CHECK FRAUD ADMITTED

JOHN H. HILBURN, EX-SOL-DIER, PLEADS GUILTY.

Judge Delays Sentence Until Case Is Better Known; Escape From Army Prison Suspected.

John H. Hilburn, ex-soldier, suspected by federal authorities of hav- Searching parties are scouring the my escaped from the military prison Fort Leavenworth, Kan., pleaded guilty to passing a dozen worthless checks before Presiding Judge Gatens yesterday, but sentence was post-poned one week. The jurist said he disliked to sentence a man until he knew more about the case, particularly, he commented, as the law seeks reformation, not vindictive justice. "That's all bunk," Hilburn was heard to remark as he was led from the courtroom Hilburn said he was discharged at the Presidio, San Francisco, on August 19. All of the bad checks he passed were for small amounts. The stest received at the district attorney's office was in a complaint yes-terday from a cigar stand in the Pit-tock block which had cashed a check for $5 for Hilburn.

Albert Bittner, a tailor at 415 Stark street, was one of Hilburn's victims. Hilburn took a woman's skirt there to be cleaned and offered a $5 check in payment. He received change of $3 and a little later came in the shop to ask Bittner to cash a check for $10. Hilburn represented to James E. Graham, automobile man, that he was in the market for a new machine, said ie was not known in the city and requested that Graham indorse his per-sonal check for $10. With a view of a possible sale. Graham indorsed the vorthless slip, which was cashed

Lifelong Friends Meet Again After Five Years' Separation.

As a result of a little story printed nnited after having failed to hear from one another for the past five 4 Mats,—Sun., Mon., Tues., Wed.—15e-75e Mrs. Anna Davis-Kasch Winters, 105 East Twentieth street, in this city, and Miss Grace Crosby, 2814 Ellis avenue, Chicago, are the two friends thus brought together. "Will someone please tell me the whereabouts of Mrs. Anna Winters," read a communication from Miss Crosby which was received by The Oregonian. "She lived in Tacoma up until five years ago when she moved in or about Portland." The communication was printed in The Oregonian and yesterday the pa-per was informed of the whereabouts of Mrs. Winters. Mrs. Winters and Miss Crosby were friends when girls.

OFFICIAL STUCK IN MUD

Lane County Commissioner Abandons Auto on Detour Road.

COTTAGE GROVE, Or., Oct. 31 .-(Special) — Oregon mud is no respecter of persons, as County Commissioner Spencer learned this week when he came down from the county seat to inspect roads. He found the Delight valley detour, over which the county court now is directing traffic o nearly impassable that doned his car at Saginaw and walked two miles into the city.

Physicians from here who have calls north from the city have found the easiest and quickest way to be to walk to Saginaw and have cars meet them from the other side. Resignish of that section make most of dents of that section make most of their trips to the city on foot. Con-tractor Corson is laying rock steadily despite the wet weather and says that if Contractor Ryan completes the grading he will have a road ready traffic by November 10.
