

ASTORIA'S DEMAND FOR DREDGE DENIED

Chinook to Come Promptly When Needed in River.

NAVAL REPORT AWAITED

Favorable Word on Columbia Base Believed Likely—McArthur Has New Duty.

(Charles C. Hart is in charge of The Oregonian News Bureau at Washington. His address is 827 Riggs Building.)

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—Demands from Astoria, Or., that the dredge Chinook be returned to the mouth of the Columbia river again were rejected today by the chief of engineers. The Chinook is now on the Atlantic coast dredging Thimble Shoal channel at Norfolk, Va. The chief of engineers answers that when there is need of dredging on the bar at the mouth of the Columbia, which there is not at this time, the Chinook will be promptly returned to those waters.

Admiral McKean, Admiral Parks and Commander Hilton, composing the special board which recently made a trip of investigation on the Pacific coast, have not made their report. Upon this report Secretary Daniels must depend for any recommendations which he will make to congress as to the establishment of naval bases, including such base at Astoria, it was explained at the navy department today. There are good reasons to believe that the board will make a favorable report on the proposed base at Astoria, but until the report is in Secretary Daniels will not consider the question.

Representative McArthur, who returned to Washington yesterday, found that during his absence some political responsibilities had been imposed upon him along with his congressional duties. As the Oregon member of the national republican congressional committee he has been designated a member of the sub-committee on campaign literature.

Veterans of the world war from Oregon and Idaho are making themselves felt in Washington in urging recognition of their comrades in the institutions created especially for soldiers. From Oregon comes the request that Dr. Harry J. Anderson of Corvallis, who served in the war for more than 18 months, be appointed medical examiner of vocational students.

Joe E. Edwards, Kalama, Wash., would be held to be honorably discharged from the army by the passage of a bill introduced in the house by Representative Albert Johnson today. Edwards, who belonged to the 28th company, 20th engineers, was one of several enlisted men in that company convicted in France of stealing munitions, for which severe sentences were given. Much of Edwards' sentence was remitted and he was transferred to the disciplinary barracks for dishonorable discharge. Representative Johnson believes that the soldier paid sufficient penalty and should have a honorable discharge.

Favorable action by the president on the recommendation of Director Julius H. Barnes of the grain corporation for the lifting of the import and export embargo on wheat will mean big things to the Pacific International company of Portland, Or. This company has made several applications to the grain corporation for permission to ship large quantities of wheat and barley to Scandinavian countries, all of which were disapproved because of the embargo. It is thought a way will be found to put the order in effect soon, although Mr. Wilson's health has prevented his considering the question up to this time.

RAW MATERIALS NEEDED

GERMAN DYE INDUSTRY WILL BE CRIPPLED FOR YEAR.

Several Interests Greatly Handicapped by Injuries Done to Plants by Allied Bombs.

(Copyright by The New York World. Published by Arrangement with the LONDON, Oct. 16.—(Special Cable.)—Germany will not be in a position for at least another year to compete with the United States and other countries for the world's dye markets. This is the view of Irving A. Keene of the American Chamber of Commerce of London, head of the commission appointed to investigate the German dye industry. Mr. Keene has returned here after a month in Germany.

He reports that German manufacturers need raw materials badly for both medical chemicals and dyes. He says that after the German dye interests have sold 50 per cent of their output, as in January, 1919, to the German government for delivery to the allies as an indemnity, there will be hardly enough available to meet home demands.

Mr. Keene found several big dye interests still greatly handicapped by injuries done to their plants by allied bombs. He reports that wonderful crops have greatly encouraged the people, but there is still much unrest among the workers and pessimism among the manufacturers.

HOUSE SEES DANGER IN RADICAL ALIENS

Measure Extending Passport Restrictions Passed.

OTHER ACTION IS PLANNED

Several Bills Providing for Deportation of Undesirable Foreign Element Are Presented.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Activities of radical aliens in the United States received further attention today in congress.

Several bills having for their purpose deportation of foreign agitators and aliens who fail to become citizens, and Americanization of foreigners now in the country, were offered in the senate and house, while the latter passed legislation extending wartime passport restrictions for one year. This bill, recommended by the state department and designed to keep dangerous aliens out of the country, now goes to the senate.

Hearings on appropriations for naturalization work were continued before the house immigration committee. Raymond F. Crist, deputy commissioner of naturalization, told the committee 116,000 foreign-born persons in the country were not citizens and that the presence of such a "large undigested population" created "an alarming situation."

The senate labor committee, which has been investigating the steel strike, decided to hear witnesses Monday and Tuesday as to the activity of radical aliens in that strike. It also voted to close its inquiry by the middle of next week so as to get to work on naturalization legislation which it proposes to press in the senate.

BULGARIAN TREATY TO BE DISPOSED OF SOON.

Most of American Delegation Members Expect to Leave Paris by December 1 at Latest.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—The Bulgarian delegation is on its way back to Paris and there is every indication that the Bulgarian treaty will be disposed of soon. Only the Hungarian treaty then remains to be negotiated, as it is generally agreed that it will be impossible to hold the supreme council together for the Turkish treaty.

There is as yet no government in Hungary with which the peace conference can deal, but the treaty draft is nearly completed in Paris and should there be no recognized government in Budapest before December 1, arrangements will probably be made to have a few delegates remain in Paris to negotiate a treaty with Hungary whenever a satisfactory government is established at Budapest.

The supreme council and the peace conference will not end officially until the Hungarian treaty is concluded, but only a few members representing the various governments will remain to complete the work.

An entirely new set of delegates will probably be selected to negotiate the treaty with Turkey when the allied and neutral governments learn whether the United States will accept a mandate for Turkey or a part thereof and the disposition of Turkish territory.

Most of the American delegation members are planning to leave Paris by December 1 at the latest.
