to the Ford Motor company for war work, according to the testimony of Edsel Ford, president of the company, who was cross-examined by Attorney Alfred Lucking, when the third month of the trial opened today.

"There were times when the raw material was on the ground and work on it started, that the government reimbursed us," continued the witness.

It was on this subject that Mr. Ford and the Tribune, which was a vigorous advocate of preparedness, parried company, the witness admitted. Mr. de Lavigne quoted Mr. Ford as stating that the rest of his life would be dedicated to establishing universal peace. Mr. Ford will resume tomorrow.

The cross-examination of Edsel Ford was intended to show that Ford, a pacifist in 1917, the same man who was devoting all his resources to prosecution of the war against Germany, and doing so without a cent of profit to himself. The testimony dealt almost entirely in figures involved in war contracts.

Ford, Attorney Elliott G. Stevenson of a Tribune counsel, sought to show that the Ford company was compelled to do war work or do nothing.

"No," replied Mr. Ford, "that is not true. The government controlled raw material, but I think we could have continued on a restricted basis."

"But you would have had to lay off thousands of men and wreck your organization?"

"Yes, it would have wrecked the organization."

ARMY HOLDS AIR CARNIVAL

FORT OMAHA SOLDIERS PUT ON STUNT PROGRAMME.

Pilot Stevens, Noted Airman, Ascends to Try for Altitude Record. Distance Race Under Way.

OMAHA, July 14.—Twenty-five thousand persons yesterday witnessed an "aerial carnival" staged by the Fort Omaha air balloon soldiers, headed by Pilot Leo Stevens, the world's most noted balloonist, who has been in army work since hostilities began.

Contests made up a large part of the programme, and unique among these was a "balloon jumping" contest, won by Corporal James L. Byrd of company nine. Six men were strung to small propaganda balloons, of barely sufficient lifting power to let the men remain on the ground. A light spring would send them many feet into the air and in the contest Corporal Byrd won with a distance jump of 101 feet.

Every type of American balloon was shown in action and hundreds of foreign armies were on exhibition, with a big display of war relics. Airplanes also took part. A near panic was created when one of the sausage balloons broke part of its mooring and indulged in an orgy of gyrations, dipping to within a few feet of the ground and then soaring aloft again, and spectators fled from its dragging cables. One of these caught the post flagstaff and bent the two-inch iron pipe double. The runaway was finally reeled in after a half-hour fight by the doughboys below.

Athletic events of a varied nature were run off by the soldiers, the big event of the evening was a double race in which Pilot Stevens took part. His balloon ascended at 8:30 tonight and is expected to be at an altitude of 10,000 feet at sunrise, when the sun's heat begins to expand the gas. He will try for a new altitude record. He stated he believed he will reach 20,000 feet. Two other balloons which will try for distance, reported progress to Omaha by means of carrier pigeons.

DRY LAW IS PUT TO TEST

DISTRICT ATTORNEY PROSECUTES BREWING COMPANY.

Salt Charges Manufacture and Sale of Beer Containing More Than 1/2 of 1 Per Cent Alcohol.

CHICAGO, July 14.—The first test case under war-time prohibition to be filed in this federal district was started today by Charles F. Clyde, United States district attorney, against the Stenson Brewing company, a Chicago concern.

The suit charges that the company manufactured beer containing more than 1/2 of 1 per cent alcohol after May 1 and sold beer of the same high formula after July 1, the acts constituting violations of the food conservation and prohibition acts.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—An order to show cause why he should not certify the referendum petition on the national prohibition amendment to the secretary of state was issued by the supreme court today against E. B. Lyons, county clerk of Los Angeles county. The original petition for the order was filed by Theodore A. Bell, attorney, representing the Southern California Vineyard company.

The order directed Lyons to appear on Thursday, but stipulated that such appearance may be waived if he certifies the petition before that day.

"DRYS" BLOCK EVERY MOVE

blockade, one being passed on a record vote when the forces split to such an extent that Chairman "V" read of the judiciary committee, leader of the prohibition fight, was counted with leaders of the minority. This was an amendment by Representative Benson, democrat, Maryland, to change the word "liquors" to beverage.

It seemed a small matter, some members said, but they contended that it would permit the sale of flavoring extracts, hair tonics and the like, against which a fight has been made in committee because of the reported tendency of some folks to drink them. The vote was 36 to 73, and anti-prohibition forces said tonight they doubted if the factions would be that close together

Uproar Brings Adjournment.

The chair was unable at times during the speech of Mr. Gallivan to preserve a semblance of order, and the galleries filled in upper uproar. Standing in the center aisle, the Massachusetts member waved his arms like a baseball pitcher warming up for a game and shouting:

"These are members who are not as 'dry' as their statements on this floor might indicate, and in their homes in liquor country, to last them 20 years, instantly the house set up a cry, 'name them, name them!'"

"If they weren't such good fellows, I surely wouldn't be here," he replied.

There was so much confusion at this point that the house adjourned, just after reaching section 2 of part 1 of the three-part bill. The same is in all 64 sections, only one of which was passed today, which gives some indication as to how much time may be required to get through with all.
