

HUNDREDS WANTED AS CENSUS TAKERS

Applications Due October 15 and Jobs Go Begging.

SUPERVISORS MEET HERE

Ex-Soldiers and Dependents to Have Preference—Pay Ranges From $4 to $7 Daily.

Hundreds of census enumerators are wanted and the supervisors of Oregon are wondering if they will secure enough to make the canvass.

Applications must be made by October 15, and if the supervisors are to recruit their crews to the maximum there will have to be a stampede on the part of the public for the jobs.

It was to solve this problem that the supervisors held a conference at Vancouver yesterday and decided to lay their troubles before the reading public.

Attending this conference were H. B. Crawford of the first congressional district, with headquarters at Salem; W. A. Terrall of the second congressional district, headquarters at Vancouver; and the third congressional district, headquarters Portland.

Returned soldiers and their dependents will be given preference in appointments as enumerators. Owing to the apparent indifference of the public in seeking these jobs the government suggests to the supervisors that an appeal be made to the men and women who were active in the war drives, schoolteachers and the like.

The time is short for organizing the staffs for the field, as applications must be in by October 15—next Wednesday. Those who wish to serve should apply to the supervisors of their congressional district, as enumerators will be used in their home district and not in other districts.

There are two systems of compensation. One pays the enumerator by name and the other on a per diem basis. On the name basis enumerators receive from $2 to 4 cents a name and an active enumerator can make between $5.50 and $7 a day, declare the supervisors.

MOVING PICTURE NEWS

Scene from "The Floor Walker," which owing to its past successes has been re-issued and re-edited and will be shown this week at the Star theater in conjunction with "Bare-Fisted Gallagher," starring William Desmond.

TODAY'S FILM FEATURES. Columbia—Olive Thomas, "The Follies Girl"; Majestic—Tom Moore, "The City of Comrades"; Liberty—Wallace Reid, "The Valley of Giants"; Peoples—Pauline Frederick, "The Fear Woman"; S.R.—William Farnum, "Sisters of the Night"; Star—William Desmond, "Bare-Fisted Gallagher"; Sunset—William S. Hart, "Blue Business Rowdy"; Circle—Fred Stone, "Johnny Get Your Gun."

IT IS an Oregon girl who plays opposite William Desmond in "Bare-Fisted Gallagher," the feature which will open today at the Star theater.

Her name is Agnes Vernon and the motion picture "Who's Who" seems to consider Oregon such a small place that it fails to tell from just which town or city Agnes comes. She will be remembered by many Portlanders, however, for her work in "Taking Father Home," "Dangers of a Bride" and "A Stormy Night."

In one scene in "Bare-Fisted Gallagher" Miss Vernon drops from a tree onto a fast going stage and holds up the driver. In another she does an "Annette Kellermann" in her birth clothes from a 50-foot ledge into a mountain stream. In making her escape from the posse "Brownie" as she is called, rides at reckless speed along a narrow mountain trail overlooking a canyon where a stumble at her mount means death.

Miss Vernon has just finished a picture with Tom Mix. Although "Bare-Fisted Gallagher" is a western comedy-drama, there is little of the hackneyed gun-play which is flashed in the usual western picture in order to work up dramatic action.

"Bare-Fisted" fights with his two fists, and they prove effective weapons. He beats up a bad Mexican who wields a wicked knife, knocks out the stage-driver and takes his place unarmed in order to capture a mysterious bandit.

William Parker, who wrote "What Every Woman Wants," wrote "Bare-Fisted Gallagher" with Desmond in mind as the hero, and has given the big star one of the best roles of his career.

Olive Thomas, the "baby vamp" of "Upstairs," a picture which recently showed in Portland and which attracted unusually large crowds, has the stellar role of "The Follies Girl" in the picture which will open today at the Columbia theater.

Miss Thomas is, indeed, running true to form in "The Follies Girl." It was in Florenz Ziegfeld's "Follies" that she first attracted attention and it is as a gay little dancer that she is introduced to her admirers in "The Follies Girl."

A pretty story runs through this play. Scheming relatives of a dying man seek to alter a will by introducing a chorus girl to him as his long-lost granddaughter. The girl goes into the proposition thoughtlessly, but in nursing the old man she comes to forts are being made to prevent the publication of photographs of former Emperor William of Germany, taken Saturday last by two Dutch photographers, who were concealed in a load of hay near Count Hohenzollern's residence home. The one-time monarch is said to have offered a large sum for the negatives and all prints made from them.

The correspondent of the Associated Press has seen the pictures, which show Count Hohenzollern bearded and sturdy and appearing in a happy mood while talking to his wife and General Zontard, unconscious of the presence of the camera men.

CITY LETS STRIKERS OUT 50 Who Joined Mooney Protest Now Have One of Their Own.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Fifty employees of the city utilities department who failed to give notice that they would not work last Wednesday and who stayed off the job to participate in the Mooney protest strike, have been discharged by Tom Murphree, superintendent of utilities.

"I merely followed an established rule," said Murphree, "and will follow it in the future when men fail to come to work and do not give us notice." The 50 discharged men were employed in construction work.

NORRIS DENOUNCES SHANTUNG PROVISION

"Outrage of the Age," Senator Calls Award.

LOANS TO BRITAIN SCORED

Failure to Deport Certain Aliens and Japanese Immigration Debated in Senate.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—All of the time set aside by the senate today for consideration of the peace treaty was taken up by Senator Norris, republican, who made a two-hour attack on the Shantung settlement, and a half an hour's reading of the printed text.

When the Nebraska senator halted for the moment with his speech only two-thirds through, Republican Leader Lodge gave him a breathing spell by suggesting that the senate shift to the reading. Senator Norris will conclude tomorrow. Senator Lodge also may speak, and the senate will meet an hour earlier than usual in the hope of speeding up the treaty consideration.

At the suggestion of Senator Lodge, the senate also adopted an agreement to take up the Shantung amendments Wednesday, but this does not mean that they will be considered under the five-minute debating rule then or that a vote is any nearer than it was yesterday. Senators explained that this procedure would enable the body to revert to the section embracing the Shantung provision, as the reading by Wednesday may be well ahead of it. But if senators want to keep on speaking that day and thereafter, they will have that right.

Norris Denounces Award. Senator Norris, speaking extemporaneously, which is quite different from the plan followed by most of his colleagues, was particularly severe in denouncing the award of Shantung to Japan. There was no hope, he declared, of seeing that province back under the Chinese flag, once it was taken over by Japan under the peace conference settlement, which he characterized as the "outrage of the age."

He charged that the American people had been coerced in some cases "to subscribe to loans to support this government, which was lending money to Great Britain at 4 1/2 per cent, while Great Britain was lending it to Persia at 7 per cent.

There was only a brief reference to the league of nations during the "morning hour," the time for filling the record with documents indorsing and condemning it.

After Senator King, democrat, Utah, had attacked federal authorities for failure to deport "members of pestiferous and poisonous gangs seeking to destroy this government by force and violence," Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota, declared, in the senate today that "if these people had been deported the foreign relations committee would have been deprived of some of its star witnesses against the league of nations."

The discussion followed adoption of a resolution by Senator King directing the secretary of war to forward a report concerning the case of Robert Minor, a newspaper man arrested in France on a charge of spreading soviet propaganda.

Case Likened to Trotsky's. Senator Poindexter, republican, of Washington, said Minor had returned to this country to "continue his revolutionary activities, possibly to reward the United States for its liberality," and declared the case was similar to that of Leon Trotsky, "in whose behalf the United States interceded after his arrest in Canada on his way to Europe."

The senate committee continued its Major Robert Warwick, star of "In the Hills," shown early this week at the People's theater, has decided to acquire a working knowledge of the many art of self defense and has as his tutor Bill Larue, amateur boxing champion of the United States, who recently defeated Bill Meehan, challenger of Champion Jack Dempsey. After a few workouts Larue declared that Warwick had missed his vocation.

Gloria Swanson, leading lady in Cecil B. DeMille productions, has taken up aviation as a recreation. Miss Swanson recently took a trip that lasted an hour and was not at all frightened at the many loops, tail spins, etc., performed by the pilot. She is still alive.

William C. DeMille has finished the prologue of "The Tree of Knowledge," a picture starring Robert Warwick. The prologue is a representation of the Garden of Eden, with Theodore Kosloff as Adam.

J. N. Naulty, general manager of the eastern studios of the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, recently received a letter from Carl A. Zeigler, a prominent architect of Philadelphia, complimenting him upon the sets used in Elsie Ferguson's "A Society Exile."

Cecil B. DeMille will shortly begin filming the famous biblical play, "The Wanderers." Prominent members in the cast will be Gloria Swanson and Bebe Daniels.

"Cassidy of the Air Lines," is the title of a new feature picked to exploit the unusual ability of Lieutenant C. Locklear, a stunt performer in an aeroplane. His first feature, "The Winged Trail," was completed last month. Within a week after the International News cameraman caught Lieutenant Locklear at Atlantic City, in the act of passing from one airplane to another in the air, the daring aviator was signed under contract to work his ability into a five-reel thriller.

hearings today on the resolution of Senator Phelan of California proposing investigation as to whether Japan was violating the "gentlemen's agreement" between that government and the United States regarding the entry of Japanese into this country.

Commissioner Cammett of the immigration bureau and V. S. McClatchy, publisher of the Sacramento Bee, were the principal witnesses.

Mr. McClatchy reiterated previous testimony that the agreement was being "constantly and deliberately violated," while Commissioner Cammett told the committee his bureau had not been given sufficient funds to handle the situation.

Senator Phelan announced he had prepared a bill to exclude Japanese, the same as Chinese. Chairman Colt questioned the wisdom of such a proposal because of the present international situation, but Senator Phelan said he thought the question should be settled at this time. He declared there would be a breach of the world peace unless the United States did something to meet the situation now existing in California resulting from the influx of Japanese.

PRUNE CROP IS LARGE

Douglas County Prune Growers Will Receive $1,200,000.

ROSEBURG, Or., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—That the total prune production of Douglas county for 1919 will be about 8,000,000 pounds is believed by packers here who are handling most of the crop. At the prices prevailing this year, approximately $1-200,000 will be distributed among the prune growers of the county.

An unusually large crop had been anticipated in the vicinity of Roseburg, but hot, dry conditions were conducive to the fruit dropping, which lessened the yield materially. In the Hiddle and Canyonville districts the yield was much higher, so that probably 65 to 70 per cent normal crop was realized. Young orchards beginning to bear considerably increased the total yield, and the three big packing plants are flooded with prunes.

CRIMINAL IS DEPORTED Subject of Great Britain Sent on Steamer Colindo.

ASTORIA, Or., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Arthur Waters, a Britisher, who was recently released from the Oregon penitentiary, was deported yesterday, being sent on the steamer Colindo. Waters served 26 months in the penitentiary on conviction of a charge of burglary from Multnomah county, and was paroled on condition that he be deported.

He told the officers that he cleaned up $10,000 within three weeks in Portland, before he was caught.
