

"TRIANGLE" IS CAUSE OF MURDER, SUICIDE

Henry Krone Slays Brother and Sister-in-Law.

KILLINGS ARE DELIBERATE

Walla Walla Family Wiped Out by Crime Due to Jealousy After Husband Returns.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. George Krone were shot and killed last night at their home at Lamar by Henry Krone, brother of the man, who then shot and killed himself. The murders are said to be the result of a "triangle," in which the brother-in-law was the unlucky man. Coroner MacMartin has decided that an inquest will not be necessary, the case being so plain in its details that no further evidence could be brought out before a coroner's jury. The position of the bodies plainly told how the double murder and suicide occurred.

George Krone, the husband, was killed by his brother as he was running from the house, but falling on the back of his head. The woman was next shot, one bullet striking her behind the left shoulder blade, and a second penetrating the back of the head. She fell dying, and Henry Krone lay down beside her body and fired a shot through his brain, with the woman's head lying on his outstretched arm.

The only living witness is George Krone's dog, and a cross between a bull dog and an Airedale. He was brought to the city with the bodies early this morning and chained up at the home of the sheriff. He broke loose, and when the officers went to the Krone home in the city this morning the dog was lying on the steps guarding the property.

Love of Henry Krone for the wife of his brother led to the shooting. George Krone went to France with the 347th machine gun company, the first division, and Henry Krone fell in love with Mrs. Krone.

After George Krone returned he and his brother quarreled with the result that Henry Krone was arrested June 23 charged with threatening the life of his brother. After one day in jail he was released on application of George Krone and his wife.

Family Lived Together. The Krone's had been making their home on Bell avenue, this city, all this summer have been working at the warehouse at Paddock. They patched up their differences after the quarrel. Yesterday Henry Krone came to Walla Walla and bought a second-hand .38-caliber automatic pistol. He took the evening train to Lamar, and the shooting occurred within 15 minutes after he reached there.

The Krone's had just eaten supper, and there were unwashed plates on the table. An extra plate had been set for Henry Krone and had not been used. If the Krone's have had other quarrels none knew of them, as neighbors on Dell avenue say the family lived quietly and without trouble.

Officers Trip Slowed. The Krone's mother, Mrs. C. Krone, lives at Chevallah, Wash., and a sister, Mrs. Krone, Miss Juanita Rafath, lives at Centralia. The relatives have been notified. The officers had a hard trip to the scene of the shooting last night, as the roads were bad. The distance is only 22 miles, but it took more than two hours to make the trip, and returning the journey was slow, as there were three bodies to bring in small automobiles.

The murder is the most sensational in the county for many years. Henry Krone was 24 years old, George Krone 25, and Mrs. Krone 24. Woman Held Innocent. Officers say that everything goes to show the woman did not return the love of her brother-in-law and was innocent of any wrong-doing. She was a party to having charges brought to have him restrained from bothering her husband or herself, and she remarked at the time that Henry Krone was taken to jail: "He will shoot someone yet."

She said she had nursed him through a severe attack of illness and that he was insanely in love with her ever since. Examination of the bodies showed that George Krone was shot three times, once at close range. The woman was shot twice and Henry Krone used one bullet to kill himself.

MT. HOOD CALLED MARVEL

Chairman of New York City Water Board Likes Oregon.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—Charles Strauss, chairman of the New York city water board, accompanied by his wife, a daughter and a nephew and Samuel C. Lancaster, engineer for the Columbia river highway in Multnomah county, have returned from a motor trip to Mount Hood lodge and Camp Lewis. Mr. Strauss was naturally interested, he said, in the great source of water supply furnished by the snow peak. "You Oregonians cannot realize the asset Mount Hood is to you. Even though it had no beauty, its water supply cannot be valued. But the superb and appealing scenery of the forest peak itself, with its crevasses and glaciers and the mountain meadows—it is wonderful. We New Yorkers are made to feel very poverty stricken after a visit to Oregon."

MOVING PICTURE NEWS

ALICE JOYCE, WHO CARRIES THE LEAD IN "THE CAMBRIC MASK," WHICH OPENS TODAY

TODAY'S FILM FEATURES. People—Earle Williams, "The Hornet's Nest." Liberty—Wallace Reid, "The Love Bug." Star—Alice Joyce, "The Cambric Mask." Majestic—Alice Brady, "Red Heart Suede." Columbia—Lillian Gish, "True Heart Suede." Sunset—Bill Hart, "The Narrow Trail." Circle—Dorothy Dalton, "Harold Lloyd." Globe—Charles Ray, "His Own Home Town."

ALICE JOYCE, in "The Cambric Mask," shows that old-time skills and daring in the saddle which made her such a favorite in her earlier western features. She then was headed for fame as a serial star had not her path in photoplay been changed to gentler roles, in which she has won highest fame. In this swift-moving romance, adapted from the novel of the same name by Robert W. Chambers, Miss Joyce not only gives an exhibition of wild riding in the night, but she also does a clever bit of gun play. Her role makes her a spy in the ranks of a band of White Riders who are leading to death in a swamp the man she loves, but who believes she is one of the conspirators. Her father leads the band. Unsuspected and undetected, she gallops among the band, ranges her bow against that of her sweetheart, slashes the ropes at his wrists and slips a pistol into his hand. Then, to give him an opening for a dash, she drives her horse among the others, stampeding the entire outfit. There are other big dramatic scenes also in this Alice Joyce picture, which opens today at the Star.

Screen Gossip. A Spanish Charlie Chaplin has appeared, a comedian so beloved that one day in Mexico City, when he expressed a wish to own a theater of his own, the bricklayers, carpenters, electricians—in fact the entire building trade—responded to the request and erected a theater for him.

This tribute was paid to Manuel Negrete, the principal comedian of the Spanish opera at the Cort theater in New York. In his own country Negrete is a motion picture star. In this country he plans to continue his screen work and with that view in mind has organized the Latin-American Film company. In two weeks he will begin work at the Solas studios on a serial said to contain many unique features.

Mary Miles Minter has been a stranger to New York for the last five years, having spent that time at Santa Barbara, Cal., at the head of her own picture company. She returned to New York about a month ago and immediately will probably remain in command, officers said, until Brigadier-General E. D. A. Miller, now absent on leave, returns Sunday or Monday. Brigadier-General Miller in turn will remain in command, it is believed, until Major-General John F. Morrison, assigned by the war department as permanent commander at Camp Lewis, arrives. General Morrison is not expected for several weeks.

MILLS IGNORE STRIKE

Operators Say Business Is Not Affected by Walkout.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—Standing firmly behind the Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen and the open shop, the operators of the Coeur d'Alene lumber mills today declared that they were "doing business as usual" in spite of the strike of the timber workers' union. General Robert M. McWade, conciliation commissioner of the department of labor, returned to Wallace today to resume deliberations on the labor situation in the Coeur d'Alene mining district. The general grand chapter of the Federation of Women's Clubs, who had just returned to her home here from Seattle, where she attended a meeting of the general grand chapter of the world, has the highest praise for the hospitality of Seattle people.

Kelso Plans New Streets.

At a recent meeting of the city council, called to consider the formation of local improvement districts Nos. 27, 28 and 29, the districts were organized. Approximately two miles of streets in the residence section are included in the improvement districts.

Brighton Mills Grant Wage Rise.

WHEELER, Or., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—The Brighton Mills company, located at Brighton, have granted many of their employees a wage increase of 2 cents an hour, effective August 1. The minimum wage now paid by them is $4.40 per day. This is the first raise given to their workers since April 1.

IRRIGATION BONDS OF $3,505,000 CERTIFIED

Other Applications Are Before State Commission.

MANY DISTRICTS ACTIVE

Ochoco Issue of $1,100,000 Largest to Be Approved Since Enactment of Law in 1917.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—Since the enactment of the irrigation district law by the state legislature in 1917 bonds in the sum of $3,505,000 have been certified by the irrigation securities commission. They are segregated as follows: Ochoco district, $1,100,000; Warm Springs district, $750,000; Payette-Oregon slope district, $225,000; Squaw Creek district, $50,000; Hood River district, $125,000; Silver Lake, $60,000; Talent district, $175,000; Teel district, $250,000. Of these bonds, $225,000 for the Payette-Oregon slope irrigation district and $167,000 of the Hood River district were refunding bonds, and the $50,000 issue of the Squaw Creek district was for property and works of the Squaw Creek Irrigation company.

Applications Are Pending. There are also pending before the irrigation securities commission applications for the certification of $500,000 for the Warm Springs Irrigation district, $300,000 for the Silver Lake Irrigation district, $330,000 for the Suttle Lake Irrigation district, $75,000 for the Talent Irrigation district, $25,000 for the Gold Hill Irrigation district, $85,000 for the Grants Pass Irrigation district and $15,000 for the Squaw Creek Irrigation district. It is proposed to use the proceeds of all these bonds for construction work. The irrigable areas in the various districts are as follows: Silver Lake, 600 acres; Suttle Lake, 15,000 acres; Teel, 16,500 acres; Horsefly, 19,800 acres; Talent, $500 acres; Ochoco, 22,000 acres; Grants Pass, $500 acres; Payette-Oregon slope, 5500 acres; Gold Hill, 1100 acres; Squaw Creek, $150 acres.

Development Also Proposed. A number of other irrigation districts contemplate development work during the present season, including the Horstly project in Klamath county, which proposes to spend in the neighborhood of $40,000 in the installation of additional pumping units. The Langell Valley district contemplates the irrigation of approximately 30,000 acres with water stored in the government's Clear Lake reservoir. The Silver Creek Irrigation district in Harney county proposes to water 17,000 acres, while the Medford Irrigation district includes 20,000 acres, with the proposed expenditure of $1,500,000 in construction work. The North Unit Irrigation district includes 100,000 acres of land, which is about one-half the area of the Deschutes project. Bonds have been voted and development in this section is awaiting the outcome of the investment project. Work on the reservoir site, which is now being carried on by the United States reclamation service in co-operation with the state engineering office.

Irrigation Districts Organize. There are also a number of small districts in Klamath county which propose to divert water from the United States reclamation service irrigation system. In Baker county several irrigation districts have been organized and others are contemplated. Work is in progress on two Carey act projects. The Walker Basin development project in Deschutes and Klamath counties includes 27,000 acres, and the Jordan Valley project in Malheur county will ultimately serve 30,000 acres.

More than half a million acres in Oregon are included within the boundaries of irrigation districts, and it is estimated that the state engineers have 1,000,000 acres to be irrigated. Some of these lands have only a partial water right and considerable area is irrigated by the overflow of streams, the natural overflow being increased and controlled to some extent artificially by dams and levees. The irrigated lands in Oregon, including those partially irrigated, is estimated at $100 an acre.

HOOD SHIPS MANY APPLES

Summer Movements to Portland Heavier Than in Former Years.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—Summer apples are moving from here to Portland in heavier quantities than in any former season. An average of about 250 boxes is shipped every other day by the Dalles-Columbia line's Columbia river steamers. The fruit consists of Astrachans, Red Junes and Early Harvests, for which growers are receiving approximately $2 a box for best stock. Heavy express shipments of the early apples are being made to eastern and central Oregon towns.

COUNCIL FAVORS PROBE

RESOLUTIONS ON HIGH PRICES ARE ADOPTED BY CITY.

Proposal for Investigation by President Wilson Heartily Indorsed at Suggestion of Mayor.

Hearty indorsement of the proposed investigation by President Wilson into the high cost of living, and of steps which will tend to break down all speculation, combination and other unnecessary elements contributing to the ultimate cost of necessary commodities, is given in resolutions adopted by the city council yesterday at the request of Mayor Baker. Copies of the resolution were sent to President Wilson and members of the Oregon congressional district. For weeks Mayor Baker has been studying the high trend of prices for the necessities of life. Offers of the government to supply army foodstuffs to municipalities for resale to the public have been investigated, and may offset the continual advance in the prices of virtually everything required by the average consumer.

The resolution adopted by the council points out that rapidly increasing costs are the basis of many hardships, much suffering and a great deal of the strife in the various communities and sections of the United States. The resolution further states that the power and machinery of the federal government, such as the control of prices and curbing of combines may be accomplished in a way and to an extent not possible in cities or states.
