HIGHER MILK PRICE IS HELD INEVITABLE

Competition of Condensaries Serious Factor.

Operator Accounts for Difference Between Price Paid to Producer and Dealer's Charge.

Unless Portland is willing to pay more for its milk it will not be able to compete with the condensaries the coming winter, is the prediction of A. M. Work of the Damascus creamery, who appeared Tuesday night be-fore the federal fair price committee explain the present high cost of

"I can't see how the price can be kept from going higher," he said, "because local conditions will force it up. The cost is regulated by the seasons and we are just passing over one of extreme shortage. This year it was necessary to close two cheese factories and one condensary in order to provide our surplus. It costs more when we divert milk temporarily from regular channels. The winter price of feed will be high and condensers furnish competition that is

Bottle Prices Go Up.

Mr. Work read a letter from his bottle brokers showing the increase in the cost of this glassware. It showed that the price had gone up from $6.20 per gross in 1914 to $11.40, with a 3 per cent war tax additional in 1919, or an increase of 19 per cent

Bottles are expensive and are one of the leaks in the business," the dairyman maintained. "Few people dairyman maintained. "Few people was them out every night and the you'k dealers get a good many from us. They have them by thousands on Front street. Besides that the house wife uses them for almost everything imaginable she wants to put up."

The speaker held that Portland prices are not higher than those eigewhere, and that the milk in this city rates near the top on account of the strict sanitary conditions under which it is put out. He said he did not the act of the affected laundries Tues-

As to routing the city so that dairies would not duplicate territory covered, he spoke in extreme disfavor, saying that it would be no more successful than an attempt to divide department-store deliveries. "Everybody wants business where he can get it," he said, "and it is not right to restrict the dealer's territory. Besides, all people don't want the same milk. If the city took over the delivery it

Lesson in Scientific Complexion Renewing

Everyone has a beautiful skin underneath the one exposed to view. Bear that in mind and it will be easier to understand the correct principle of acquiring a lovely complexion. Nature is constantly shedding the top skin in flaky particles like dandruff, only much smaller to size. In abnormal conditions, or in advancing age, these particles are not shed as rapidly as in robust youth. The longer they remain the more solied or faded they become—that's the immediate cause of a "bad complexion."

It has been discovered that ordinary mercolized wax, to be had at any drug store, will absorb these wornout particles. The absorption, while hastening nature's work, goes on gradually enough to cause no inconvenience. In a week or two the transformation is complete. The fresh, healthy-hued, youthful underskin is then wholly in evidence. You who are not satisfied with your complexion should get an ounce of mercolized wax and try this treatment. Use the wax nightly, like cold cream, washing it off mornings.—Adv.
