

HORSES TO HAVE BIG TIME AT STATE FAIR

Pacific Coast Entry List to Be Arranged For.

FANCIERS ARE TO MEET

Elaborate Feature Programme Being Arranged for Fall Exhibition at Salem State Park.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 3.—(Special)—A horse show, something different from those held in the past, will be one of the chief features at the state fair this year, according to a decision reached by the state fair board in session here last night.

A meeting has been called in Portland for Tuesday or Wednesday night, when Secretary Lee will meet with representatives of the San Francisco, Portland and Vancouver, B. C., riding clubs. At this meeting decision will be made regarding the classification of entries.

Relay Races Attract Entries. Daily relay races will also be an attraction at this year's fair, featuring the famous Parsons' string of Wyoming, Myers' horses from Pendleton, Embellier's stable of Walla Walla, Wash., and a woman's stock from Cheyenne.

It is also possible that a race will be arranged between an airplane and automobile, although details for this event have not been worked out by the board.

The collision between two locomotives, which the board has been planning as a feature earlier in the year, has been canceled.

The entries in the cattle show will include animals from Wisconsin, Minnesota and various parts of Canada, in addition to the local offerings.

Coast Horses for Show. In the horse show will be entered choice animals from Los Angeles, Oakland, Portland and various points in southern Oregon. Mrs. Anderson, a prominent society woman of Los Angeles, has promised to make five entries in the latter show.

Special memorial services for the late ex-Governor Withycombe will be held in the evening of the first day of the fair. The speakers will include men prominent in the affairs of Oregon and the nation.

The fair board tonight took up the matter of laying out an aviation field and arranging hangars for the army planes now stationed here. By no definite agreement was reached. Definite action regarding the aviation section of the fair will probably be taken some time next week.

More than 80 tractors have already entered in the exhibit and demonstration divisions, and this number will probably be swelled to more than 100 the opening day of the fair.

MINE COMMISSIONER HERE

HEARING OF CHROME CLAIMS IS SCHEDULED FOR TOMORROW.

Ex-Senator John F. Shafroth Is in Charge of Investigation of Losses in This District.

Ex-Senator John F. Shafroth of Denver, Colo., chairman of the federal mineral relief commission, arrived in Portland from Meador Saturday. Mr. Shafroth expects to open the mineral relief commission hearings in the new postoffice building tomorrow, two days in advance of the date originally fixed.

Claims of Oregon miners will be considered Tuesday and Wednesday, and Thursday, if necessary. The claims have been on file in Washington since June 2, and the commission of which Mr. Shafroth is chairman was appointed by congress to make investigation and to clarify some of the points involved.

The sum of $5,000,000 has been appropriated by congress to reimburse the miners who answered the government's call for chrome, manganese, tungsten and other minerals needed for the manufacture of war materials. Parties who were put to heavy expense in exposing deposits and installing machinery are to be reimbursed. The hearings were started in St. Louis, and have been held also in Little Rock, Ark., Tucson, Ariz., Los Angeles, Medford, and will be conducted in Baker and Spokane before members of the commission proceed to Salt Lake. In order to facilitate the work in the northwest, one member has gone to Baker and another to Spokane, while Mr. Shafroth will dispose of claims in the Portland district.

GIRLS IN NEED OF HOMES

MATERNAL UNDERSTANDING CAN HELP IN UPWARD CLIMB.

Wards From Cedars Are Placed in Positions but Friendly Hands as Guides Are Wanted.

Surely, in all of Portland there are some understanding mothers with spare rooms in their homes and a bit of maternal love in their bosoms who would like to shelter a girl—a girl who is climbing a rough and rocky upward trail. It's tremendously easy to slip downward, but it sometimes takes a helping hand on the reverse grade, and it is just those helping hands that Miss Anna Murphy is looking for to aid girls from the Cedars.

A year and a half ago Portland established the Cedars, a detention hospital for girls suffering from social diseases. It's a pretty place just off the Columbia and is a veritable haven for friendless and wayward girls of the county and neighborhood. The administration building and two cottages composing the home are in charge of Miss Lena Goodwin, who has been acting as matron since the first of the year.

When cured these girls are sent to Miss Murphy, who has an office at 725 Selling building, and she finds positions and homes for them. The Cedars, which is one of the best detention hospitals in the west, has thus far upheld the reputation of being the only one that does practical follow-up work in each individual case.

Very few of the young women in the hospital are out of their teens; they have come from broken homes where there has been a lack of opportunity and too little faith in the value of education and religious teachings. In nearly every case when a girl reaches the Cedars it is the first time she has had anyone interested in her personal welfare and willing to lend sympathy, and, for this reason, it is often with great reluctance they leave the home and return to seamy-day life in the city. And this is just the reason they need a kindly understanding woman to take them into her household. There are at the present time five girls waiting to be placed, three of whom desire to do housework and the remaining two wish board and room only, as they are employed downtown. Co-operation from the churches is generally sought in placing the girls, and efforts are made to have them live in homes of their individual religious choice, if there is any. The work is strictly non-sectarian. As many as 71 girls have been at the home at one time, and it is practically always has at least half this number. "They don't look any different than any other mother's girl," Miss Murphy declared yesterday. "It's simply a case of where one has had a chance and the other has not. The coming-back process is much more difficult than the slipping down one. Many of the young women have turned out a credit to the community; I could cite many cases to prove this showing where a good many families have taken them in and been proud of the results."

Miss Murphy has regular office hours, and those desiring to reach her should call Marshall 4779.

TWO MILLIONS IN JUICE

LOGANBERRY FLUID COMPANIES MERGE CAPITAL.

Prohibition Creates Immense Demand for Widely Advertised Product of Pacific Northwest.

By filing amended articles of incorporation the Phez company has become the successor of the Pheasant Fruit Juice company of Salem and Woodburn, and of the Northwest Fruit Products company of Olympia and Salem, which were merged under a working agreement in the Pheasant Northwest Products company. Friday the last of the legal requirements was disposed of and the concern that is the pioneer in several popular products that have nationwide sale and the largest national advertiser in the Pacific northwest is now in shape for greater business expansion. With an authorized capital of $1,000,000, of which $780,000 has been issued, and preferred stock of $500,000, of which $150,000 has been issued, the total assets are placed at $2,966,499.62.

G. E. Miller & Co., dealers in investment securities in the Northwestern Bank building, has purchased and offers subject to prior sale $50,000 seven-year 7 per cent coupon gold notes of the Phez company, of a total authorized issue of $500,000. Dated July 1, 1919, and due July 1, 1925, the interest payable January 1 and July 1 at the Title & Trust company, Portland, or at United States Mortgage & Trust company, New York. The notes are issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1000, and are redeemable at the option of the company at any interest date after two years.

This is said to be the largest issue of securities of this character ever made by a northwest concern.

MAYOR'S MEET SUGGESTED

Coast Conference Planned to Help Reduce Living Costs.

Conference of the mayors of the large cities on the Pacific coast for the purpose of discussing ways and means of beating down the high cost of living, and working out a plan to aid the federal government in its activities along the same line, was suggested by Mayor Baker in telegrams sent to the various mayors Saturday. The telegrams were dispatched to Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego and Oakland, California.

Mayor Baker in his message called attention to the opportunity which coastwise co-operative action presents in handling this problem. No date or place was suggested in the messages. Mayor Baker believing that such details can be arranged if the majority of the mayors addressed are agreeable to the plan.

THREE HURT IN ACCIDENTS

Rider Sustains Broken Leg When Motorcycle Skids.

Two persons were injured in traffic accidents Saturday night. A. J. Classen, 24, an employe of the Northwest Steel company, suffered a broken leg when his motorcycle skidded at East Water and East Morrison streets.

Mrs. E. B. Wade, 21, of Oregon City, was cut about the head in a collision between her husband's automobile and a street car at East Eighth street and Hawthorne avenue. Mrs. Adeline Morrow of Oregon City fell from a load of hay near her home and fractured her left leg. The Arrow ambulance brought her to Portland and took her to St. Vincent's hospital.

GRAIN COLLECTION BEGUN

Clarke County Preparing Exhibit for Fall State Fair.

YANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 3.—(Special)—Chat Knight, who for 20 years has prepared the annual Clarke county agricultural exhibit for the state fair, has begun the collection of grains for this year's exhibit, which is to be held at Yakima this fall. He has collected specimens of the following different kinds of wheat: Sun wheat, 49 fold, blue stem, marquis, little club and titan. Besides these he has collected timothy, oats, buckwheat and rye. Later all kinds of fruit, nuts and field crops will be added to the collection. According to Mr. Knight, the quality of the grains collected so far is far above that of former years.

Few concerns have grown so rapidly, and attained a national sale of their products as has the Phez Company. This issue is a consummation of the consolidation of The Northwest Fruit Products Company, manufacturers of Loju and Applju, and the Pheasant Fruit Juice Company, producers of Phez.

From an experimental basis in 1913, this new Oregon and Washington fruit juice industry has grown to where, in 1918, the sale of their products amounted to $1,300,000. Phez, Loju or Appleju are sold in practically every town and city in the United States.

Security for This Issue

PLANTS AND EQUIPMENT—As determined by the General Appraisal Company, Seattle and San Francisco, June 1, 1919.....$ 987,659.63

LIQUID ASSETS—Consolidated report as of December 31, 1918, by Whitfield, Whitcomb & Co., certified public accountants, Portland.....1,077,840.06

Total assets.....$2,066,499.69

The net earnings applicable last year to payment of interest were $120,000, or approximately three times the interest on total authorized issue.

Plants Capitalization Protection to Bondholders

The Phez Company is capitalized at $1,500,000, of which $1,000,000 is common and $500,000 preferred. Common stock issued and paid up, $730,609, leaving balance in the treasury. At this time, $100,000 of the preferred stock is being taken up by the officers and friends of the company. The money provided by sale of Note issue, together with this $100,000 is to retire existing indebtedness of the company, which now stands in the form of commercial loans from banks. Conservative in their management, the companies which are now being consolidated in the Phez Company have hesitated, until now, to borrow in the open money market until they had first demonstrated the success of this industry.

A SOUND INVESTMENT

It will be noted from the Appraisal ($987,659.63) and the Audit of Liquid Assets ($1,077,840.06) that the TOTAL OF PRESENT ASSETS IS MORE THAN FOUR TIMES THE AMOUNT OF THIS NOTE ISSUE.

The Phez Company has shown their ability to successfully market their products. With national prohibition, there will still be a greater sale of unfermented fruit beverages. The value of so-called "soft drinks" consumed by the American public in 1919 is estimated at $72,000,000. This represents an increase over $68,401,000 in 1914. Besides the fruit juices—Phez, Loju, and Applju—the company is now manufacturing and will sell a large volume of Phez Jams, Jellies and Preserves. A great publishing house recently made an investigation of loganberry juice throughout the East. Their report includes this statement:

"In estimating the future possibilities of loganberry juice, reference is often made to the development of the grape juice market. At the beginning the market development of grape juice was exceedingly slow. It is reported that it was at first difficult to get people sufficiently interested to try free samples. Now the making of grape juice is a large industry. Though at the beginning it was considered a luxury, it now has very wide distribution and is considered almost a necessity. Phez already has a very favorable beginning. In half of the best retail stores visited its sales were reported as equal to or exceeding those of grape juice. It is commonly thought to have a flavor and individual quality superior to grape juice."

Because of the well-known success of The Phez Company, the standing of its officers and stockholders as conservative business men, we predict that this issue of $500,000 of Coupon Gold Notes will be oversubscribed. Therefore, if you are interested, we suggest that you telephone or wire us at our expense. After a thorough investigation of the security behind these notes, we purchased the entire issue for our own account and unqualifiedly recommend them for investment.

Pending delivery of definitive notes interim receipts will be issued. Price, Par and Accrued Interest, to Net 7 per cent.

PLANE "GLIDES" 35 MILES

New Record Is Established by Airman at Ithaca, N. Y. ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 3.—What is said to be a world's record for airplane "gliding" was established here Saturday when Tex Marshall, attaining an altitude of 17,000 feet, shut off the engine of his Thomas Morse machine at the northern end of Cayuga lake and "glided" 35 miles to this city, renewing power at an altitude of 8000 feet. Twenty-two miles is said to be the former record.

SCHOOL GIRL TELLS OTHERS

How They Can Find Relief From Periodic Sufferings.

Nashua, N. H.—"I am nineteen years old and every month for two years I had such pains that I would often faint and have to leave school. I had such pain I did not know what to do with myself and tried so many remedies that were of no use. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and decided to try it, and that is how I found relief from pain and feel so much better than I use to. When I hear of any girl suffering as I did I tell them how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me."—DELINA MARTIN, 29 Bowers St., Nashua, N. H.
