

OAKLAND SWIMMER A. A. U. MILE ENTRANT

G. Schroth, Southern Aquatic Star, on Way North.

KRUEGER ALSO CONTESTANT

Two Californians Make Formidable Team; Seattle Thinks Well of Mitre Konowaloff.

George Schroth of Oakland, one of the greatest marathon swimmers ever developed on the Pacific coast, will be one of the nationally-known swimmers to start in the national A. A. U. one-mile marathon championship in the Willamette river Saturday, August 2, staged under the auspices of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club.

The announcement that Schroth was on his way north in company with Harold "Stubby" Krueger was received by O. J. Hesford, swimming chairman of Multnomah club, yesterday, and the former's entry blank is in hand. They will arrive in Portland this morning.

The combination of Schroth and Krueger, the latter being one of the world's best all-around swimmers, will make the pair a hard one to beat in the championship middle-distance classic of the year. Schroth is not only a wonderful merman, but is also the husband of Francis Cowell Schroth, who is recognized as one of the five greatest women swimmers in America.

Schroth is an all-around aquatic star, but has always specialized in marathon swims. His best year was 1917, when he won two of the biggest marathons in California and placed second in another, being beaten by Norman Ross only.

Schroth won the Sacramento river marathon on August 27, 1917, setting a record for the three and one-eighth-mile course of 1 hour and 3 minutes. The event was held by the Riverside Swimming club of Sacramento. A little more than a week previous to winning the Sacramento river marathon, on August 17, 1917, to be exact, Schroth won the annual San Joaquin river marathon staged by the Neptune Swimming club of Stockton, Cal., covering the three and one-half-mile course in 2 hours and 30 minutes, which established a new record for the event.

Seattle is backing Mitre Konowaloff, holder of the northwest 200 and 500-yard record, to win the A. A. U. one-mile marathon, and Don Vickers, coach of the Crystal pool team, is confident that Konowaloff will be up among the first to cross the finishing line.

Buddy Wallen, the famous Illinois Athletic club swimmer, is scheduled to compete in the national one-mile event here Saturday and is expected to arrive either today or tomorrow as he would want several days to become acclimated if he is going to enter the race. T. Morris Dunne, northwest secretary of the American Amateur Athletic union, received word from Frederick Rublen, secretary of the A. A. U. in New York, that Wallen had decided to compete in Portland for the one-mile swim. Wallen should find plenty of competition in Krueger, Schroth, and the Winged-M entries, which will include Myron Wiley, O. J. Hesford, Albert Emergent, Emmett Rogers, Harry Eddas and Victor Tremain, all formidable distance men.

Great disappointment is expressed over the Olympic news that only three women's swimming events will be on the Antwerp schedule of games in 1920. These races will be 100 meters and 400 meters free style and the 400 meter relay race. The A. A. U. officials tentatively have decided to send only five American girl swimmers to the games.

The course for the national one-mile championship was officially mapped out yesterday by Chairman O. J. Hesford and Jack Cody, swimming and diving instructor at Multnomah club, with the help of a surveyor from the city engineer's office. The exact distance of the course has not yet been determined, but will be figured out as nearly as possible for a mile before Saturday, when the finishing line will be marked with two buoys 260 feet apart.

From the estimate obtained yesterday the finish of the race will be near the foot of Salmon street. The event will start from Windemuth's baths at 2:30 P. M. with Frank E. Watkins firing the starter's gun.

Leon Cadore of Brooklyn is one pitcher army service does not seem to have hurt much, but then it must be remembered Leon was an officer and did not have to toil a gun.

Fred Schupp says his arm is as strong as ever, but that he just can't get control. That's fine, a strong-armed pitcher without control is an asset to any club. He can keep the batters guessing.

The batting of Austin McHenry was a big feature in the play of the St. Louis Cardinals for the past month. And McHenry had to wait a while before he could break into the lineup as a regular.

Larry Doyle's ailment is a torn ligament in one of his hips. He has been playing a nice second base for McGraw, but it must not be forgotten that the veteran fielder was the best-looking member of the Giants' infield before he was hurt.

Report from St. Louis last week was that the management of the Browns would deal with Connie Mack for Jack Barry, but it doesn't seem reasonable. Barry has the nerve to demand a three-year contract, something no ball club will give him, figuring there isn't three years of baseball left in Black Jack.

Roger Peckinpough, who hit his head off for 29 straight games, went for pretty near a week without a scratch safety after he was stopped. The whole Yankee team, in fact, seemed to get off its feet in a hunch.

Connie Mack sure is making great progress toward building up a new team of youngsters when he takes on Terry Turner, but he probably feels that Terry will be of aid in coaching

"Just Enough Turkish"

Hotel statistics such as these are, of course, rather conclusive, since they show the smoking preference of so many men, whether traveling or at home.

These men can afford any cigarette they like. Hence the fact that at so many of these prominent places Fatima now outsells all expensive straight Turkish cigarettes is very significant.

It proves unmistakably that these smokers find something in Fatima's famous "just-enough-Turkish" blend* that other cigarettes (even the more expensive ones) do not give them. They like Fatima; and more than that, they find that Fatima treats them right—gives them the option of smoking at will, without worry about "when" or "how many".

* Fatima contains more Turkish than any other Turkish blend.

GRAPE MEN SHIFT FIGHT

GROWERS' ASSOCIATION PLANS NEW COURT BATTLE.

Plans Call for Suit to Compel Seattle Officials to Recognize Referendum Petitions.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 28.—(Special.)—Plans to shift from Olympia to Seattle the fight of the California Grape Growers' association in its effort to invoke a state-wide vote by referendum on the last legislature's ratification of the national prohibition act, are being discussed by Theodore A. Bell, California attorney of the association, and John P. Murphy of Seattle, who has represented it in hearings before the state supreme court.

Mr. Bell has been in Seattle several days. The move contemplated, it is understood, may involve abandonment of the action at present pending in the state supreme court to enjoin Secretary of State I. M. Howell and starting instead an action in the King county superior court against City Controller Harry W. Carroll of Seattle, instituted for the purpose of bringing the referendum petitions now held by the secretary of state back into the jurisdiction of King county officials, and thus approach the case from a new angle.

The action would seek to compel Controller Carroll to recognize and certify names stricken by the controller from referendum petitions subsequently submitted to the secretary of state, the action of the controller having
