Portland at Seattle, Salt Lake at Sacramento, Vernon at San Francisco, Oakland at Los Angeles.

BY HARRY M. GRAYSON.

The Portland baseball company has been offered $15,000 by the New York National League club for pitcher John C. "Red" Oldham and first baseman Louisa Blue. The offer came to Manager Walter H. McCredie at Los Angeles through Moose McCormick, Muggsy McGraw's foxy forger for toppers.

A slip of Judge William W. McCredie's tongue last night caused the first information of the offer to get out here. The president of the Beavers will spend an hour and 20 minutes with Nephew Walter at the union station tonight when the pair will talk over the deal and arrive at some definite conclusion. Judge McCredie, who saved the dope from the Beaver manager yesterday.

Oldham is the best pitcher in the league, although he is from the top as shown in the records. Red has pitched about as many innings as any other chucker in this western circuit and if he were with Los Angeles or Vernon would, without question, be far out in front. As it is he has won 16 and lost 12 which is a mighty fine record considering the strazy manner in which the Macklin machine has performed this season.

Low Blue came to Portland by purchase outright from the Detroit Americans. He bats either left or right-handed and is swatting the ball at a 375 clip after a four-year career in the swimmy line. Blue reminds many old-timers of Hal Chase when the temperamental Californian first broke into the game on the coast. He is the most improved ballplayer on the team.

Two major league spots are swooping down on California parks—Moose McCormick of the Giants and Hugh Duffy of the Boston Red Sox. Before becoming a victim of the strazy McGraws as a pinch-hitter for McGraw's crew from Gotham, seldom falling in a crisis. Duffy, when playing, was one of the greatest hitters in the game. Later he managed the Chicago White Sox.

Speaking of McCormick's ability to deliver in the well-known pinch, it might be well to say that it was undoubtedly Low Blue's ability to punch over runs at psychological moments which prompted the Irish scout to bid for his services. It was Blue's home run in the eleventh inning which won the final game of the series for McGraw at Los Angeles Saturday afternoon. Low's fielding is of the flashy variety and he's fighting for the old ball game at times.

Judge McCredie was very close mouthed on the deal last night. He did say however, that if the men were sold that he was not sure if they would not report until next spring.

The Portland club's due at 10:30 o'clock tonight from Los Angeles and will entrain again at 11:30 o'clock for Seattle to open the series with Seattle at the sound city tomorrow afternoon. Whether it will be a seven-game series is not known. If seven games are played there will probably be double-headers Saturday afternoon and one double-header at least becomes necessary because of today's postponement. If President Jim Brewster of the Rainiers has the authority to play seven games he may call for the extra battle on next Monday and play but one game on Saturday.

San Francisco's remains Vernon at the Seal Rocks city this week. Salt Lake will be the guest at Sacramento with the Oaks and Angeles scrapping it with Los Angeles. There are three series commencing this afternoon.

Double-headers will be in vogue every Sunday afternoon that the Beavers are home from now on at Twenty-fourth and Vaughn streets. Judge McCredie made this motion to the league directors and has been granted permission to stage such affairs.

Judge McCredie, who returned late Sunday night from a two weeks' sojourn at the hot baths which he formerly owned at Oakridge, Or., believes that it was Outfielder George Malsel's injured leg which kept him from being sold to Cincinnati. Malsel is not in the Beaver lineup at this time because of the injury and therefore would be of little use to the Redlegs.

Outfielder Billy See, obtained by Cincinnati from the Rochester Redwings when that club failed to get the services of Malsel, was the Babe Ruth of the International League. Like Ruth, See's strong points are his batting and his arm. He was hit by Rochester as a twirler. But he hit the ball so hard that Arthur Irwin, Rochester's manager, played him in the outfield when he wasn't pitching. See was leading the International League in batting when sold but his pitching suffered as a result.

Pat Harkins Real Goods. Pat Harkins, former Angel twirler, is one of the heroes of the war who has not been heralded much in these parts. When America entered the scrap Pat went into the aviation, and became a member of a pursuit squadron. His record was three times planes and seven observation balloons. But Pat piled up another record when he was shot eight times and lived to testify to the fact. Harkins is recuperating at a California resort. His wounds have all healed.

MULTNOMAH ANGLERS PREPARE FOR TOURNEY

Top-Notch Casters to Compete at Sellwood Pool.

SEATTLE TO SEND CRACKS

R. B. Perrow, Tacoma's All-Round Champion, Will Endeavor to Retain His Honors.

At a meeting of the Multnomah Anglers' club yesterday noon at the Imperial hotel plans were discussed and final arrangements made for the northwest fly and bait casting championships to be held on August 9 and 10 at the Sellwood park casting pool. Walter F. Backus, secretary of the Multnomah Anglers' club, just returned from a trip to Puget sound cities, was present at the meeting. Backus has been looking over some star fly and bait casting performers in Seattle and Tacoma and had some interesting news for the local casters who were present at the meeting yesterday.

Seattle will send six of her best men to the local tournament this year. J. Monette, one of Seattle's representatives, is a dangerous man in the distance fly events, while W. A. Walsen is strong in the distance fly casting, having a mark of 100 feet and better to his credit. F. V. Rhodes and F. S. Hylle are the two other entries from Seattle.

Curley wrote a long letter to Willie Meehan, San Francisco heavyweight, giving the Flat One all the details of the proposed Jack Dempsey-Willie Meehan heavyweight championship tilt at Newark, N. J., in December. He says he has Jack Kearns' word to let Dempsey take on Meehan. When he completes the task of looking over the timberland in which he is interested Curley will trot to San Francisco for a conference with Meehan.

"I'll hand the bout if it comes off," said Curley just prior to grabbing the rattler last night. "I'll draw a big house in Newark for the New York bugs like Meehan, who wouldn't draw files in San Francisco, where he is considered a freak and a clown."

Curley arrived in Portland Sunday, and says there is a chance of his coming back to Portland at the end of the week before proceeding to San Francisco. This depends largely on just how much of the timberland he can close white in southern Oregon. He says he intends to stick all of his money in Oregon timber, preferring that to Tex Rickard's oil wells.

All-Round Champ Coming. In the delegation from Tacoma will be R. B. Perrow, the all-round champion of last year, who is expected to make a strong fight for the championship in the local tournament this year. W. J. Bailey and R. V. Nason, two of Tacoma's best casters, are expected to show up well in the bait events. Bailey will be a hard man to beat in the accuracy bait events, and Nason has been making a good showing in the 1/2-ounce distance bait. Dr. Ralph Hutchinson, C. R. Werner, and D. C. Gilkey are three other casters who are coming to the local tourney from Tacoma.

The out-of-town anglers from the Puget sound cities will arrive here Friday morning and will spend most of Friday at Sellwood park getting accustomed to the local pool. They will make their headquarters at the Imperial hotel while in the city. The committee of the Multnomah Anglers' club in charge of the tournament have made arrangements for lunch to be served on the grounds.

The local club members have been putting in a great deal of time in practicing for the championship tournament and from the scores made in some of their practice tourneys an excellent showing is expected from the local casters. The following Multnomah anglers will compete against the out-of-town stars: Walter F. Backus, William C. Block, A. S. Burghdoff, Dr. A. C. McFarland, J. Brennan, Jack Herman, Ray Winters, M. Hedge, Charles Smith, Jack Meyers, E. Keller, J. Morris, E. Charteris and Warren Cornell.

Local Anglers to Practice. The local anglers will hold their last practice tournament Wednesday night with the distance fly, dry fly accuracy and the 1/2-ounce bait accuracy as the events scheduled. There will also be a meeting of the association Saturday night at the Imperial hotel.

Referees for the tournament next Saturday will be E. De Brauer, Captain Rowling and George Irvine, while Louis Larsen, E. De Brauer, Captain Rowling and George Irvine will officiate Sunday. All of these men were officials in the tournaments last season and proved themselves satisfactory in grading the events.

There are five prizes in each event, and in addition there will be the following special prizes: Eversing All-around championship; Eversing silver cup; high average in all casting events; Hildebrand cup; high average in all fly-casting events; Froedlander cup; special prizes for longest single cast in 1/2-ounce distance and fisherman's plug distance.

The Woodstock All-Stars defeated the Camas nine at Camas, Wash., Sunday by the score of 11 to 6. The feature of the game was the pitching of Lefty Leonard, who whiffed 14 players and held the Camas team to two hits until the ninth inning, when four errors on the part of his teammates let in four runs.

August 9-9 A. M. half-ounce distance bait casting; 11 A. M. half-ounce accuracy bait; 1:30 P. M. dry fly accuracy; 4:30 P. M. dry fly accuracy; unknown distance; 10-9 A. C. rules, and the line used in the fisherman's plug events must be the standard 3-pound test, braided silk.

Jennings Feels Chesty. Hughey Jennings is beginning to feel hopeful and says that his Detroit Tigers may wind up the season in whirlwind style. Jennings has built up a great ball club, no mistake, and Detroit fans, who once clamored for his release from the management, are worshipping at his feet. The Tigers are powerful at the bat, and are well balanced in defensive strength. Their success this year is partially due to the splendid catching of Al Smith and the improved pitching of Dausa, Ehmkke, Boland and Dutch Leonard. If these boxmen can hold their own for the rest of the campaign, Jennings may enjoy a laugh at the expense of the White Sox, Yankees, Cleveleands and Browns. But the Tigers have two more eastern trips to make, so that Jennings sensibly refuses to claim the pennant.

But the Tigers have two more eastern trips to make, so that Jennings sensibly refuses to claim the pennant.

Woodstock Beats Camas. The Woodstock All-Stars defeated the Camas nine at Camas, Wash., Sunday by the score of 11 to 6. The feature of the game was the pitching of Lefty Leonard, who whiffed 14 players and held the Camas team to two hits until the ninth inning, when four errors on the part of his teammates let in four runs.

August 10-9 A. M. distance fly with 50-ounce rod; 11 A. M. one-quarter-ounce accuracy bait; 1:30 P. M. accuracy fly; 3 P. M. fisherman's plug accuracy bait. All events are to be governed by N. A. S. A. C. rules, and the line used in the fisherman's plug events must be the standard 3-pound test, braided silk.

Jennings Feels Chesty. Hughey Jennings is beginning to feel hopeful and says that his Detroit Tigers may wind up the season in whirlwind style. Jennings has built up a great ball club, no mistake, and Detroit fans, who once clamored for his release from the management, are worshipping at his feet. The Tigers are powerful at the bat, and are well balanced in defensive strength. Their success this year is partially due to the splendid catching of Al Smith and the improved pitching of Dausa, Ehmkke, Boland and Dutch Leonard. If these boxmen can hold their own for the rest of the campaign, Jennings may enjoy a laugh at the expense of the White Sox, Yankees, Cleveleands and Browns. But the Tigers have two more eastern trips to make, so that Jennings sensibly refuses to claim the pennant.
