Threatening Weather Causes
Light Attendance.

VISITORS LAUD EXHIBITS

Oswego, Hazella and Other Communities Represented; Livestock Exhibits Filled.

OREGON CITY, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Today was Candy day at the Clackamas county fair grounds at Canby, and as the weather was threatening, few went from this city, but Canby was well represented.

The big pavilion was the principal attraction today, although there were a number who had completed their booths, but will be in readiness for the second day, which is Oregon City day. Every available space has been taken on the first floor, as well as the second floor.

On the main floor there are exhibits of all kinds of farm produce from various sections of the county, a portion of this being brought back from the state fair held last week, while a large portion is fresh from the farms and gardens.

Fine Exhibit Made.
Never before has there been a better exhibit than this year. Some of the finest samples of grains and grasses arranged artistically form a unique background for the agricultural display. The horticultural display has never been more attractive, for this year's crop in Clackamas county was unusually good.

Oswego and Hazella have made a splendid showing this year. The Oswego Grange, in charge of Mrs. Edythe Tozier Weathered of Portland, who is a member of the organization, is winning much praise for fair visitors. Mrs. Weathered, who is an artist as well as a prominent newspaper woman, has displayed her artistic talent in arranging the booth. The color scheme is black and yellow.

This is the first time that Oswego Grange has exhibited at the fair for some time.

The Hazella booth has been one of the main attractions as well, with its background of grain arranged on a black background, and along the main aisle are jellies, canned fruits and vegetables and fresh fruits. This was arranged by William Cook, deputy county assessor, and a member of the Hazella Grange, who assisted largely in gathering other products for the fair. Dave Long, who is superintendent of the pavilion, has assisted in getting together the exhibit in this section as well as in the entire pavilion.

The Warner Grange is represented again with a handsome display covering a big space.

Prizes Being Contests.
Hog, Brose, Price Bros, Carlson & Rosenbaum have entered for the prize of $20 for the best commercial booth. Mrs. Grant B. Dimick and Miss N. G. Cochran have entered for the $20 prize for the most unique booth, this being an autumn booth. All are of artistic design.

Some of the prominent young men of Canby having recently returned from overseas have arranged a war trophy booth that is a big attraction. The booth is decorated with flags and two members of the Willamette Falls post, American Legion, are working in the interest of the organization. These are Arthur McDonald and Arthur Scott, and Clyde Green. Canby also has a community booth.

The farm exhibit booth of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kaupisch of the Blue Ribbon Farm of Canby is a most wonderful display.

Dr. Roy Prudden of this city has a unique display, showing the process of cutting and making of lenses, and others representing their places of business are the Canby Hardware company, E. Krueger Furniture company, Portland Flouring mills and H. J. Bigger.

Juvenile Work Shown.
The second floor is displaying exhibits in the juvenile department in charge of J. E. Calavan and Brenton Vester and Miss Snodgrass, who are having charge of the club work and representing the agricultural college.

County Agent R. G. Scott and Miss Marie Anthony, home demonstrator, are in charge of a large booth, where demonstrations are being given.

The stock barns are well filled and never before has there been a more complete display of swine and sheep. Among the breeders of pure-bred stock in this line exhibiting are George DeBok, Judge Grant B. Dimick, both of Oregon City; A. D. Gribble of Canby and James Smith of Mackeburg.

Horses and cattle are arriving today and this evening.
