

TEAMS TO CONTINUE STOCK SALE DRIVE

Total of $100,000 Wanted for Livestock Show.

$50,000 MARK IS NEARED

Workers of Opinion That More Time Is Necessary to Insure Success of Undertaking.

Undimmed by the rather tardy way in which stock sales are mounting toward the $100,000 goal set at the beginning of the Pacific International Livestock exposition's campaign for stockholders the first of the week, the 100 hustling campaigners from the ranks of Portland's allied civic clubs decided last night to continue their activities until their objective is reached.

The ground is hardly scratched yet, in the way E. G. Crawford, chairman of the general finance committee summarized the situation, "and all we need is more time to get around and see the rest of the progressive, clear-visioned men of our city. Some of our workers cannot keep in the field after the end of the week, but we will get other men to take their places. Our problem is simply to get over the whole field and see the business and professional men who have not yet been seen."

Yesterday at noon the subscriptions in hand had reached $29,375, and Captain George A. Lovejoy of the flying squadron, announced that at today's rally he would turn in delayed subscriptions aggregating about $15,000, which, with the subscriptions obtained by the club teams yesterday afternoon and this morning, are expected to put the grand total up past the $50,000 mark.

The Progressive Business Men's club carried off high honors at yesterday's noon rally, with a score of $7900, the Ad club being second with a total of $6300. The Kiwanis club scored $6100, the Chamber Commerce $5900, and the Realty board $3250. The flying squadron, which has been acting as helper to the club teams, dividing its subscriptions with them, reported $800.

Gov. A. McKenna, captain of the Realty board team, expressed the general feeling of the assembled campaigners, who endorsed his remarks with cordial applause when he said that a uniformly fine spirit is being shown by Portland's business men and firms in the way they are receiving the solicitors. In his long and varied experience as a campaigner for various patriotic and public-spirited drives, Mr. McKenna said he had never met with such satisfactory and cordial reception as he is enjoying accorded as a Pacific International solicitor.

SALEM ARREST IS ERROR

Aberdeen Man Returns Car Believed Taken From State.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Oct. 31.—(Special.)—The arrest of Jack Gore in Salem for wrongfully taking an automobile out of the state is believed by the police here to be a mistake, inasmuch as the man sought on such a charge at noon today drove the missing car into the Stewart garage.

E. J. KERRIGAN RESIGNS

Army Intelligence Officer to Enter Private Business.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—Lieutenant Eugene J. Kerrigan, formerly connected with the army intelligence service, resigned today as special investigator of the United States shipping board to enter private business.

COLLEGE MONTHLY IS OUT

First Issue of Oregon Countryman Appears at Corvallis.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 31.—(Special.)—The first issue of the Oregon Countryman for the year appeared on the campus this week. Albert Absher of Portland is editor-in-chief. Olive Colpitts, also of Portland, is editor of the home economics section.

The Oregon Countryman is published monthly by the agricultural and home economics department clubs of the college, with the advice of faculty members. The slogan of the paper is to "take the college to the farmer."

Willette H. Murray of Ashland is business manager; Charles H. Webber of Portland, managing editor; R. S. Whittington, circulation manager; Thorland R. Hall, assistant editor.

Marguerite Gleason of Portland and Ruth Bowen of Chemawa are assistants to the editor. Edmond T. Casey, Colton, Cal.; Wallace Niles, Grants Pass; Albert Loy, Duane, Vists; Erna von Lehe, Corvallis; Harry Wellman, Walla Walla, Wash.; and O. L. Sam- uelson of Bensonville are assistants to the business manager.

Departmental editors are: Edna A. Moulton, Ruth E. Peaslee, Mable Specht, Fred Abegg, Elaine Ewell and Avis Knipps, all of Portland; Marjory Schmitt, Chicago, Ill.; Lois Martin, McMinnville; Wilbur W. Wood, Beaverton; Albert N. Stewart, W. B. Hayes, Pasadena, Cal.; Phyllis Lyne, Creston, B. C.; Arthur J. Tilton, Hazel Burnell, Independence; G. L. Hoar, Forest Grove; R. E. Sadger, Oakland, Cal.; and Emily Martin, G. Bell, both of Corvallis.

NAGGING IS DIVORCE PLEA

CARL J. RYNNING SAYS WIFE'S ASSAULT WAS CONTINUAL.

Another Complaint Charges Kittle Maxfield of "Making Up" and of Being Untidy.

The constant nagging of Charlotte Rynning, sometimes lasting until 1 and 3 o'clock in the morning, continually drove her husband, Carl J. Rynning, to the attic of their home in the hope of obtaining a little repose, according to the assertions in his suit for divorce filed in the circuit court yesterday. The Rynnings were married in Norway in 1895 and have four children, ranging in ages from 11 to 22 years.

Frank Maxfield accuses his wife, Kittle, of "making up" and of being unclean and untidy about the house and her person, in the divorce action he filed yesterday.

When Eva Sheets asked her husband, Levi M. Sheets, where he got a new stick-pin he was wearing in his necktie, he replied, "A woman gave it to me and that is not all she gave me for she gave me a kiss and also a hug," says Mrs. Sheets in her answer and cross-complaint filed in the divorce action begun by her husband.

Georgia Gage went to Tacoma, Wash., met one Earl Scott there, proceeded to Seattle and registered at the Elgin hotel of the latter city as "Mrs. Gage and family," declares her husband, Raymond C. Gage, in a divorce action started yesterday.

Other divorcees sought were: Annes Hand against William Hand, Johanna Case against George B. Case, Ellen Mann against E. J. Mann, May Staley against Harry E. Staley and Pearl Yoern against Robert Yoern.

MEDFORD SUSPECT FREE

LARK EVANS HAS PERFECT ALIBI IN HOLDUP CASE.

Jacksonville Murder Mystery Still Is Unsolved—Identification by Photo Falls Down in Court.

MEDFORD, Or., Oct. 31.—(Special.)—Lark Evans, brought here from Klamath Falls to answer a charge of holding up W. G. White, a Grants Pass jitney man, near Jacksonville, September 13, and who local authorities believed would shed some light upon the unsolved Jacksonville murder mystery, was released today by Justice Glenn Taylor after he had established an absolute alibi.

On the day and night of September 13, local witnesses testified, Evans was working in a Medford garage and worked there until the 17th, when he left for Klamath Falls. The arrest was made several weeks after a picture of Evans had been identified by White as resembling that of the man who held him up.

Local authorities could not get into communication with White, however, who has left Grants Pass, while other witnesses who saw the couple who boarded the white car testified today that Evans did not resemble the woman's companion.

It was also brought out at the hearing that Evans had been working in Klamath Falls under his own name ever since he left this city, which did not indicate he was trying to evade the authorities.

NOTE: We promise without hesitation that you will find "The Miracle Man" to be the finest photoplay ever exhibited in this theater.

We have paid for it more than was ever paid before for any picture exhibited in Portland. "Broken Blossoms" cost a small fortune and was good enough to cause Portland newspapers to write editorials in its praise. "The Miracle Man" has cost us nearly $2000 more—and is worth it.

The admission price is 50 cents, the lowest figure at which the producers will permit it to be shown.

ALBERT HERREN IS DEAD

Native Oregonian Succumbs on Ranch Near Salem.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 31.—(Special.)—Albert Herren, who died at his home here Tuesday, was a native Oregonian, having been born on a ranch about four miles east of Salem in 1853. His father, William J. Herren, is said to have been the first sheriff of Marion county. Albert Herren received his early education in the Salem schools and later attended Willamette university. At the age of 17 years he engaged in the stock business with his brother, David Herren, in eastern Oregon. He remained in that part of the state until 1876, when he came to Salem and took up farming. In the year 1876 he was employed by the Portland flouring mills and for a long time acted as wheat buyer for the concern in Salem and Independence.

HOME BUDGET ADVOCATED

SPEAKER AT FOOD SHOW TELLS OF SYSTEM'S VALUE.

Domestic Science Training Makes Difference in Conduct of Affairs, Says Miss Lane.

Benefits from keeping a family budget were pointed out yesterday by Miss Lassie Lane, home demonstration agent for Oregon Agricultural college, who is giving a series of lectures in conjunction with the food show at the army.

She explained the working out of bookkeeping in the home and showed how it is a money-saving device.

A lot of women are not running their homes on a business basis, she said. "There are girls who refuse to keep household accounts and yet they will go into offices and take up precisely the same kind of employment."

There is all the difference in the world between the homes of those who have had domestic science training and those who have not. This

MULTNOMAH COUNTY LAGS

$10,000 NEEDED TO COMPLETE MEMORIAL FUND.

Marion and Clatsop Counties Send Word of Renewed Activity in Roosevelt Campaign.

Contributions continue to arrive for the Roosevelt memorial fund, despite the pressure of other demands, proving that Oregon's determination to support a great national activity is unrelenting.

The larger counties are stiffening up in the work," said Campaign Director Edgar E. Piper yesterday. "We have word from Marion and Clatsop counties that work will continue until the final dollar is registered. Umatilla county is pounding away hard and I am sure Mr. Ritter and his committees will carry out their plans. Benton county has raised its quota. There was no solicitation among the people in Benton and the funds which came in voluntarily will approximate 425."

The Multnomah county quota is not completed. Actual cash on hand received at headquarters in the Press club yesterday amounted to $11,000, which amount is $10,000 short of that desired.

Auditor Calls for Marriage Data. LEWISTON, Idaho, Oct. 31.—(Special.)—Ralph Thompson county auditor, has issued a notice to ministers and justices of the peace that the state law requires them to file with the auditor's office a statement certifying the number of marriages they have performed, every three months. The information is needed by the auditor in compiling his quarterly report for the office of the state board of health.

Shows commence daily at 11, 12:40, 2:30, 4:20, 6:10, 8 and 9:50. On Sunday at 10, 11:50, 2, 3:50, 5:40, 7:30, 9:20.
