

FALL OF REDS COMING
A MATTER OF WEEKS

Trotsky - Lenin Regime Is Making Last Stand.

ARMIES LARGE BUT WEAK

"Inertia" of Anti-Bolshevik Forces in Russia Blamed for Existence Beyond September 15.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—The final crash of the Trotsky-Lenin regime may be delayed some weeks, but it is inevitable.

Official information received here thus summarizes the situation in Russia. The coming of the red drama is already under way, according to reports from military attaches and special agents.

Only the "inertia" of the anti-bolshevik groups has permitted the present Moscow government to remain alive beyond September 15, one official of the situation said. The bolshevik organization, the reports say, has been so poor at the foundation—the confidence of the mass—that only a push was necessary to start the fall. The push has been lacking because there was no efficient co-operation between the anti-red leaders, and in the absence of initiative or ability on the part of any one of them to start the forward movement.

General Denikine's advance toward Moscow, the campaign of attrition waged by the white Russian volunteers, and the stiffening of Admiral Kolchak and his Cossack allies, the reports say, have furnished more than the hoped-for pressure.

Official dispatches today did not report the fall of Petrograd, which, however, was announced in Paris. The fall of Petrograd, however, is considered of minor importance, as compared with the results of Denikine's advance.

Official reports from the Ukraine, once a stronghold of the reds, declare that it is now almost wholly anti-bolshevik.

"The entire Ukraine will be free of bolshevism by spring without outside assistance," says one dispatch.

Although the red armies still number more than 500,000 men, the necessity of dividing the forces into so many widely scattered units, the increasing effect of the impaired morale and the lack of efficient co-operation from the interior due to the collapse of industrial life, military experts here do not consider that figure as indicating anything like the true military strength.

Reports to the Russian embassy today indicated that 124,000 square miles of Russian territory had been freed of the bolshevik since September 20, and that the advance of the anti-red forces had cut the route over which bolshevik propaganda might spread to India and Afghanistan from Moscow. The Russian army has 5,000 prisoners, 700 machine guns, 30 cannon and four armored trains by the Kolchak forces also was reported.

Another report to the embassy said more than 30,000 of the most prominent intellectuals of the world are being held hostage in Moscow under sentence of death, many having already been executed. The remainder, it was said, would be executed if General Denikine attempted to capture the city.

PHILIPPINES MAY BE DRY

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
MAY NOT COVER ISLANDS.

Prohibition Advocates Aligning
Their Forces to Carry Fight Into Territorial Legislatures.

MANILA, P. I.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Still in doubt as to whether it will or will not apply to the Philippine islands, local interests are aligning themselves to carry the fight into the territorial legislature which is committed to consider the question at its regular session, which opens October 18.

Dr. M. Gandier, a well-known prohibition advocate from California, is now in Manila and is heading the forces of the Christian Service league, an organization recently formed here and pledged to a general programme of civic education. The organization claims to have secured to date more than $12,000 to meet the expenses of a campaign of prohibition agitation. Its officers are Dean Jacobo of the University of the Philippines and Camilo Chaves, assistant director of the bureau of education.

The president of the Philippine federation of labor is thus far the most prominent figure among the forces of the "wet." He has announced that he and the members of the organization forming the federation will conduct a lobby against prohibition when the legislature opens, their contention being that the distilling industry in the rural districts will be killed and thousands of people thrown out of employment.

If a compromise should be agreed to whereby imported intoxicants were barred, it would find hearty support, but as a matter of fact the medical profession is a unit in declaring that the local products are much more injurious to health than the imported.

In legal circles there is a growing belief that it will be held that the prohibition amendment applies here, but the enforcement act, if the request of the Philippine council of state is granted, will specifically exclude the islands from its provisions, leaving the entire question in the hands of the Philippine legislature for decision.

ASTOR, EXPATRIATE, DIES

RICH BRITISH SUBJECT VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE.

American Citizenship Renounced in '90s; Large Holdings Retained in New York City.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Viscount Astor of Hever castle died of heart disease Saturday morning.

He had been falling in health for a year. The body of Viscount Astor is lying in the residence of his son, Waldorf Astor, member of parliament, in St. James square.

Through Viscount Astor's wish, his body will be cremated, and it is understood the ashes will be placed in the private chapel of his country home, Clivedon, at Taplow, Bucks, now occupied by Waldorf Astor.

Mr. Astor's death was entirely unexpected, although he had been in declining health for months. His wish about outdoors on Friday as usual. Death came while Mr. Astor was in bed Saturday morning, but whether during his sleep or whether the household had warnings, those in charge of Major Astor's house positively declined to say.

Few men of great wealth in England have been so little known to the public as William Waldorf Astor. It was said he left America to escape the limelight which newspapers threw upon multi-millionaires. During the first years of his residence here he established a position in the exclusive social set and by means of his great wealth was enabled to entertain that circle in accordance with the most conservative British traditions.

Viscount Astor (William Waldorf Astor) was born in New York in 1848, the son of John Jacob Astor III, capitalist and great grandson of John Jacob Astor, the founder of the Astor fortune. He became an expatriate in the '90s, renouncing his American citizenship and becoming a British subject. He was made a baron in 1914 and was created first Viscount Astor of Hever in 1917.

As much as General has been reckoned one of the richest men in England. At the time of his death he still retained the bulk of the financial holdings in the United States, particularly in New York city.

PETROGRAD LOST TO REDS

The aid of the Anglo-French navy in repelling the attack on Riga consisted of strong naval artillery fire and the recognition of an anti-German mission.

Allied missions are now at Riga. Inasmuch as General has been reckoned one of the richest men in England. At the time of his death he still retained the bulk of the financial holdings in the United States, particularly in New York city.

PARIS, Oct. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sergei Sazonov, representing Admiral Kolchak and General Denikine in Paris, informed the Associated Press this evening that he had received no advice of the capture of Petrograd. He considered, however, that it was likely. No information regarding the fall of Petrograd has been received by either the peace conference or the American delegation.

RECOGNITION EXPECTED SOON

Action by Powers in Behalf of Russia Held Likely.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The evacuation of Petrograd, second stronghold of the bolshevik, will hasten the recognition of an anti-Russian government by the United States and allied nations.

Inasmuch as General Denikine, the Cossack commander in southeastern Russia, and General Yudenitch, commander of the Russian army advancing on Petrograd, both adhere to the government at Omsk, de facto recognition is expected to be extended to Admiral Kolchak.

Some time ago the head of the Omsk government convened a council of the Russian senators at Omsk to work out plans for the election of a special assembly, which would represent all sections of Russia as far as possible under the disturbed conditions which prevail.

With the collapse of the bolshevik government, it is anticipated that the scope of the elections will be extended in order that a general assembly actually representing all sections of Russia may be chosen at the earliest practicable moment. This assembly will determine the future form of the Russian government. The Ukraine diplomatic representa-

ONTARIO TO VOTE TODAY

CANADIAN PROVINCE TO DECIDE
FATE OF PROHIBITION.

Big Increase in United Farmers' Representation in Legislature Is Expected.

TORONTO, Oct. 19.—The electors of Ontario, doubled in number by the extension of the franchise to women, will vote tomorrow on prohibition referendum and at the same time will decide the fate of the conservative government which has been in office since January 1905, and of which Sir William Hearst is premier.

There are four questions on the referendum ballot, namely: The repeal or perpetuation of the Ontario temperance act, a rigid prohibition measure, instructed as a war measure, with the undertaking to submit the question to a popular vote upon the conclusion of the war; a proposal for the sale of light beer under government supervision; the sale of light beer in hotels in preference to "wet" areas, and the sale of malt and spirituous liquors by government agencies.

At the time of the dissolution of the legislature, which number 111 members, Premier Hearst, a conservative, had 72 supporters, the liberal opposition totaled 30, the united farmers' party two and two seats were vacant. A large increase in the number of united farmers' representatives is expected.

Among the 250 candidates there are only two women, Mrs. Henrietta Bundy, who is liberal candidate in the northeast division of Toronto, and Mrs. J. C. Sears of Ottawa. Four of the premier's supporters have been returned unopposed, including two members of his cabinet.

That she has been successful in interviewing prominent men connected with the recent labor disturbances in Boston, including the police strike, and that she will have much information to impart to the people of Portland and the state upon her return here late this month, is the statement of Mrs. Helen Miller Senn, widely known club woman and member of the faculty of the University of Oregon.

POLICE BRING JOHNSON

EX-CONVICT, CHARGED WITH MURDER, DUE HERE TODAY.

Man Caught in Alaska and Accused of Killing W. C. T. U. Worker Here, Faces Trial.

Clarence Johnson, ex-convict, arrested in Nome, Alaska, charged with the murder of Mrs. Eunice W. Freeman, prominent W. C. T. U. and prison reform worker of Portland, arrived in Seattle yesterday in custody of Portland police officers and will be brought to this city today.

The message announcing Johnson's arrival at the Puget Sound port was sent to Chief of Police Johnson by Inspector John Goetz and Patrolman E. Phillips, who went to Alaska to bring the confessed murderer back for trial.

Mrs. Freeman was slain by blows on the head, the tragedy taking place in her home at 424 Fourth street August 12 during the absence of her son. The implement used was a section of gaspipe. The murderer had stuffed a loose gag of rags in the mouth of his victim.

Suspicion was directed to Johnson, formerly a San Quentin convict, whose parole Mrs. Freeman had obtained and who had for some time been a boarder at her home. Though Mrs. Freeman was 48 years of age and Johnson 28 years, there was evidence that he had at one time professed a sentimental attachment for her. Johnson disappeared on the day of the crime, leaving a note which said that he had gone to Mexico. For some weeks prior to the murder the suspect had boarded at another residence.

FIGHT UPON TREATY
NEARS FINAL STAGE

Senate Leaders Hope for Progress During Week.

REPUBLICANS ARE FIRM

Programme to Qualify Ratifying
Resolution With Reservations
Said to Be Agreed on.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The long treaty fight in the senate is about to enter its final phase. Leaders hope that the coming week to clear away all proposed amendments and to make substantial progress in the framing of a ratification resolution.

Virtually confident that no amendments will be adopted, the opposition managers are determined to qualify the ratifying resolution with reservations and Senator Lodge, republican leader, declared in a statement tonight that a decisive majority would stand for reservations that would be "unequivocal and effective."

Privately the opposition leaders declared Mr. Lodge's claim was backed by an understanding amounting virtually to a complete agreement among all of the 49 republicans and six democrats to stand together for a reservation programme evolved after many weeks of conferences. It was said not all of the details had been agreed upon, though on general principles and in some phases of the phraseology itself the 55 senators had been brought very close together.

How far the remaining 41 senators will go in their opposition to reservations is an uncertain question, even in the minds of some of their leaders. They have stood unwaveringly through the long fight for President Wilson's programme of ratification that would not require the treaty's re-submission to the other powers. But it is for the president himself to decide finally whether any reservations adopted will require such re-submission and his illness has left the administration leaders somewhat in the dark.

There have been intimations that should reservations unacceptable to the administration be put into the ratification resolution, the administration forces would vote "no" on the ratification roll call, but their leaders are not ready to say how they will cross that bridge until they come to it. It would take only 33 votes to prevent ratification.

Quick Action Slogan. In his statement tonight Senator Lodge declared opponents of reservations would be responsible for any further delay in senate action, indicating that the whip would be applied to hold down debate.

Quick action also is a slogan of the administration forces, which is to get started tomorrow on the last of the committee amendments, proposing equalization of voting power in the league of nations.

Senator Lodge's statement follows: "A decisive majority of the senate will vote for reservations, attached to the resolution of ratification which will protect the peace, safety, sovereignty and independence of the United States."

"The one object of these senators is to Americanize the treaty and to believe that by so doing they will also serve the cause of general peace of the world. Whatever delay there may be in final action upon the treaty will be caused by those who are resisting the Americanization of the treaty by proper reservations and reservations as once unequivocal and effective."

Two Amendments Offered. The two amendments for equalization of voting power in the league will be considered together though it is thought more likely that the one proposed by Senator Johnson, republican, California, to give the United States six votes in the league assembly will be taken up first.

Another three hours work remains to finish the formal reading of the treaty text, and it is the purpose to take up these two amendments immediately afterwards. The general prediction is that both of the proposals as well as other amendments, introduced by individual senators later will be defeated.
