NOODLE-MAKER FINED

George A. Lehman, manager of a noodle manufacturing company, entered a plea of guilty before Federal Judge Wolverson yesterday when arraigned on a charge of violating the federal pure food law and was fined $50 and costs. It was alleged in the information that some of Lehman's product shipped interstate did not contain eggs as the name indicated. Lehman explained that he had misunderstood instructions, but corrected the error as soon as he learned of it. As the offense was committed in 1917, and noodles manufactured since that time had given no cause for complaint, the court assessed the minimum fine.

AVIATORS PATROL FORESTS

As part of their patrol of Oregon forests yesterday, Lieutenant Kiel and Sergeant McKee, army aviators, flew in a circuitous route from Salem to Portland, a distance of 90 miles, carrying a passenger each, and landing at Eastmoreland municipal golf links field. The aviators brought to Portland Supervisor Fire Warden Ferguson of Clackamas county and Mr. Fuller, a member of the state forestry board, of Dallas. The patrol flight was most in 78 minutes. Cloudy conditions prevented the aviators from obtaining a view of the forested areas over which they passed.

MISUSE OF MAILS COSTLY

Edward Lee of Albany was found guilty before Federal Judge Wolverson yesterday of misuse of the United States mails, and was sentenced to a term of 18 months at McNeil's Island, Assistant United States District Attorney Goldstein's attorney was pleading for leniency and produced a record showing that the defendant had been sentenced in Spokane county in 1916 for a similar offense. Lee styled himself head of the Presto Manufacturing company of Albany and was selling formulas for making liquor, as well as supposed remedies for human ills.

SPORTS TO BE FEATURED

A boxing and wrestling exhibition will be a feature of the dinner to be given tonight at the Soldiers' and Sailors' club by the War Camp Community Service. The program is in charge of Anderson A. Garlock, physical training specialist. The girls of the victory chorus will serve the men in return for the men serving them last week. Dancing in the club rooms will follow the dinner. Reservations should be made at once by calling the soldiers' and sailors' club, since the seating capacity is limited.

LOCAL TARIFFS COMPLETED

Information relative to railroad switching charges in Portland is promised in a booklet to be issued by the department of industries of the Chamber of Commerce under direction of W. H. Crawford, manager. Mr. Crawford has found difficulty in handling prospective industrial promoters because of inability to supply immediate information as to the charges. The booklet will contain a detailed statement of charges from the 14 volumes of freight tariffs compiled by railroads in the district.

LABOR LUNCHEON TOPIC

"The Labor Question and the Business Man" will be the subject of an address before the Rotary club at its luncheon today in the crystal room of the Benson hotel. Eugene E. Smith, editor of Labor Opinion and member of the state legislature, will be the speaker.

YOUTH IN STOLEN AUTO ARRESTED

Paris Young, aged 16, of Salem, was arrested yesterday charged with stealing an automobile from Fourth and Washington streets. He was in a stolen car when it was stopped by a police machine at Salem in which he rode to Portland. He was turned over to the juvenile court for investigation.

YOUNG FELDENHEIMER HOME

Elmer Feldenheimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Feldenheimer, 767 Madison street, returned Saturday after having seen the American expeditionary forces in France. He was recently mustered out of service at Camp Lewis.

FATHER SERIOUSLY HURT

R. Gale, a painter living at Oregon City, was perhaps fatally injured yesterday when he fell from a scaffold at East Second and Water streets. He was taken to Good Samaritan hospital.

DEAD HERO HONORED

Distinguished service cross has been awarded to Elijah W. Worsham, former Portland business man, who was killed while fighting in the Meuse-Argonne offensive. The announcement came from Washington yesterday. Worsham was in a group of seven American officers and men and one French officer who were honored. Worsham was a captain in a machine gun company in the 31st division and frequently had been referred to as the most popular officer of the division. Prior to entering the service, he was senior member of the wholesale firm of Worsham & Vivian of Portland and Seattle. He left the first officers' training camp at the Presidio as a captain and went across with the 31st. He was killed in September, 1918.

ACROSSER ANXIOUS FINED

Oscar Jentegard, a recently discharged overseas soldier, was fined $100 in municipal court yesterday after the court had adjudged him guilty of striking Flossie Moore, an actress. The girl testified Jentegard had attempted to follow her and when she resisted he struck her in the face. In sentencing Jentegard, the court said the punishment would have been much more severe had he not recently returned from France.

LEGION DEMURRER OVERRULED

Federal Judge Wolverson yesterday overruled the demurrer entered by John J. Beckman, attorney for George E. Knowlton and Florence Knowlton, who were arrested some time ago on a charge of having 45 quarts of beer in their possession in violation of the prohibition law. The demurrer was directed at the indictment and in overruling it the court gave the defendants until next week in which to prepare their pleas.

SEVEN PUPS TO BE DIVIDED

Disputing Owners of Parents Ask Court to Act as Solomon. Suppose you had a blooded Boston bulldog and mated him, arranging with the owner of the other dog to go 50-50 on the pups, and the litter contained nine pups? Then suppose two died, leaving seven, what would your judgment as a Solomon be?

Fred Black declares that J. A. Constantine, when the problem of division was put up to him as owner of the female, did not even consider giving one pup in half, but told Black, owner of a Boston Bull named "Tonic," that his share was one female pup.
