

BOSSSES URGED TO FORM OWN UNION

Eastern Business Officials Address Portlanders.

BOLSHEVISM IS ATTACKED

Removal of Federal Regulation of Railways and Private Industry Held Necessary.

Organization upon the part of workers must be met by organization of manufacturers, bolshevism now endangering the country must be checked and wiped out by unified action of patriotic citizens, and governmental institutions restricting private business, tolerable and necessary during the war, must be withdrawn in order that private business may develop naturally and unhindered, was the message brought to Portland manufacturers and business men yesterday by Stephen C. Bird of Pittsburg and J. Phillip Bird of New York, president and general manager respectively of the National Association of Manufacturers.

The two officials are making a tour of the Pacific coast, the interest of greater unity and co-operation among the manufacturers of the nation, and arrived yesterday from San Francisco, spent the day here, and left last night for the sound.

While the two men spent some of their time here conferring with local manufacturers, the main feature of their visit was the luncheon yesterday noon at the Portland Chamber of Commerce, attended by about 200 local manufacturers and business men, at which the two visitors were called upon to speak.

Arrangements for entertaining the officials while here were in the hands of Thomas M. Mason, secretary and general manager of the Industrial Association of Oregon, and Oregon representative of the advisory board of the National Council of Industrial Defense.

Mr. Mason is the secretary of the McClellan and Taylor company of Pittsburg, as well as being the president of the National Association of Manufacturers and Mr. Bird is general manager of the National Association of Manufacturers, president of the Manufacturers' Association of New Jersey and president of the National Council of Industrial Defense.

Mr. Mason is paying his first visit to the Pacific coast, while Mr. Bird has been in this city on three previous occasions on business visits.

Industrial Problems Discussed. "I have come to report to you concerning the many industrial affairs and problems which are now pressing for settlement and to present a brief summary of conditions confronting us," said Mr. Mason, upon being introduced to the Portland business men.

"In the history of the United States when critical problems confront us and a great crisis is impending, it has become a custom to summon all good Americans to pledge again their allegiance and loyalty to the principles of government and sacred liberty. Whenever, through social experiments or political expediency, our republic is endangered, it is a time for the safe and sane in all classes of our citizenship to arise and pronounce the ultimatum to the elements of destruction that 'thus far and no further shall you go.'"

"The nation is in the throes of that destructive industrial-economic disease known as strikes. I believe every good citizen will agree with me when I say that the time has arrived when organized labor in the United States had better take action to their policies and practices from a thoroughly American standpoint."

Utilities Release Urged. Congress must release the shackles on private business, declared the speaker, and the hope was expressed that the congress now in session would bring about an early release of government operation of privately-owned utilities, a decrease in expenses, modification in income tax regulations and a constructive policy toward business.

In the matter of the railroads the speaker urged early release of the railroads to their private owners and the passage of a bill making railroad strikes illegal. The proposed restriction of immigration for the next five years was denounced.

Another legislative measure which the speaker strongly urged was the repeal of the LaFollette seamen's law. A strong shipping business could not be built up by the nation in the future unless a bill is substituted that will aid and not hamper the industry.

Mr. Bird, who also was called upon to speak, used as the keynote of his address the words of Senator Hoar of Massachusetts: "Obedience to law is liberty, and license to law must be punished."

DAIRY QUEEN IS COMING

CELEBRATED HOLSTEIN TO BE GUEST OF AD CLUB.

Weekly Luncheon at Benson Hotel Tomorrow Will Be in Honor of Distinguished Visitor.

Royalty will be entertained by the Portland Ad club at its regular weekly luncheon at the Hotel Benson tomorrow. The guest of honor will be Mme. Tilly Alcarra, queen of all dairy cows, who has held the world championship honors for the production of milk and butter for five consecutive years and is now undergoing her sixth annual test.

Mme. Alcarra will arrive on a morning train from the Carnation farm, near Seattle, where she has been visiting for the past few months, and will stop over for a day at Portland at the special invitation of the Ad clubbers before continuing her journey to Woodland, Cal., and her home on the Morris & Sons' stock farm there.

Shortly before noon, preceded by a special Ad club escort and the Washington high school band, Mme. Alcarra will ride through the downtown streets on a decorated motor truck, the parade terminating at the Broadway entrance of the Hotel Benson, where a camera expert from the Pathe news service will be on hand to take "movies" of the distinguished visitor as she enters the hotel and is given a rousing ovation by the assembled Ad clubbers.

the piece de resistance will be a brans souffe, garnished with clover buds and alfalfa tips. During the luncheon addresses will be made by A. W. Morris of the California firm owning the cow; F. S. Stinson, owner of the famous Hollywood farm near Seattle; General Manager O. M. Plummer of the Pacific International livestock exposition, and Louis J. Simpson of Coos Bay, who has one of the finest dairy herds in the state.

Moving-picture films of "Vive la France," Oregon's world champion Jersey cow, and of the Hollywood farm will be shown as part of the programme.

HIGHWAY CONTRACT LET

Pacific County's Ocean Beach Road to Be Built. OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 29.—(Special.)—What is probably the successful ending of a long fight to procure highway connection between Ilwaco and South Bend on Pacific county came today when the state highway commission let the contract for grading 2 1/2 miles of the Ocean Beach highway between Bear river and Nasel to K. L. Goulter of Seaview for $195,000. Included in the same improvement is a dredging contract, also let by the commission today, for more than two miles of embankment, to the Washington Diking company of Astoria for $24,576.

FROST HITS HOOD RIVER

Disciples of Late Indian George Correct Weather Prophets. HOOD RIVER, Or., Sept. 29.—(Special.)—Indian George has passed to the happy hunting grounds, but his disciples in weather prognostication assert that his mantle of correct prophecy has descended upon them. On Saturday, noting the southward flight of wild ducks, they predicted that a frost soon would visit the valley of apples and that winter would descend early in the mid-Columbia.

LATINS JOIN CONFERENCE

Pan-Americans Countries to Be Represented at Washington. WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(Special.)—Almost universal acceptance by the American governments of the invitation extended by President Wilson to send their ministers of finance and other delegates to the second annual financial conference here next January 12 to 17, was announced today by Secretary Glass. It is expected confidently that all the republics will be represented.

JUDGE JAMES DART DIES

Oldest Mason of St. Helens and ex-County Official Passes. ST. HELENS, Or., Sept. 29.—(Special.)—The oldest Mason in St. Helens, Judge James Dart, aged 78, died this morning. He was a resident since 1886 and in the early seventies he served three times as sheriff and one as county clerk. In 1904 he was elected county judge and served six years.

New Kind of Wheat Popular

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Sept. 29.—(Special.)—The new "Triple" wheat developed by the Washington State college last year is in great demand for seeding, according to Virgil Patton, county agent. As the seed raised by the state college has been sold and attempts will be made to get seed from Whitman and Walla Walla counties for other parts of the state. While the new wheat is not as immune from smut as Turkey red, farmers like it because it is not heeded.

Steamers to Visit Pribilofs

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 29.—For the first time in their history the barren Pribilof group of islands in the Bearing sea is to have regular steamship communication with the outside world throughout the year, it was announced here today.
