PORTLAND AID IS ASKED

Tourist Hotel Wanted by Southern City for Accommodation of Pacific Highway Tourists.

ASHLAND, Or., Oct. 16.—(Special.)
—Spirit of the new Oregon was the characterization C. C. Chapman gave today to the sentiment that pervaded talks of Ashland business men in greeting the delegation of the Port-talks of Ashland business men in greeting the delegation of the Portland Chamber of Commerce on the southern Oregon trade excursion. There is no longer sectionalism, if one may judge by the utterances of official and civic representatives of the communities. Fifty business men of the climatic capital of Oregon, as Postmaster Kiser describes his home city, were guests of the Portland Chamber at the noon luncheon.

Mayor C. B. Lamkin portrayed with broad vision the resources of Jackson and Klamath counties tributary to Ashland, gave information as to the payrolls, fruit pack, mills, dairying, livestock, also referring to the project for drilling a deep well in the vicinity to test the possibility of valuable deposits of oil, gas, coal or other mineral wealth. Latent riches in fertility of soil, deposits of granite and other building materials and the timbered slopes of the Siskiyous on one side and Cascades to the east were called to attention and with deep earnestness advocated the purpose of Portland to play a part in transportation and commercial advancement of the whole of this section of the state.

Banquet Well Attended.

Banquet Well Attended. The banquet tendered by the Ashland commercial club was served in the Elks' building, which was made general headquarters for the occasion throughout the day. Leonard Pettitt, violinist, and Mrs. R. G. Cardwell, soprano, entertained with music. Speakers were V. O. N. Smith, cashier Citizens' bank; William Briggs, representing bar association; Irving Vin-ing, Chautauqua lecturer; L. F. Fer-guson, merchant, and Bert R. Greer, president of the commercial club, pre-siding. Of the Portland delegation A. H. Devers, Edward Boyce, Harry P. Huntington, Nelson Pike and W. H. Bebarrell smoke.

P. Huntington, Nelson Pike and W. H. Beharrell spoke.

Twenty-five automobiles were in waiting for the arrival of the party this morning. A tour of beautiful Lithia park was made and scenic highways to heights overlooking city and orchards were driven over, with a stop for a brief ceremony that was staged on the steps of the main building of the old Ashland normal school. Here the patriarch of the institution that for 29 years trained teachers for school work of the state, impersonated by Ed. T. Staples, in the habiliments of the cloth and adorned with long hair and whiskers, conducted a ceremonial service for the ducted a ceremonial service for the school which stopped just short of a burial rite, suspended in information given to the delegation was of the nature that it had been hoped to gain by the trip. Merchants Are Visited.

Merchants Are Visited.

The afternoon was given up to getting acquainted with business men in their stores, offices and plants, with trips to orchards and vineyards of the valleys. In compliment to the visitors, the basquet was followed with a dance at which the social leaders of the city were in attendance. Festivities continued to the early morning hours, the train being scheduled to leave for Grants Pass at 6 A. M. today.

of Spencer's Butte. EUGENE, Or., Oct. 16 .- (Special.)-Creation of a park on the summit of Spencer's Butte, a mountain 2000 feet high, six miles south of Eugene, to be reached by a scenic road, is suggested by a number of Eugene men as a suitable memorial for Lane county soldiers and marines who ty soldiers, sailors and marines who gave up their lives during the great of a burial rite, suspended in the hope that resuscitation might come through the good grace of the great chiefs of the Multnomah tribe. It was a ceremonial that categorically conveyed the Ashland aspect of the abandonment of the school by the people of the state.

C. C. Chapman called to the attention of the Ashland men that under the Oregon system there are no great chiefs who dictate matters of state affairs and that Portland at the last opportunity presented gave a majority for the normal, but that it was defeated by outstate counties. Mr.
