The strike of the musicians of Spokane, the printers of New York, the milkwagon drivers of Seattle, the re-porters of Omaha, the police of Ma-con, Ga., the stevedores of San Francisco, the Pacific Coast Electric employes of Los Angeles and the cigar-makers of Chicago and Tampa, to-gether with thousands of strikes which occur every day throughout the nation, are serious outbreaks of unrest which the nation as a whol disregards because, with a few local inconveniences, life goes on as usual.

Problem is Nation's.

Like a great ship adrift at sea, America is cruising about in search of a new harbor of industrial peace.
