WHITMAN RIFLEMAN BEST

G. W. HANSEN HITS 139 OF 150 TARGETS.

A. Christianson of Aggies Wins Second Place in Battalion Shoot at Fort Barry.

FORT BARRY, San Francisco, Cal., July 18.—(Special.)—A score of 136 out of a possible 150 on the rifle range here placed A. Christianson, Oregon Agricultural college student in the reserve officers' training corps camp at Presidio, second in the entire rifle battalion.

G. W. Hansen, Whitman college man, was first with a score of 139 out of a possible 150.

Company C, commanded by Captain Martin C. Martin, composed of northwestern college men from University of Washington, Oregon Agricultural college and Washington State college, carried off first honors with a company average of 113 for its 50 members.

Third honors in the individual scores were tied between Royal V. Thomas, from New Mexico Military institute, and

FENCE ROILS ANGEL PLAYERS

Wire Screen Produces Too Much Action to Suit Base Runners.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 18.—Players of the Los Angeles baseball team today protested to President Johnny Powers a petition protesting against a wire fence which has been erected inside Washington park here.

The fence, which was conceived by Jim Morley, manager of the team, was set along with the players' and Mays claimed that he was not winning games although pitching as well as at any time during his career.

This information, coming from Lieutenant Schilt, who knows Mays well, is interesting to say the least. Carl Mays, who formerly pitched for the Boston Northwestern league club, quit the Boston Americans cold the other day.

Lieutenant Schilt, well known in Portland athletic circles, saw the Yankees and Washington pastime in New York and says that Roger Peckinpaugh is playing a wonderful game for Miller Huggins. The young officer brings some interesting information about Portland and Oregon athletes still in France.

"Had a long talk with First Lieutenant Johnny Beckett, United States Marines, continued Lieutenant Schilt. "The old University of Oregon football player is now athletic director of an area near St. Nazaire, who used to be in the Pacific dental college, being a graduate of both of these institutions. Lieutenant Schilt left France June 22. He fought at St. Mihiel and in two different engagements in the Argonne forest. The dental officers were used right up on the front lines working along with the attendants in the first-aid stations. The young lieutenant served with a good many other Portland boys with the 261st regiment, infantry, of the 91st division. He first enlisted with Lieutenant-Colonel Strohm's field hospital No. 30, was sent to Camp Lewis and obtained his commission, leaving for the other side with the same unit in which he was formerly an enlisted man. He was later transferred to the 261st Infantry, where he was in France. Lieutenant Schilt was wounded in the leg and ear by a piece of shrapnel in the Argonne on October 12.

G. LOWDERMILK QUITS AGAIN

Lanky Right-hander, Former Beaver, Up to His Old Tricks.

Information conveyed in the Associated Press dispatch from Chicago last night to the effect that Grover Lowdermilk, ex-Beaver right-handed pitcher, had quit the White Sox is of interest here. Lowdermilk quit the White Sox in 1916 when he failed to get going in the Pacific Coast league. He went to his home in the east, accompanying Lou Gehrig, who was graduating from Portland to the Cleveland Americans that fall.

Lowdermilk is one of the most picturesque characters in baseball. He has been with several major league clubs and with a minor league club

MAYS' JUMP NO SURPRISE

LIEUTENANT SCHILT REPORTS PITCHER WAS DISSATISFIED.

Red Sox Hurler Told Officer in Chicago He Did Not Like Boston Manager.

"When Carl Mays hopped to the Boston Red Sox it did not surprise me at all, at all," said First Lieutenant Alfred Schilt, who is back in the city after 25 months of service in the dental corps of the United States army. "I saw the Red Sox and White Sox play in Chicago last Saturday. Mays and I had a long chat about Portland after the game. He told me that he was very much dissatisfied. 'Barrow,' said Carl, 'does not know baseball, although he gets along with the players,' and Mays claimed that he was not winning games although pitching as well as at any time during his career.
