ONE-WAY TRAFFIC PRAISED.—One-way traffic has solved Plitsburg traffic difficulties, according to Lieutenant Lewis, in charge of the traffic flureau of the Portland police department, who returned yesterday from an eastern trip, where he attended the national traffic officers' convention.

Pittsburg, like Portland, Lieutenand, Li an eastern trip, where he attended the national traffic officers' convention. Pitisburg, like Portland, Lieutenant Lewis explains, has narrow streets, but by inaugurating one-way traffic rules in the congested district and in a number of other streets has done away with all traffic troubles. Other rules in the congested district and in a number of other streets has done a number of other streets has done away with all traffic troubles. Other eastern cities have resorted to one-way traffic, according to Lewis, and if Portland is to solve its traffic problems one-way traffic must be instituted in the congested district, he claims.

Rev. R. T. T. Hicks Denies That Social Upheaval Proof Against Success of Pulpit.

Denial that social conditions in their present state of upheaval are proof against the success of the church was made by Rev. R. T. T. Hicks, dean of St. Stephen's proathedral, in his morning sermo

Dean Hicks took for his text: O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou killest the rophets and stonest them that are sent into thee, how often would I have gathred thy children together, even as a hen atherets her chickens under her wings, and ye would not.—St. Matthew, 23:xxxvil. and ye would not.—St. Matthew, 23:xxxvil.
"The indifference and irreligious-ness of the world are killing the prophets that are sent unto us, and crucifying the son of God afresh," said Dean Hicks. "Is it any wonder then, that the world is in such up-heaval and misery, when it refuses to accept Christ that it may have life and peace?

... Blame Borne By Church ... "Of course the church is being blamed by so-called leaders of the people, for the present moral and in-dustrial condition of the world. live unto him." It is the word 'all' which should be stressed in this Scripture. Not alone that Christ died, but that he died for all; and he died for 'all' that all might live unto him! "The modern motive for missions is the constraining love of Christ—the Christ who died for 'all.' It takes a God, or a God-touched life, to see the possibility of a fine human in a Hot-tentot heathen; to see the possibility of saints in sin-soaked sinners. This is the one explanation of heroic Chris-tian missions and missionaries. It breaks down or overrides all barriers of race, religion, color, caste or pre-vious condition. It is the most hu-manizing, brotherizing and uplifting power in all life.

'In former days a powerful motive for missions was a belief that at led by the teachings of the master. He offers to receive us, and to forgive us; but to us as to Jerusalem of old he says, "And ye would not."

"The wrongful conditions that exist today come from selfishness and injustice. It is not so much the conscious selfishness, or deliberate injustice of individuals as the selfishness and injustice inherent in our economic and industrial systems—inherent in them because they are based upon the principle of getting rather than giving. If this be true then all every movement of the day the heathen, because he has never heard the gospel of Christ, is necessarily eternity lost. None should be lost for not knowing of Christ, but many may be lost through rejecting Christ. We do know this, however, which is most important, that there is not in all the heathen world that which will give salvation and the highest and best of human life, except through Jesus Christ, and knowing that 'Christ died for all, that all might live unto him.' we preach and teach and persuade man: we practice Christian missions.

PASTOR RAPS MODERN PIETY

Fearful of Getting Feet Wet, Says Rev. W. T. McElveen.

"Modern piety doesn't like to get its fastidious feet wet; it is afraid of catching cold or being sun-struck," said Dr. W. T. McElveen of the First Congregational church in his sermon yesterday morning. He was preach-ing on "Fidelity." He said: "Faithfulness is a high-grade excellency. Love is the greatest thing in the world. It is the supreme virtue, and trustworthiness is perhaps the next greatest virtue. Goodness has next greatest virtue. Goodness has many forms, but its highest is faithfulness. "Many of us who usually know bet-ter dodge duty and obligation simply because it isn't convenient to do it The reason why some of us are mor ally meager and spiritually small i because we consult our conveniences rather than our convictions. not flagrantly bad. careless and spiritually heedless. We might learn a lesson from the old Filgrim forebears. They were staunch.

You could count on them. They were safe to tie to. We are not. They had hack-bone and not merely wish-bone. They were a bit over-serious and over-stern and over-solemn, but they were devoted, loyal and true.

"They never skulked away from data, they were never indifferent to."

The Appeal of Good Bonds Is Universal

They appeal not alone to individuals, but to trust companies, estates, business houses, and colleges.

Why? Because they carry a good rate of interest, are readily salable, and a bondholder often obtains a loan with his bonds as security when credit otherwise would be refused.

The Bond Department of Ladd & Tilton Bank will gladly cooperate with you in the purchase of "securities of proved worth" - securities that will mean an additional outside income for you.
