

PASTORS ADDRESS BY BISHOP HUGHES

Preaching Defined as Using Power of Suggestion.

CROWD PSYCHOLOGY USED

Anniversary of Founding of Willamette University Celebrated at Salem Conference.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special).—In his second address, directed more particularly to ministers, Bishop Matthew Hughes today told the delegates assembled at the 7th annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church here that it was first necessary for a person to make up his mind what he desired to do, and the next thing to do was to discover the best methods with which to accomplish the desired object. He had already issued the call to evangelism, so what was to be done was to be determined.

Suggestion Is Advocated.
"The river of evangelism is fed by three streams," said the bishop. "The first of these is revival evangelism. The second is personal evangelism, and the third is cultural evangelism." Dr. Hughes declared the revivals have been attacked by ecclesiastics and by scientific psychologists, who described the results obtained as emanating from mob psychology. He declared that such psychologists studied mobs such as the Omaha mob and then tried to apply their observations to camp meetings. He said it was impossible to transform human nature by studying it in that way and giving it a new name.

"Preaching the gospel," he asserted, "is using the power of suggestion upon the mind, precept upon precept, until the unbeliever believes."

He laid hold of the origin of sin and said that the original sin of theology is more or less what scientists call the law of heredity. There has been no change, he said, in human nature and in the past men have used crowd psychology to get results. Men now would be foolish if they did not use it, he declared.

Dr. Joshua Stansfield, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church in Portland, led the devotional services at the opening of the session. Alfred Bates had charge of the music.

Salary Increase Small.
Dr. W. E. Youngson, district superintendent for the Portland area, reported for his district. He spoke of the high cost of living and showed that while other commodities had soared as high as 50 per cent, ministers' salaries had increased only 15 per cent. He declared that he was going to have a drive of unusual vigor to help get the million members and that ministers must get out and do personal work instead of sitting in a church and inviting men to come in.

The anniversary meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary society was held yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. D. C. Weston in charge of the services. The feature of the afternoon was an address by Rev. W. F. Ineson, pastor of the Sunnyside Methodist church of Portland. This was followed by a banquet attended by the seminary men and visitors.

Tonight the 75th anniversary of the founding of Willamette university was celebrated, with Dr. E. L. Steeves presiding. Henry L. Benson, member of the Oregon legislature, also delivered an address on "A Voice Crying in the Wilderness," while other talks were given by Bishop Hughes and President G. M. Weston of the university. Mr. Doney spoke on the subject, "The Place of the Christian College."

More delegates arrived here today and it is believed tomorrow's sessions will be attended by at least 500 visiting pastors and laymen. In addition to the regular conference sessions many entertainment features have been arranged in honor of the delegates.

ENGINE KILLS LOGGER

ALBERT W. NETT DIES WHEN CAUGHT IN GEARING.

Chest Is Mangled and Cog Wheels Pass Over Body of Marcola Man, Who Succumbs in Eugene.

EUGENE, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special).—Albert W. Nett, of Marcola, aged 32 years, died at Mercy hospital in this city tonight as the result of injuries sustained Wednesday when he was drawn into the gearing of a donkey engine and crushed and mangled. While greasing the gearing of the engine at the Fischer logging camp above Marcola, Mr. Nett's coat became entangled in the machinery and before it could be taken out he was drawn into the revolving cog wheels. The flesh of his upper left arm was completely severed and his chest was crushed. The injured man was removed to the hospital at Eugene.

Mr. Nett is survived by a widow and three children, besides his parents, two brothers and two sisters. He was a member of one of the well-known families of the upper Willamette country and had lived in Lane county practically all his life.

LIBRARY TAX IS DENIED

County Court Holds Marions' Budget Now Too High.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special).—Declaring that the tax budget of Marion county for 1920 already is too high, County Judge G. M. Bushey this afternoon refused the request of representatives from many sections of the county who appeared before him and asked that a special tax be levied for the purpose of establishing a county library system.

Under a law enacted at a recent session of the legislature it is possible to establish such a library system through special taxation, but permission to levy this assessment must first be granted by the county court.

WHALES FREED BY GALE

Vessel in Distress Cuts Loose Captured Sea Monsters.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Oct. 2.—(Special).—A report received from the whaling station at Bay City late today stated that the whaler Westport, when about 30 miles off the harbor Tuesday, during the severe gale, was obliged to cut loose three whales which she had captured just before the blow.

The loss in whales, harpoons and cables is estimated to have been about $1000. The whaler had difficulty in making port.

"Lombardi, Ltd." in Screen Form

"Lombardi, Ltd." in screen form will show tomorrow in Portland for the first time. It will be the premier feature of this week's bill at the Strand theater.

The comedy drama, "Lombardi, Ltd.," is perhaps the most popular of all recent plays in lighter vein. It ran an unprecedented length of time in New York, where for more than a year it drew capacity houses. Since then it has toured the entire country, each time with great success. Its screen release, October 1, started it on another long round of production.

Bert Lytell has the stellar role and in being assigned to this part is recognized as one of the foremost performers, as no expense nor care has been spared to make this production completely satisfactory. In the play he takes the role of a dapper young Italian who is coming rapid money with the gowns which he designs on his pretty, winsome model.

In question on arm and clothed in a smart artist's smock, he represents an almost futuristic extreme of mid-lady's present-day accessories.

The latest models from New York and Paris are shown to great advantage in "Lombardi, Ltd." For advertising purposes the owners of exclusive shops allowed their most expensive models to be borrowed for the picture and the result is that Portland will see this week on the screen the same models that are being featured in the great eastern and French metropolises.

The Strand orchestra will change its concert numbers tomorrow. In addition to "Lombardi, Ltd." a news picture, a comedy and the clever newspaper items culled by the Literary Digest will be thrown on the Strand screen.

"Doug" Fairbanks' proudest boast is that he has never used a double and if a stunt is impossible to him it simply doesn't appear in the picture. After viewing "A Modern Musketeer," if Doug's veracity weren't unquestionable one might be tempted to doubt his word.

"WAR CITY" IS FOR SALE

ACCOMMODATIONS FOR 20,000 OFFERED TO HIGH BIDDER.

Nitro, W. Va., Covers 1800 Acres. Embraces 737 Plants and Has All Modern Conveniences.

WASHINGTON.—A city with living and business accommodations for 20,000 persons, the wartime value of which community is estimated at $70,000,000, is for sale to the highest bidder.

The city is Nitro, W. Va., and the war department, in announcing the coming sale, describes it as a "complete industrial community" covering 1800 acres, embracing 737 manufacturing buildings, housing accommodations for 20,000 persons and utilities and civic improvements that constitute the conveniences of a modern city.

Nitro was built by the government at a cost of approximately $70,000,000. Bids must cover not only the powder plant and the other industrial units, but the civil community, to which the United States also holds title, and will be opened at noon September 30, in the office of the chairman of the advance district salvage board, 1710 Market street, Philadelphia.

Set up on foothills, overlooking the industrial area with its bristling smokestacks, stands the civic community—more than 1500 furnished portable houses; homes for the workmen who will make the manufacturing units producing institutions; 75 permanently constructed executive residences, hotels, boarding houses, dormitories, clubhouses, general and special stores, cafeterias and moving picture houses; a modern 400-bed hospital designed and erected under supervision of the federal public service; a 24-room school house; large barracks and mess halls, together with Y. M. C. A. buildings and recreation halls, capable of providing proper housing and feeding facilities for 5000 workmen who, not having families, may not require independent homes.

Standing between the factory section and the residential country is what may be termed the administrative area, consisting of large office buildings, police station, fire station, bank, disarming building, inspection offices, traffic offices, telephone and telegraph building. A complete transportation system, including storage battery locomotives and flat and transfer cars is included.

LIGHTNING KILLS HORSE

Tangent Man, Fixing Auto, Is Knocked Unconscious.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special).—The killing of an animal by lightning in Linn county—a rare event—occurred last Saturday at Tangent. It was reported today. A horse on the farm of Carl Grell, near Tangent, was killed during an electrical storm. During the storm lightning struck so near Charles Grell of Tangent, that he was working on an automobile, that he was knocked unconscious, but suffered no permanent injury.

The lightning also struck and damaged some large trees in front of the residence of L. B. Luper near Tangent.

RUBBER DIVIDEND IS PAID

Two Per Cent Distribution Made on Common Stock.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The board of directors of the United States Rubber company today declared a dividend of 2 per cent on the common stock, the first distribution since 1915, when 1/2 per cent was paid.

It is intended to put the stock on a regular 5 per cent basis.

Criminal Suits Show Gain

SALEM, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special).—Reports covering the past year's criminal activities in Coos and Gilliam counties have been received at the offices of the assistant secretary of state, T. A. Weinko is district attorney of Gilliam county and John H. Hall is prosecutor for Coos county.

In each county the number of criminal actions last year shows a slight increase when compared with the preceding 12 months. Under a new law district attorneys are obliged to file these reports annually.

Australians End Studies

SALEM, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special).—E. P. Vaughn and R. A. Clayton of Tasmania, Australia, and P. V. Kerr of Victoria, who were sent to the United States recently by their respective countries to study conditions, have completed their observations here and will leave tomorrow for Hood River and other sections of the state. While in Salem the visitors inspected the dehydration plant of the King's Products company, the Pheas company plants and discussed cooperative handling of fruits with Robert C. Paulus and Professor C. L. Lewis of the Oregon Growers' association. They pronounced the Oregon climate very similar to that prevailing in many sections of Australia.

The Middle Ground

Between the positive and the negative there is a middle ground—a point where price and quality combine to make greater value. Bethlehem Motor Trucks are examples of that middle ground. They are not built up to an uneconomical value nor down to a price. The enormous Bethlehem output, the production of quality trucks on a quantity basis, means a lower overhead per truck, a lower margin of profit and a lower market price. Judge a Motor Truck on facts.

DEWS OF EVE

No More Gentle Than "Cascarets" for the Liver, Bowels

It is just as needless as it is dangerous to take violent or nasty cathartics. Nature provides no shock-absorbers for your liver and bowels against calomel, harsh pills, sickening oil and salts. Cascarets give quick relief without injury from Constipation, Bloating, Indigestion, Gases and Sick Headache. Cascarets work while you sleep, removing the toxins, poisons and sour, indigestible waste without gripping or inconvenience. Cascarets regulate by strengthening the bowel muscles. They cost so little too.—Adv.
