FREE-LANCE KICKERS IN NEED OF LEAGUE

Independent Teams Having Trouble to Get Games.

MATERIAL IS PLENTIFUL

Albina, Arleta, Dunlway and Hillsboro Elevens Form Nucleus of Possible Association.

Evidently football ranks with baseball in popularity, for a great number of former college, high school and independent football stars are organizing elevens which will furnish Sunday football this season. The only drawback to prospects for one of the greatest independent football seasons in the history of the game is that as yet there has been very little effort made by the various team managers to organize a league. A meeting was called early in the season, which was attended by only three team managers. Since then there has been nothing done in the way of a permanent organization.

Several Sunday games already have been played, the contests being arranged by the respective team managers, and the brand of football which has been put on has been well worth witnessing.

One of the best of the Sunday clashes was between the Albina Athletic club eleven and the Arleta team, played last Sunday, which ended in a 0-0 tie.

Albina Starts Well.

The Albina team is just starting the season and went on the field Sunday with only a few days' practice. Despite this handicap the Albina squad put up a great game and held the fast Arleta eleven scoreless. The Albina team is without a game for next Sunday and would like to schedule a contest with the Oswego team, providing it can be arranged.

Max Walther of Spalding's has been scheduling some of the games for the independent gridders, but finds it rather a hard task to secure contests for some of the teams without the help of an organized league.

An independent football league has been formed in Seattle and has gotten off to a good start. There is no reason why a similar association cannot be organized here with the same results. An independent league with competent directors and officials will do a great deal towards eliminating the wrangling and disputes that have characterized independent games of past seasons.

Many Players Available.

There are a host of players in Portland who are anxious to get into football togs again.

Among the teams which have expressed a desire to enter a league are the Albina Athletic club, Oswego, Dunlway Park, Hillsboro and Arleta. A soldier team from Vancouver is being organized and is anxious to enter the league. The Columbia Park team has always been a strong contender for championship honors in the past and should be able to put a strong team in the field again this season, although nothing has been heard from the Columbia Park boys to date.

"Red" Watts, former Columbus Athletic club star, has been secured to coach the Albina team and will also be seen in the lineup.

DUNIWAY PARK WINS, 7-3

Juniors Defeat Fast Lowengart Allstars in Close Game.

In one of the hardest-fought games ever witnessed in independent football, the Duniway Park Juniors defeated the fast Lowengart Allstars Sunday by the close margin of 7 to 3. After 10 minutes of play Joe Leonetti, Lowengart halfback drop-kicked from the 20-yard line.

The Duniway team was held scoreless until the last 10 minutes of play when a series of line smashes by the Duniway backs put the ball on the Allstars' five-yard line where Frank Caputo plunged through for a touchdown. Lillis kicked goal.

Doane, the Lowengart fullback, was knocked out in the fourth quarter and was carried from the game.

Guasco, Garbarino and Caputo played well for Duniway, while Sol Steinburg and Matin featured for the Allstars.

MITCHELL HAS TWO TITLES

Canadian and U. S. Heavy Champion Lightweights Defeated.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 20.—While Richie Mitchell is campaigning for another crack at the lightweight crown, he is in possession of two titles, which he can claim without fear of a contender bobbing up. On April 5, 1918, Richie knocked out Clonie Tait, acknowledged Canadian lightweight champion, in seven rounds.

On May 24, of last year, he met Joe Welling in a scrap for the lightweight championship of the navy. After being knocked down in the third round, he came back and licked Welling in the same round. He kept up the work and at the end Joe was looking for a soft spot. Mitchell won the unanimous decision of the ringsiders. For defeating Welling, he received a gold medal, emblematic of the lightweight championship of the United States navy.

TAUSSIG DEFIES MEEHAN

Fight Manager Issues Challenge After Staging "Prelim."

Moose Taussig, who brought Harry Pelsinger to Portland for his bout with Jimmy Dundee, has broken out again. It is the old feud between Willie Meehan and Moose which caused the latter to take a poke at the "Phat One" at Dreamland in San Francisco after the Friday night battles.

Taussig, who always has been noted for his ability to whip over the first punch, reached Meehan's jaw with a right swing. Meehan, after staggering back, started to take off his coat and get ready for action, but two policemen stepped in and the fracas was ended.

After the battle Taussig issued a challenge to meet Meehan anywhere, any time, in a rough and tumble contest, New York fair play, with no holds barred. Meehan's reply is still awaited.

Taussig wears glasses and Meehan wears two "tin" ears.

REED ASKED TO DEBATE

U. OF O. INVITES CONTEST OF FORENSIC GLADIATORS.

Meeting of Student Body Will Pass on Challenge for Combat Among Budding Orators.

Reed college is moving fast toward the inter-collegiate field. Following the decision to play outside games is the immediate possibility of Reed entering a tri-college debating league with the University of Oregon and Oregon Agricultural college.

The University of Oregon sent a representative to Reed last Saturday with contracts, which, if accepted, call for a debate between the three colleges on December 12, 1919. Yesterday morning the Reed student council, in company with a number of students interested in debate, considered the proposition, and though a favorable decision was reached the question will be placed before the entire student body Thursday for final approval.

There is every possibility that Reed will accept the challenge and enter into forensic competition with its larger Oregon neighbors. The feeling is now general at the college that since the "brawn" of Reed is to have a chance to compete in outside contests the "brains" should be given representation as well. The meeting Thursday is mainly to decide means of supporting the debating teams financially.

It will not be the first time Reed has debated outside the college. A number of contests have ben held with the University of Washington and Reed has always acquitted itself well. A number of Reed men have signified their intention of entering the tryouts. Freshmen, with less than three months' attendance at college, are barred by the terms of the contract, but this will not apply to Reed, since the college opened in the middle of September.

TEAM CAPTAIN OUTCLASSED

West Point Elects Leader Who Then Fails to Win Place.

A situation believed to be without precedent in intercollegiate football has developed at West Point, where Alexander George, the captain, has failed to win a regular place on the team.

More than a month ago, when candidates for the army reported for practice, George was elected to the captaincy. He had previously played at the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical school, but beyond this nothing was known of him as a player.

As the day for the opening game with Middlebury college drew close, it appeared that George, who is a quarterback, would be unable to displace Wilhide, who had been put at quarter. He was subsequently tried at end, and at this position he also failed to show ability enough to win a regular position.

Charles McQuarrie, the army's fullback and great punter, has been acting as captain since the game with Middlebury, and it is believed that George will soon resign in his favor.

In the meantime the army coaches are giving George every opportunity to make good.

Amhurst Adopts Golf.

Golf has been made an official sport at Amherst college by vote of the student council, and matches have been arranged with Dartmouth and Williams and with an informal team from Wesleyan. The action at Amherst came as a result of a growing demand for the game on the part of the student body, following the success of last year's informal team.

Hoquiam High 21; Centralia 7.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—In a fast, scrappy gridiron contest Saturday Hoquiam high annexed the scalp of Centralia high, 21 to 7, before 1500 enthusiasts.

COAST LEAGUE MEET IS 'HOT STOVE' TOPIC

Session at San Francisco Starts Usual Gossip.

DRAFT RULE IS BIG NOISE

Several Clubs Classed as Strong for Old Practice—Baum's Resignation Also Up.

The next event of interest to come up before the session of the "hot stove" league will be the annual fall meeting of the Pacific Coast league directors, which is slated for San Francisco either the last of October or the first part of November. From the strength of the wind one might think that a terrific battle is in store, but it may turn out to be a much more peaceful gathering than is expected. Of course the question of throwing a few clubs out of the league, adding a few more, changing back to the draft rule and a few minor "questions" are bound to crop up when the diamond magnates gather round the square table.

Also it may take a cordon of police to keep some of the San Francisco tribe off of Ed Maier and Johnny Powers, but up to the latest reports there are plenty of cops in the Seal Rocks city. And again there will be some discussion on league policies in reference to the minor league meeting to be held in Springfield, Mass., the middle of November.

Whether the question of the resignation of President Allen T. Baum, submitted during the playing season, will be considered is something the delegates will have to answer. It doubtless depends on how many votes the opposition to Baum can muster. So far, the opposition has been unsuccessful in securing enough strength to accept the resignation and secure the election of a new president.

Baum himself refuses to go into details in answer to the question as to whether or not he will be a candidate for re-election.

The name of George Hildebrand, former San Francisco outfielder and now American league umpire, has been introduced as the president, next.

* * *

Quite a bit of controversy has been aroused over the non-appearance of President Baum at the Vernon-St. Paul series. Officials of the American association and the St. Paul team commented upon his absence.

Baum himself explains that he was ignored by the southern clubs and was not asked to participate in any way in the negotiations for these games.

"Neither club referred any matters to me," he said yesterday, "and naturally I could not be expected to take a hand. Originally when the question was brought to the attention of the coast league, no action was taken. So, at that time, I referred the matter to the four clubs, any one of which was in line for the coast league flag.

"Since that time no reference has been made to me. I wasn't even asked to name the umpires, though you do read in the papers they have had several fist fights during the series and nothing of the sort occurred during the coast league race."

* * *

Judge W. W. McCredie, owner of the Portland club, will leave for San Francisco as soon as the date of the meeting is set. McCredie, Charley Graham, manager of the Seals, and several others will put up a strong battle to restore the draft system at the meeting.

Under the old system the major league clubs could draft one player from each class AA club at the price of $2500. The new draft rule eliminates the drafting of players from class AA clubs by the majors. This works a handicap on many a player, for it is the life ambition of most class AA ball players to go to the majors. With the draft eliminated, the majors will not take so many players from class AA clubs as in the past. It practically prevents class AA players from advancing in their profession.

Players themselves were not in favor of the elimination of the draft. They realized that it would minimize their opportunities for advancement. The more liberal managers were also against the elimination of the draft rule, for they realized that it killed many a good young player's incentive for hard work.

Second Baseman Grover, who was secured by Oakland about the middle of the past season from Washington of the American league, will not be with the Oaks next season. When the player's release was purchased the Oakland club made a substantial preliminary payment, and was given the privilege of trying the player out until the close of the coast league season before deciding to retain him or return him to Washington. Grover's showing was so disappointing that it was decided not to keep him. Before leaving for his home, Grover expressed his regrets that he had not been able to show coast league form, but said that an attack of "flu" last winter had left him in such a weakened condition that he could not put up his real game.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Oct. 20.—A. L. Acker, formerly coach at the University of Kentucky, has arrived on the campus here and will handle the freshman team this season.

PRACTICE IS IN SECRET

WASHINGTON TEAM WORKING BEHIND LOCKED GATES.

Pacific Fleet Champions Will Be Next Fast Team on Schedule of University's Games.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 20.—Practice behind locked gates is already being held by the University of Washington football squad. "Jump" Hunt, coach of the local team, is working the men hard every night, building up a team around the six or seven football veterans who returned to school this fall.

Two assistant coaches, Don Abel and "Chuck" Moriarity, have been named to help Hunt whip the 1919 team into shape. Abel is a former Washington end and Moriarity once was a Gonzaga university star.

Washington played its first game October 18, when it met a team from the United States battleship Texas, stationed at the Puget Sound Navy yard at Bremerton. November 8 Washington meets the Pacific fleet champions.

Washington's first intercollegiate game comes October 25, when the Cougars, as the locals are known, play Whitman college.

BEND DEFEATS REDMOND, 44-0

High School Teams Clash in Game Featured Only by Score.

REDMOND, Or., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The Bend high school eleven piled up a 44-to-0 score over the Redmond high school team on the local field Saturday. The local team failed to show signs of their predicted speed while the visitors made two touchdowns in the first half. In the last half, the Bend gridders scored at will.

The Bend backfield was considerably weakened by the loss of Halfback Saunders who was unable to get in the game on account of injuries received in a previous game.

LEONARD WILL RISK CROWN WITH DUNDEE

Champ Lightweight to Battle in Decision Bout.

SESSION GOES 15 ROUNDS

Scotch Wop Not Classy as of Old, Dopesters Assert; Dempsey Coming for Tijuana Mil.

Unless some hitch develops within the next few days Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, will defend his title in a decision bout for the first time since he removed the crown from Freddie Welsh of England. Although Benny has fought over a hundred battles since the event of his winning the championship on a technical knockout, he has never defended his laurels in a decision match, which is getting by "pretty."

According to the present dope Leonard is down to meet Johnny Dundee of New York in a 15-round bout to a referee's verdict at Hartford, Conn., next Monday night, October 27, which may explain why Dundee did not meet Joe Benjamin, the lanky Portland lightweight in their scheduled bout last week in New Jersey. With Benjamin serving as a team mate of Leonard's it would not look very well to let him have a crack at the Scotch Wop, especially when he might do more than hold his own.

Although the contest between Leonard and Dundee will be a championship affair and will attract international notice, it probably will prove nothing more than a reunion between these two famous scrappers. They have fought so many times that the ring dopesters become weary every time they attempt to figure who had the better of the latest mixup. Their latest endeavor in the fistic line was an eight-round affair at Newark, N. J., several weeks ago, which was said to have been a real setto. The majority of the scribes at the ringside gave the verdict to Leonard, although some claimed Dundee had a shade. The bout may have been an appetizer to the coming championship go. Leonard should knock Dundee out. There is no disputing that. But the champion readily admits that the little Italian boxer is one man who can always give him plenty of trouble.

Five years ago Dundee might have had a chance of taking the title away from the classy Hebrew mittman. Today, Dundee is not the formidable fighter who used to keep them all guessing.

* * *

Jack Dempsey is coming west to fight his first battle since winning the heavyweight title from Jess Willard at Toledo on July 4. The latest news has it that Jack will show his wares for the first time in a championship contest over the borderline at Tijuana, Mexico. Dempsey's arrival in San Francisco en route to Los Angeles, where he will go into pictures for several weeks before the fight, is expected anytime within the next 10 days.

Authentic news of Dempsey's decision to fight for James J. Coffroth at Tijuana was announced several days ago. Kearns and Coffroth are said to have voted to terms in the east. The only remaining detail to the match is the champion's opponent. That Willie Meehan will be selected seems a certainty.

Dempsey is still smarting under the decision gained over him by the San Franciscan and he has always expressed a desire to erase the reverse. Over a route, possibly 10 rounds, Dempsey and Kearns feel that Meehan will be pummeled into submission. Coffroth apparently plans the mill soon after the Tijuana race plant is set in operation.

* * *

Jack Britton, welterweight champion of the world, may soon leave for the Pacific coast for a series of matches. San Francisco and Oakland promoters are already dickering for his services and he would look good over the 10-round route here.

* * *

Roy McCormick, holder of the Lord Lowndale belt, emblematic of the light-heavyweight championship of England, has decided to remain in San Francisco. McCormick stopped off in the Seals Rocks city for a fight on his way to Australia and liked the going so well over the four-round distance he changed his mind about leaving for the Antipodes, for a while at least. Tommy Simpson, the Oakland promoter is trying to line him up for a bout against Battling Ortega.

* * *

Carl Morris will meet Ole Anderson in the main event of tomorrow night's fistic card in Seattle. Harry Williams, the Seattle heavyweight, who fought Frank Kendall here last year, will meet a boy named Willie Keller in the semi-windup.

Mrs. Edward Gillingham, won the David W. Eyre trophy from Mrs. Farrar. The fall golf contests here are attracting much attention and more entries are being recorded each week.

ALBANY MISSES MILLER

BIG TACKLE INJURED AND LINEUP IS WEAKENED.

Eugene High Discovers Shift and Hammers Peacock, Scoring in Last Period.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The Albany high school football team is seriously handicapped now by the absence of "Pete" Miller, the big tackle and captain of the team. Miller wrenched his neck in a scrimmage last week, but did not regard the injury as serious and kept on practicing.

The injury became more troublesome, however, and at the same time a severe cold developed into illness which sent him to bed last Friday on the eve of the local school's first game of the season with Eugene high school here Saturday. It is hoped he will be in condition for the next game.

Local high school students are not inclined to establish an alibi for Albany's 14-to-0 defeat by Eugene, but Miller's absence evidently was a big factor. It was not known until after Friday's practice that the captain could not play, and to fill his niche Peacock was shifted from end. The latter had been playing good ball at end but had never played tackle and most of the Eugene gains were made through that side of the line. Discovering the situation, the Eugene backs hammered Peacock hard throughout the game.

Miller's absence caused another complication, too, because Coach Brumbaugh had built up his offense largely around the big captain, who is the most experienced player on the team. The Albany lads held the visitors scoreless for three periods, but some big gains through the weakened tackle position enabled them to score twice in the last period on short forward passes.

AUSTRALIAN IS "KIPPLER"

Versatile Athlete Also Has Some Literary Accomplishments.

Joe Waterman, who edits "Boxing," the Manila, P. I., publication devoted to the pugilistic art, met an Australian, who wins all prizes for versatility in athletes.

Joe opened up on his favorite topic of conversation, boxing.

"Do you box?" asked Joe.

"Twenty rounds a day," replied the stranger.

"Spar any?" queried Joe.

"Three miles every morning."

"Play football?"

"Played three years on the championship teams of Australia."

Joe figured he had better shift from sports to something else. He picked on literature. "Do you like Kipling?" he asked.

"You bet I do," replied the Australian. "Only yesterday I kippled for three hours."

They got three elk, three deer, and two mountain goats on the trip, and report splendid hunting in the mountains around Kooskia. George Trenary of Kooskia accompanied them.

Several suggestions by Danny Shea, the famous Blackburn Rovers soccer player of England, will prove interesting to enthusiasts in this country, where the kicking style of football is growing in popularity. Shea advocates changes in the laws of the game that, if adopted, might find supporters here. Shea would penalize the "kicker out," that is, the player who boots the ball over the boundary lines on the side of the field, by awarding a free kick instead of a throw-in. He would have it that a player could not be ruled off-side on two-thirds of the playing pitch, or in other words, that a player can only be given off-side on the third portion of the field at the opposing goal, instead of half as at present. He also recommends that a goal could be scored direct from a corner kick.

SOLDIERS RACE FOR GUM

BARS OF CHOCOLATE ALSO PRIZES IN POLAND.

Sweets Are So Rare That Men Regard Y. M. C. A. Prizes Worth While in Competitions.

WARSAW, Poland.—(By Mail.)—"You can't imagine what a difference a bar of chocolate or a package of chewing gum makes here among the Polish troops, where a little sugar is as rare a commodity as good wholesome amusement. And the men were just about as much surprised at the offer from us of the one as of the other," writes Fred. B. Messing, regional athletic director of the Y. M. C. A.

Interest in athletics among the Polish troops languished until some gifted man hit upon the novel idea of putting up large quantities of chocolate and chewing gum as prizes for sports events. The result was that the list of entries in this latest Y track meet rose to such a number that the preliminaries occupied three days and ended in the largest track meet the army has ever undertaken.

"We held separate tryouts until each company was reduced to the best twenty men it could muster," Messing continued, "and such was the group spirit that grew up that we hardly knew what to do with those who were eliminated; they were a bitterly disappointed lot, I can tell you. But these preliminary tryouts had their greatest effect in showing the commanding general and his staff the necessity of having games in which masses of men could participate.

"The trouble was that the Polish soldier has never learned the 'game spirit' that the American youngster understands from the time he gets to swing a baseball bat almost as big as he is himself. There are no Christy Matthewsons and Ty Cobbs to pose as heroes for the Polish urchin. But he is learning now, making up for lost time, too, and the net result has been a tremendously greater enthusiasm for everything that has to do with games and sports."

SOLDIERS SEE 27 MATCHES

63,327 Americans Entertained at Month's Bouts in Germany.

COBLENZ, Germany.—(By Mail.)—In the month of September 27 boxing tournaments for the entertainment of the American forces in Germany were held throughout the territory. The various tournaments were held in all the larger camps along the Rhine, the report showing that 540 men participated in the bouts, and that the attendance at all shows for the month reached 63,327.

Captain Alexander P. Withers, athletic officer of the army in Germany, is outlining preliminary plans for the boxing championship of the American forces. These matches will cover every camp, and the winners of the camp titles will be brought together for the army championships about February. There will be seven weight classes, ranging from the bantamweight title right up to the heavyweight class. The bouts in the final championship series will consist of ten two-minute rounds, in accord with the rules laid down by the A. E. F. athletic officer last season.
