to two, 28 games to 24, 180 point to 154. Considered as a whole it was the better tennis strategy of the San Fran-claco star that enable him to win. Johnston directed his attack to Pat-terson's fore court, keeping the ball low to the latter's feet and seldom giving him a chance when in control of the play to use his forchand and backhand drives and overhead amashes. Drawing the Australian close to the net, Johnston would then repeatedly pass him with flashing strokes along the side lines mixed with an occa-

Against this clever racquet campaign Patterson was forced to play his weak-est shots and that he could hold John-ston so closely as the score shows stamps him as one of the most remadk-able players that ever invaded America from forcelan climes. from foreign elimes.

Brookes Proves Steadiness.

Brookes Proves Steadiness. Charles S. Gariand of Pittsburg started his match against Brookes as though he too intended to eliminate the most famous of all Australian players. Winning the first two sets at 6-1 and 6-2 by steady and consist-ent tennis, he found that his oppo-nent despite his 40-odd years of age was not to be forown off his game by the not up be thrown off his game by the attack and fell before Brookes in the final three sets by scores of 6-1, 6-2 and 7-3.

The match was better sustained with more perfect technical play in which the long international experience of Brookes greatly counted. The veter-zn's capture of the fifth and deuce set after many long and exciting rallies, clearly stamped him as the better

 There have been misgivings that some of the Los Angeles contingent of golfers would possibly be kept away from the champlonship because of the train tie-up. Word from the south, however, is to the effect that there will be few who cannot react here. There is train service from Santa Barbara to Del Monte and it will be an easy matter for the Los Angeles men and women players to make the trip to Santa Barbara by motor and then come north by train. The fact is many had already planned to come up by automobile. From other sections of California the players have been arriving for the past week.
 The Del Monte first course, which is in excellent constitute for the championship play, and the new pleturesque oourse at Pebble boach, have been attracting many players who have been att
