Distribution System Going. The railroad administration's coal distribution system under fuel administration regulations was announced to be in full operation today. In Chicago the coal committees of the porthwastern and process of the process o northwestern and central-western railroad regions announced removal of all restrictions on coal shipments for federal, state, county and municipal, public utilities, daily newspapers and a few similar classifications throughout the country. The order applied to coal already taken charge of in transit and that to be mined, and was designed to meet pressing precessities such as freeing coal are necessities, such as freeing coal cars

Chicago. The two principal trains eliminated by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul were trains 29 and 30, Chi-year, or about two-thirds of normal. A slight increase in production also was reported by Colorado operators, while those in New Mexico said but half of the miners were on strike.

COAL ECONOMY ORDERED

(Continued From First Page.) make it possible, labor leaders said, for the two sides, through their full scale committees, to negotiate a new wage agreement at one sitting. Refusal, and issuance of more drastic orders directing heads of the miners' organization to resume operations, would mean, these officials said, a long-drawn-out struggle.

Government officials took another look at stock reports, and while these indicated coal enough to meet immediate needs, the fact stared them in the face that the daily consumption was around 10,000,000 tons, while the daily output had been reduced by the strike to about 3,500,000 tons.

to about 3,500,000 tons.

It was easy to find, they said, how long present stocks would last, assuming the bins were filled for an average run of 30 days.

A full report of the strike situation will be presented to the cabinet at its meeting tomorrow. While it has been announced that the cabinet stood solidly together in formulating the government's strike policy, it has been common talk in labor and official circles that Secretary Wilson, a former officer of the United Mine Workers of America, strongly opposed incircles that Secretary Wilson, a for-mer officer of the United Mine Work-ers of America, strongly opposed in-tunction recommendation of the moment, LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 8.—Complaints of fuel shortage in Nebraska towns continued to come to the offices of the governor and state railway com-mission today.

A letter from Crete, Neb., said

Doane college there would have to close unless fuel was received within a short time. Another report said a Catholic school, church, convent and parsonage at Stuart were suffering a fuel famine. The coal supply at York was reported to be low, while schools at Superior were said to be badly in need of fuel.

At the railway commission it was said that efforts to find any railway official in the state with authority to issue orders for coal distribution to meet emergency cases had been fruitless and that the commission would send requests for fuel direct to R. H. Aishton, regional railroad director at Chicago.
