HAUNTING FOR SUBMARINES ON THE HIGH SEAS

When war broke, with the need for sending millions of men across the Atlantic, a menace lay in the lanes of the water. It launched a lightning that rocketed its target from truck to keel, and sent the good ship shuddering down to the abyss of eternal shadow. It was the U-boat, the Prussian submarine, the trump card of von Tirpitz the terrible.

Yet the Yankee soldiers crossed, as all the world knows—crossed to clash with the veterans of England and sent them like chaff at a threshing. The lilies of France revived, the lion of England roared a welcome, the cook of Italy thrust his spurs deep in the Austrian. Came victory and an end to militarism.

"The Victory at Sea," written for The Sunday Oregonian by Admiral Sims, commander of the American fleet in foreign waters, tells how the deep seas were made safe for the crossing of Pershing's crusaders. It is the vivid, matter-of-fact narrative of our navy in the world war. A complete year, told by an American admiral, of Yankee men and guns and ships.

Admiral Sims' book is the Sunday issue and will be continued as a weekly serial. Watch for it Sunday, September 28, the first installment.

EXCURSION BERTHS OPEN—Portland business men who make the excursion to southern Oregon, October 12 to 19, will find a warm welcome, according to word received by E. N. Weinbaum of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, from the heads of the commercial clubs and business men's organizations of Roseburg, Medford, Ashland, Grants Pass and Klamath Falls. Each of the towns is preparing a program which will give the Portland visitors not only a round of pleasure at each place, but an opportunity to do business with men and "talk shop." All the drawing-rooms and compartments of the special train have now been taken. It is reported, but there are plenty of upper berths and some lower berths still not spoken for. The train will accommodate 125 men and those planning to make the trip are asked to register for it and make their reservations with the Chamber of Commerce at an early date.

ALBERT WASTELL COMING—Albert Wastell, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wastell, 711 Multnomah street, is expected to arrive here today from Camp Lewis, where he arrived recently with a contingent of 1st division of the United States engineers. He is a member of company D, 1st United States engineers, and one of the first to be discharged, having been wounded at Cantigny May 29, 1918. He was in the hospital at St. Nazaire for 90 days, then rejoined his company and fought remaining engagements, finally being placed in the army of occupation. Mr. Wastell is in company A, 115th engineers, in August, 1917. Upon his return with the 1st division men he was in the hospital at Camp Parades in New York and in Washington.

"White Mule" Kicks Victim Into Police Court. John Dick Surprised to Find That Crimson Spider He Swatted on Woman's Shoulder Was Merely Creation of His Own Beamed Brain.

IT WASN'T a pink elephant or a purple snake that John Dick thought he saw upon the shoulder of a woman pedestrian on the downtown streets Thursday night, but the bibulous John's whiskey-soaked imagination inveigled him into believing that a large crimson spider was crawling stealthily upon the woman's coat near her throat.

John crept slyly upon the woman and his first came down with undue force where he thought the spider was crawling. In another instant a badly frightened and indignant woman called for help, and a few moments later John was aboard a police patrol in his way to the station.

In police court yesterday John admitted he had partaken too freely of a bottle of "white mule" moonshine. He was surprised to learn that the blood-red spider was but a figment of his whiskey-laden brain, but he sorrowfully admitted that the liquor had been potent enough to produce almost any result.

Judge Rossman prescribed a $10 fine and seven days in jail as fitting treatment for his ailment.

Street car motormen will tell you that the fellows who get their "goats" are the autolites who drive down the street car tracks and refuse to give the right of way despite the wild chattering of the motorman's song. E. L. Smith was driving his machine down Williams avenue Thursday when a street car drove into view. The motorman changed his belt in an effort to get the autolite to drive to one side, but Mr. Smith, with great unconcern, kept in the middle of the track until delayed the car. Motorcycle Patrolman Rippen was on the front platform, and after having him under arrest. The latter paid a $10 fine in police court yesterday after Judge Rossman found him guilty of obstructing the traffic.

Other violators fined yesterday were W. B. Judson, $17.50; R. J. Morris, $17.50; S. J. English, $4; D. Johnson, $2.

CURFEW TO BE ENFORCED

"AFTER HOURS" CAMPAIGN BEGINS ON OCTOBER 1.

Mayor Orders Police to Question All Suspected Violators—Partners' Co-operation Asked.

Strict enforcement of the curfew and "after-hour laws" to break down the juvenile delinquency has been ordered by Mayor Baker in a letter to Chief of Police Johnson. The mayor has also issued a statement appealing for the support of parents of Portland in keeping children from the streets late at night. The campaign will begin October 1.

The curfew ordinance makes it unlawful for any child under the age of 18 years to be on the streets after 8 P. M. from the first day of October to the last day of February of any year, unless the child is accompanied by a parent, guardian or other person having the care and custody of such child, or whose employment makes it necessary to be on the streets after the specified hours.

The "after-hours" ordinance makes it unlawful for any person to roam about the streets at night after 12 o'clock without having lawful business upon the street at that time. The police have been instructed to use judgment in questioning adult persons on the street after midnight, but to pay particular attention to the cases of boys and young men between the ages of 16 and 23 on the streets without legitimate business after midnight.

"Police records show," said Mayor Baker yesterday, "that 80 per cent of the crime in Portland is committed by boys and young men between the ages of 16 and 23. Something must be done to check this delinquency. Parents can do much to aid the police bureau in the enforcement of the curfew law by seeing that their own children are off the streets at 8 o'clock."

"No person having legitimate business on the streets after midnight will object to being questioned."

ORPHEUM HAS BIG BILL SHOW OPENING TOMORROW OF SPECIAL INTEREST HERE.

Mrs. Gene Hughes, Old Favorite of Portlanders, Is Feature—No Extra Performance.

With a popular headline act, a Portland favorite as the extra attraction, and a third act in big type, the Orpheum show to open at the Heilig tomorrow afternoon looms like one of the big shows of the early season and it is reported to be a drawing card.

The headliner is Amelia Stone and Arnan Kaliz, the extra attraction is Mrs. Gene Hughes and her company and the third big-type act is that of Sybil Vane, "the Galli-Curiel of vaudeville." This show will prevail for only three nights and four matinees, as occupancy of the Heilig Wednesday night prevents the staging of an extra Orpheum performance.

"A Song Romance" is the title of a story set to music and the act is magnificently staged, special attention having been paid to electric lighting effects, in the production of which Mr. Kaliz is an expert.

Mrs. Gene Hughes is presenting a comedy playlet, called "When He Came Back," a vehicle which permits her to take the role of a rollicking grandmother, a portrayal which has made her famous in stagemod.
