6 PER CENT STATE TAX PLAN ON FOOT

Highway Engineers Told 2 Per Cent Inadequate.

PETITIONS ARE ON WAY

Additional Revenue Needed to Keep Up Oregon's Share of Road Work, Solon Asserts.

From James S. Stewart of Fossil and Corvallis, Oregon legislator, members of the Northwestern Society of Highway Engineers heard Saturday night that initiative petitions soon will be circulated in Oregon to place on the ballot a measure to raise the limitation on bonded indebtedness of the state to 6 per cent. At present the limitation is 2 per cent for the state and 6 per cent for counties.

Mr. Stewart declared that the commonwealth is under a handicap in matching the federal funds that are and will be made available for highway construction in Oregon. With authority to use credit of the state up to the same limitation placed on counties, he said it would make possible the matching of government funds to the amount of $40,000,000.

There were 70 covers laid in the Elizabethan room of the Imperial hotel, at which a representative body of the men who are directing highway work in Oregon, Washington and Idaho gathered.

R. M. Gillis Presides.

R. M. Gillis of Olympia, president of the society, presided. Other officers who attended were: G. V. Skelton and C. H. Whitmore, vice-presidents; J. J. Brooks, treasurer; J. C. McLeod, secretary, and Directors M. O. Bennett, E. W. Lazell, S. H. Graf and Herbert Nunn. O. Laurgaard was unable to be present because of illness. In the course of routine business nine new members were elected to active and two to junior membership.

The society voted to affiliate with the American Society of Engineers, but to maintain its present identity and continue in the work it has assumed.

Jones Bill Approved.

The organization also approved the bill pending before congress, introduced by Senator Jones of Washington, to create a department of public works.

The society went on record as opposed to having engineering work continued under the salary limitations imposed by federal laws, and urged that the measure be amended so that the best engineering talent in the country may be attracted to the executive positions in charge of large projects.

Those in attendance at the meeting were:

Herbert Nunn, state highway engineer; R. W. Barnes, R. M. Gillis, W. H. Marsh, David F. Morrison, E. W. Lazell, J. C. McLeod, Charles H. Whitmore, Raymond Archibald, Merle Rosecrans, William S. Anderson, T. E. Downey, B. McAtee, A. K. Grondahl, E. A. Skelley, Clement F. Watt, P. A. Franklin, H. C. Tibbals, W. D. Keller, J. D. Neville, Ulrae E. Gray, George Hibbert Jr., Walter G. STRIKE DANGER DENIED

GOVERNOR OLCOTT REFUTES GUARD SUPPLY RUMOR.

Executive Disputes Statement Order for Arms Is Needed to Suppress Disorders.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Governor Olcott said last night that nothing was mentioned about the strike situation in telegrams authorized by him relative to equipment for the national guard of Oregon, and that he does not know the origin of reports that haste was urged in sending supplies to the Oregon regiment because of strike conditions.

"When the Oregon regiment was federalized," said the governor, "it had not yet been supplied with the new rifles and some other necessary equipment, but this was due to be sent from the Benicia arsenal. Adjutant-General Stafrin was anxious to receive the equipment, believing it would be an inducement to further enlistments in the regiment, which he desired to bring up to full strength. He asked permission to sign my name to a telegram to the arsenal, and this was granted, but there was nothing sensational in the message; nothing was said about strikes.

"Still there was delay and the adjutant-general became exasperated and sent telegrams to Senator Chamberlain and the adjutant-general at Washington, but I am informed that nothing was said in those telegrams about strike conditions threatening the peace of the state."

CHIEF ASKED TO ATTEND

Sheriffs Also Invited to Traffic Officers' Conference.

All sheriffs and chiefs of police of the northwest have received invitations to visit the conference of the National Traffic Officers' association to be held in Seattle October 21 to 23, by Chief of Police Johnson, who is secretary of the association.

One of the big problems to be discussed will be automobile thievery and methods of suppression.

Chief Johnson, Lieutenant Lewis and Sergeant Ervin of the police bureau and Harry P. Coffin of the public safety commission will attend the gathering.

CLACKAMAS FARM IS SOLD

George W. Buck Disposes of Property and Buys in Yamhill.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—During the past week a number of important land sales have been closed in Clackamas county. Among these is the farm of George W. Buck, located at Central Point, a few miles from the city, and consisting of 35 acres, all under cultivation. This is a small farm, but has been a profitable one for Mr. Buck, who has been engaged in breeding pure-blooded livestock and poultry.

Mr. Buck has been specializing in breeding Poland China swine and White Leghorn chickens. Mr. Buck has sold this farm to a Mr. Miller of Hillsboro, who takes possession Monday morning, October 20, and has purchased a farm at Yamhill consisting of 120 acres with two houses, one a beautiful home, with hardwood floors, private water system, electric lights and modern throughout. A heating system is to be installed by Mr. Buck as soon as he takes possession. The farm was purchased from Weidner brothers. This is one of the best farms in that section.

Mr. Buck has been a resident of Clackamas county for the past five years, and before taking up his residence in this county was a civil engineer.

MANY ATTEND RECEPTION

DR. AND MRS. KERR RECEIVE 450 AT O. A. C.

Men's Gymnasium Gaily Decorated With Autumn Foliage for Annual Occasion.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Carvallis, Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The president's reception to the members of the college faculty staff in honor of the board of regents was attended last night by 450 persons. The event has been an annual occurrence for the 11 years since Dr. W. J. Kerr has been president of the institution, although the reception was not held last year on account of war conditions.

The gala affair last night was held in the men's gymnasium, which was decorated with autumn foliage—fir trees and highly-colored vine maple. Japanese lanterns were hung in nooks and corners.

In the receiving line were President and Mrs. W. J. Kerr, J. K. Weatherford, president of the board of regents, and Mrs. Weatherford; N. R. Moore, regent, and Mrs. Moore; M. S. Woodcock, regent, and Mrs. Woodcock; C. L. Hawley, treasurer of the board of regents, and Mrs. Hawley; H. Von der Hellen, regent; E. E. Wilson, ex-regent; Mrs. A. T. Buxton, Dean and Mrs. A. B. Cordley, Dean and Mrs. G. A. Covell, Dean and Mrs. J. A. Bexell, Dean and Mrs. E. D. Ressler, Dean and Mrs. G. W. Peavy, Dean Mary E. Fawcett, Dean and Mrs. Adolph Zieflе, O. D. Center, director of extension, and Mrs. Center; Dean Ava Milam, Dean and Mrs. C. E. Newton, Dean and Mrs. M. E. Smith, Professor and Mrs. F. H. Gaskins, Professor and Mrs. Frederick Berchtold and Colonel and Mrs. Joseph K. Partello.

TELEGRAPH SESSION ENDS

W. U. OFFICIALS PLAN SERVICE IMPROVEMENTS.

Commercial Agent W. A. Robb to Have Charge of Immediate Development Work Here.

Western Union Telegraph company officials Saturday concluded a three-days' conference in Portland at which were gathered the most representative crowd of telegraph officials that has ever been in Portland at one time. Among those in attendance were General Manager M. T. Cook and Division Commercial Manager C. S. Newsome from San Francisco, General Commercial Agent Kaufman of New York, District Commercial Superintendent F. C. Cole of Seattle, eleven managers from outside offices representing a territory extending as far south as Klamath Falls and as far east as Baker, and the sales force of Portland.

The subjects discussed covered a large range, including mainly possible improvements in service to meet the additional demands expected upon the wires. R. R. Williams, now manager of the Portland office, recently arrived from Washington, D. C., where he had been manager of the company's office for two years, attended the sesions. Commercial Agent W. A. Robb will have immediate charge of the development work here. The conference was presided over by A. F. Cole, district commercial superintendent of Seattle, and was the first of a series to be held here from time to time.

ELOPEMENT IS RECALLED

Captain Leslie With Youthful Wife Returns to Portland.

Captain Preston Leslie and Mrs. Leslie, nee Miss Bab Ainsworth, Portland society girl, have returned to this city to make their home, following a romance of a year ago when Miss Ainsworth evaded the eye of her mother and ran away to wed the man of her choice although she was only 16 years of age.

Captain and Mrs. Leslie are now staying at the home of the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ainsworth, in this city. They expect to be located in Laurelhurst in the near future. Captain Leslie, who is a civil engineer, has taken a position with the Warren Construction company.

Mrs. Leslie had been staying with relatives in California in order to be near her husband while he was in the service.

CLUB REBELLION FAILS

Rumored Revolt Against Bathing Suit Edict Subsides.

Everything passed off smoothly at the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club Saturday, although the swimmers had declared that they would inaugurate a campaign against the recent bathing suit ruling.

Very few members patronized the tank during the social hours last night, although the various other Saturday night attractions drew their usual quota of spectators and participants.

In the dance hall every one seemed in an expectant mood, waiting for something to happen, but they waited in vain. A few more members were "called" for violating the dancing ordinance, however.

CUBAN POLICY HELD EQUAL TO SHANTUNG

Japanese Envoy Says U. S. Conquered Islands.

CRITICISM IS RESENTED

Peace Conference Delegate on Way Home Avers Nation Will Keep Good Faith in Pledges.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—"No matter how much you Americans may dislike the reference, you've got to admit that the United States obtained possession of the Philippine islands by conquest and you said to the Cubans: 'We'll give you back your independence when the time is ripe.'

"No Japanese suspected any ill intentions on the part of America then. No Japanese raised any question of right or wrong. We, as a nation, had faith in the honor and integrity of the United States. We had faith in your interpretation of justice. And now in the name of common sense why cannot America accord us the same consideration and respect?"

Defending Japan's position in the Shantung situation and deploring sentiment in this country as reflected from time to time in the United States senate, Y. Matsuoka, secretary to the Japanese foreign minister, and himself one of Japan's delegates to the Paris peace conference, made that statement in Seattle Saturday just before his departure for Japan. He is on his way home from Paris, where he has been for the last several months.

Criticism Is Resented.

"We did not take anything away from the Chinese," Mr. Matsuoka declared. "It was from the Germans, held by them under a 99-year lease. You and everyone else knows that such a lease is nothing in the world but camouflage and subterfuge for ownership. We spent $60,000,000 and lost 1800 men in getting what we got. It didn't cost the Chinese anything.

"And now in the face of the pledges and promises we made under sacred oath, we are being subjected to severe criticism and suspected of ulterior motives. Of course, we know how it comes about. The Chinese have gained the support of certain Americans not familiar with the situation and who lack a clear understanding of Japan's intentions by appealing to their sympathy through distorted versions.

Faith Promised for Pledges.

"It is humbuggery, and it is not fair to Japan. No American has any right to doubt the honesty and veracity of the Japanese. No Japanese has ever gone back on his sacred pledge. I would like to ask: Has there ever been anything in Japanese diplomacy to warrant a judgment of suspicion?

"Most certainly Japan will carry out her pledges in regard to Shantung. But give us time. We cannot bargain on anything that does not belong to us. The German concessions will not formally come under our jurisdiction until the peace treaty is ratified. So in effect they do not belong to us now.

"Just as soon as we ratify the peace treaty, then will we be ready to open negotiations with China. Before the peace treaty can be submitted to the emperor it must be translated into Japanese and this is a big task.

Translation in Progress.

"The work is now in progress, as the document was carried to Japan several weeks ago by other Japanese delegates from the peace conference. I look for the treaty to be ratified in a very short time now."

"What if the Chinese refuse to negotiate?" Mr. Matsuoka was asked.

"If they refuse," he said gravely and with emphasis, "we simply cannot do anything."

Mr. Matsuoka speaks English fluently. He was to take passage at San Francisco for Japan, but missed connections and came to Seattle to obtain passage on the liner Africa Maru.

IDAHO EDUCATOR DIES

C. A. Axline, 12 Years President of Albion Normal, Succumbs.

BOISE, Idaho, Oct. 12.—(Special.)—G. A. Axline, for 12 years president of the state normal school at Albion, Idaho, died today at Long Beach, Cal., after an illness of several months. A telegram received here tonight by the staff department of education announced the death.

Mr. Axline was one of the best known educators of the state. For several years he was president of the Idaho State Teachers' association.

Miss Whiteside Gives Able Recital on Piano.

Programme in Ballroom of Multnomah Hotel Well-Chosen and Played With Real Interpretation.

BY JOSEPH MACQUEEN.

IT SPEAKS well and encouragingly for the healthy growth and gracefulness of Portland pianism that Miss Abby Whiteside was able to give such a satisfying, splendid recital Saturday night in the ballroom of the Multnomah hotel. Her programme was a finely built up one, and her audience, composed of musical and society sets, comfortably filled the auditorium.

The chief work performed was the famous but difficult to interpret MacDowell "Keltic Sonata," in three movements. It is a heroic concept of weird, strange tonal contrasts, beautiful in color treatment and grand in imagery. Sometimes it speaks of seafoam dashing upon rocky shores, and at others it voices laments that are essentually Keltic—something like the haunting airs that John McCormack sings so poetically and tenderly. Miss Whiteside gave a soulful, bard-like reading of its many hidden beauties.

In the Bach and Brahms excerpts Miss Whiteside excelled, while in the softer Ayres, Blanchet and Aubert numbers she invested them with a tenderness that was much appreciated.

Miss Whiteside was royally and kindly received, and had to respond to extra numbers, her choice being: "Summer Lament" (Liszt), "March Hungarian" (Dohnanyi), and "Impromptu" (MacDowell). Her graceful seat at the piano, and her naturalness in playing, duly impressed. Hers was a recital that will be remembered with sincere respect. It was a notable achievement.

CURTISS WANTED IN EAST

TELEGRAM ASKS ARREST OF BETTY WRIGHT'S SOPUSE.

Larceny Named as Basis of Charge Gotham Authorities Have Against Wooer.

William Edward Glenn Curtiss, husband of pretty Betty Wright, playing in the Orpheum musical comedy company "Not Yet, Marie," who was in Portland early in the week posing as a son of Glenn H. Curtiss, the airplane manufacturer, is wanted in New York on a charge of larceny.

A telegram asking the arrest of Curtiss was received Saturday by Chief of Police Johnson from Second Deputy Commissioner Laphey of the New York police bureau.

According to advices from New York, Curtiss is wanted for the larceny of $70 from a man named Augustus Post.

Curtiss left Portland, presumably for San Francisco, after he had passed a check for $150 at the Hotel Benson, where he was staying with his wife. The check was made good by Betty Wright.

The hotel made inquiries and received advices that Curtiss was not as he represented himself.

Betty Wright was married to Curtiss in Seattle following a 23-hour courtship. Following his escapades here and the receipt of advices that he was not the son of the airplane manufacturer, she declared she would still be true to him and assist him in making good.

The Portland police referred the New York authorities to San Francisco, where it was thought possible Curtiss might be located.

BURGLARS ARE YET BUSY

Robberies in Three Homes Reported Yesterday to the Police.

Silverware valued at more than a hundred dollars was taken from the home of Louis Von Klein, 666 East Fifty-fourth street North, by burglars, he reported to the police Saturday.

The loot taken from Mr. Von Klein's home included 10 silver knives, 10 silver forks, two dozen silver tea spoons, six oyster forks, six silver coffee spoons, one child's silver set, six butter knives, one sugar shell, 1 electric iron, one sword, one baby necklace, one gold chain, one gold necklace and $10.15.

Burglars took a quantity of jewelry from the home of R. L. Balzer, 600 Stanton street. He reported missing a lady's watch, jewel case, string of pearls, two strings of coral beads and one pair of pearl ear rings.

G. B. Growell, Hoyt hotel, reported to have lost two suits and an overcoat.

CLAN MACLEAY IS HOST

Ex-Service Men Entertained at Banquet and Dance.

In honor of the return of members of the organization who had been overseas, Clan Macleay held a banquet and dance in the Masonic temple Friday night.

A. J. Findley gave an address of welcome to the returned members, and Dr. W. H. Skene responded. This is the first of a series of gatherings to be held by the clan.

A lecture by Lieutenant Mackenzie, who was a prisoner of war in Germany, will be a feature of the next meeting.

Malpractice Suit Is Field.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Dr. George C. Knott of Glendale, Douglas county, is defendant in a suit for $10,000 damages for malpractice that is set for trial here Tuesday. SALT LAKE HEARS JOHNSON ON TREATY

Senator Denounces League as "An Unholy Thing."

GREAT CROWD PRESENT

Speaking Tour Closes and Solon Will Start Today on Trip Back to Washington.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 12.—Before a great and thoroughly responsive audience in the Mormon tabernacle last night Senator Hiram W. Johnson termed this meeting a fitting climax to the transcontinental itinerary and to the cause he represents. He denounced the league of nations as proposed "as an unholy thing" and flayed its proponents and sponsors.

The audience which heard Senator Johnson in the final forceful utterances of his tour was the largest he had addressed anywhere on this trip except perhaps in San Francisco. It was estimated at between 9000 and 10,000 persons.

The crowd cheered the statement of Presiding Bishop Charles W. Nibley of the Mormon church, who introduced the senator, that "everywhere sentiment is changing, turning against the treaty." The theory of the league of nations is beautiful, he declared, but would not work out that way. The bishop voiced the hope that the president "would get so disgusted with the league that he will chuck the whole blooming thing into the waste basket."

Trouble Enough at Home.

He further declared that the United States "has enough troubles at home without doddering off to Europe looking for more."

If the country at large would follow the Mormon doctrine of "mind your own business," he asserted, it would be better off.

The audience came to its feet cheering, when Bishop Nibley introduced Senator Johnson as the confidant and trusted friend of the late Theodore Roosevelt.

In his address here tonight, as at Ogden this afternoon, Senator Johnson praised United States Senator Reed Smoot, senior solon from Utah, for his steadfast stand against the administration on the treaty question. Although it has been made known by many of Senator Smoot's constituents that they favor ratification of the treaty without change, as a move to secure world-wide peace, Senator Johnson was assured by both democrats and republicans who formed reception committees for him today that there is a division of sentiment in Utah on the question.

League Chairman Is Sponsor.

Besides Bishop Nibley presiding as chairman tonight, Nephi L. Morris, Utah chairman of the League to Enforce Peace, an organization counted among the strongest supporters of the unchanged treaty, was one of the sponsors for the Johnson address. Among other well-known Salt Lake City citizens who extended a welcome to the senator here was former Governor William Spry.

As an evidence that there was growing sentiment for strong amendments to the league of nations, as he claims, Senator Johnson pointed tonight to a statement made here yesterday by Archbishop Edward J. Hanna of San Francisco, formerly an official there of the League to Enforce Peace. Archbishop Hanna declared on his return here from an eastern trip that "idealism, nationalism, Americanism and all the red-blooded sentiments of independence seem to have been lost sight of by those crying for the league of nations."

Senator Johnson planned to leave tomorrow afternoon for Washington. He announced tonight at a banquet in his honor that he would speak on the peace treaty at Madison Square Garden, New York, October 18, under the auspices of the League for the Preservation of American Independence at the invitation of Senator Moses of New Hampshire.

WAR DRY LAW IS TARGET

HOUSE RESOLUTION WOULD REMOVE RESTRICTIONS.

Attorney-General Palmer to Pass on Enforcement Legislation Before Wilson Acts.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Another move to end war-time prohibition was made today in the house of representatives. At the same time word went out from the White House that Attorney-General Palmer would render an opinion on the constitutionality of recently enacted prohibition enforcement legislation before it was placed before President Wilson for action.

The move in the house was made by Representative John W. Rainey, democrat, Illinois, and took the form of a resolution which would declare it the sense of congress that the conditions necessary to the termination of the war-time prohibition act now exist. Adoption of this resolution, it was said, would give the president authority to annul the law by declaring demobilization of the army completed. The resolution went over under the rules and there was no indication when it might be brought up.

Since the war-time prohibition act went into effect, brewers have been manufacturing 2.75 per cent beer and actions begun by the government to have the sale of such beer declared illegal have resulted in appeals which now are pending in the supreme court.

If the war-time enforcement legislation goes into effect—and it will automatically become law within 10 days after it is sent to the White House unless vetoed by the president—the sale of 2.75 per cent beer would be illegal. As a consequence, government agencies which would be charged with the enforcement of the law are preparing to wage an active campaign against violators.

GERMAN ALIENS BARRED

Five Applicants Denied Cityizenship in Dallas Court.

DALLAS, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—At a session of the Polk county circuit court held in Dallas last week, with Judge George H. Bingham of the supreme court presiding, the applications for citizenship papers of Ernest Zielesch, Frederick W. Gerlinger, Otto Jahn, Adam E. Wurm and Gustav Grau, all former citizens of Germany, were denied on the ground that petitions for their first papers were not filed at least two years before the declaration of war.

As their cases now stand they cannot obtain citizenship until they get a special dispensation from the department of justice at Washington or until the government decides to abolish the pre-war ruling in regard to alien enemies.

As the court docket was extremely short this term, the entire slate was cleaned up this week.
