

U. S. ISOLATION NOW COMPLETELY BROKEN

Cross-Country Air Derby Proves Startling Facts.

DISTANCES WIPED AWAY

General Mitchell Avers Aerial Supremacy of Nation Means Military Control of the World.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Completion of the transcontinental air derby plainly demonstrates that the isolation of the United States with respect to Asia and Europe is completely broken down.

"The air line distance covered," said General Mitchell, "is 5492 miles, less than 50 hours of actual flying time. It is as far as from Constantinople to New York; from Berlin to Denver; from Tokyo to San Francisco and twice the distance from Europe to America."

"From a military aspect there is no longer to be any doubt that a complete control of the air by any nation means military control of the world. From the standpoint of distance, Asia is only divided from America by 21 miles of water across Bering strait, while the greatest distance that has to be covered over water between the American continent and Europe is scarcely over 300 miles if the route through Canada, Greenland, Iceland, the islands north of Great Britain, to Great Britain itself is followed."

System Explained. The rapidly with which the airderby was established in this race across the continent shows that airderby can be established with equal rapidity for long distances in any other nation. A rigid dirigible airship can carry 10 tons of cargo now, besides its crew, fuel for a long trip and armament for its defense. 10 tons of material will keep a thousand airplanes working for one day.

If an Asiatic or European country desires to attack America a system of airderby can be established successively, a defense organized against land or sea elements and the airships concentrated on them successfully, while their supply could be insured by their own rigid dirigibles working within their own countries.

Navies in Second Place. "This is not only possible, but almost a sure accomplishment of the next war and will be resorted to by the nation gaining control of the air. This manner of procedure will practically neutralize inferiority in their ability to do the first blow is concerned."

As an individual performance, Maynard's record stands second to none in the annals of the air in time of peace. His judgment, ability, grit and determination exhibit the quality shown by our pilots in the European war, and are typically American."

Mayor Baker's Tuxedo Big Scream at Banquet. Change in Plans Makes Executive "Guest" of Elks' Dinner.

"Say Frank," suggested Julius J. Berg, exalted ruler of the Portland Lodge of Elks, "what do you say if we change the plans and go to the banquet tonight and the meeting as well in our street clothes instead of our tuxedos?"

Frank was Frank L. Rain, grand exalted ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, who was a visitor in Portland Saturday. Incidentally, in connection with the banquet and meeting in question, it had been previously agreed that all speakers and officers of the grand lodge would appear at both functions in the height of fashion.

"Good, if you fellows are willing to forget the finery, nothing would suit me better than leaving my street clothes on," answered the chief master of the Order of Elks.

FRENCH CENSOR QUILTS

COMMANDER NUSILLARD GLAD TROUBLES ARE OVER.

Official News Chopper Discards Scissors for More Congenial Work of Peace.

PARIS, Oct. 19.—(Special Cable.)—At length the French censorship, both political and military, has been abolished. Commander Nusillard, who for five years held the ungrateful post of chief censor, willingly put down his pen as the day France ratified its peace treaty.

Then for the first time he opened his heart to newspaper men to recall his experiences. Hitherto he would flash a huge pair of scissors at any reporter who dared to question him about his work. He was also skillful in manipulating a chisel, which he used in cases of extreme urgency to make holes in newspapers.

Today he is busy counting the gray hairs in his head, which, practically, is all he got out of his job. "Yes, it is all over," he said to the World correspondent when he seen the day following the censoring of his censorship. "I can hardly believe it. What a time I've had and how heavy my hands are! I am glad to get out, but sorry to part with my co-workers in the office, among whom are judges, lawyers, authors, playwrights and poets. I am glad to get out of the army. I am equally sorry to part with good friends among the correspondents for I had plenty of them in spite of the divergencies of our views."

NEW FORD ENGINE READY FOR TRYOUT

Speed of 70 Miles an Hour Expected of Streetcar.

FAST TRAIN TO BE RACED

All Operations Centered in Motor. Which Provides Power, Light, Heat, Compressed Air.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—In the Ford experimental shop at Dearborn, the internal combustion engine with which Henry Ford expects to revolutionize street railways of this and other countries, has been given its initial tests and pronounced ready for installation in a car to race the Wolverine Flyer within 40 days.

The first street car will be sent over the Michigan Central tracks at the express speed of 70 miles an hour. It will leave ahead of the Wolverine Flyer, the fast train between Detroit and Chicago, and will race it for a time record.

The power unit which will move the car represents a new combination of functions. It is a motor, an air compressor, an electric generator and a heating and lighting plant all in one. All operations necessary for the control of the car are centered in the motor. And all this is accomplished with a 75 per cent reduction in weight as compared with the power and control equipment of the ordinary electric car.

The motor is of double-opposed type and generates its own electricity for ignition and lighting. Opposing pistons are linked to the same throw and entirely new designs of linked rods are used.

The power that moves the car also compresses the air for the brakes and electric current for the lighting and signal system, while the starter draws air in through the housing of the motor where it is heated and then exhausted through heating pipes to warm the car.

The combination includes a whole series of new applications which are of patentable importance and have been adequately protected.

Another feature of the new car will be the front and rear drive, the power being transmitted by light flexible shafts to the motor where it is heated and then exhausted through heating pipes to warm the car.

The power plant of the new type of car weighs about 1150 pounds. The whole car, when completed, will weigh about seven tons.

MILK SCARCE IN BERLIN

City Has 200,000 Quarts Daily for 5,000,000 People.

BERLIN, Oct. 19.—(Special Cable.)—Berlin faces a collapse of its supply of milk. The city, with nearly 5,000,000 people, is receiving only 200,000 quarts of milk daily, 50,000 less than is needed to feed infants and the sick.

Sad to say, too, Berlin confronts a catastrophic shortage of beer. All the north German brewers must shut down soon because they have little malt and hops. The people murmur loudly because of coal shortage. All Berlin municipal baths are closed down while extravagant bars, cabarets and movies are permitted to run wide open.

The coal shortage, however, proves a boon to school children of Leipzig. Because of it all the public schools have been consolidated and only one kept open for boys and one for girls. The result is that each child has to attend school only eight hours a week. Other German cities probably will be forced to follow Leipzig's example.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY WILL PROBE ELECTION.

Michigan Senatorial Contest Ordered Investigated by U. S. Department of Justice.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The department of justice announced last night that after "careful investigation" it had decided to bring before a federal grand jury in Grand Rapids fraud charges arising out of the nomination and election of Truman H. Newberry as United States senator from Michigan. The action is based on the announcements of complaints filed with the department and also public charges of fraud and corruption made by the lieutenant-governor of Michigan and others.

Henry Ford of Detroit, defeated candidate, filed a petition with the senate at the last session contesting Senator Newberry's right to his seat in that body. A resolution proposing a senate investigation was introduced by Senator Pomerene, Ohio, and referred to the committee on privileges
