W. W. Reported to Be Descending on City.

Two Companies Mobilized

Officers of Legion Post Threatened by Letter.

Ails are Filling Up

Veterans Being Sworn In as Deputies in Case City Becomes Flooded With Radicals.

SPokane, Wash., Nov. 14.—With national guardsmen under arms at the state armory here and more than 100 members of the American Legion sworn in as special officers, officials here were in readiness tonight for a reported invasion of Industrial Workers of the World from northwestern states into this city.

At a late hour tonight only two arrests of I. W. W. had been made by the police since evening, and an entire absence of I. W. W. activity here was reported by the officers.

Reports Bear Out Movement. Reports to the Associated Press tonight from Northern Idaho and Montana failed to bear out the information of American Legion officers that an I. W. W. movement to this city was in progress.

According to J. B. Clark, one of the 53 men convicted, an appeal is to be taken to the superior court, where the defendants expect to have an attorney to defend them.

Arrangements for obtaining arms and ammunition for the American Legion members sworn in were being made, and it was stated that the special officers would be in readiness for service in case the invasion materialized.

On the one side will be a figure of Victory with the inscription "The Great War for Civilization," and on the reverse side the names of the allied and associated powers.

Worker at Chehalis Wounded by Sentry

Chehalis Man Ignores Five Commands to Halt.

Ed Godfrey, Trusted Employee of Mill, Is Innocent Victim—Caution by Guards Unheeded.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Nov. 14.—(Special)—Ed Godfrey, an employee of the Chehalis Mill company in the south end of the city, was shot in the upper left shoulder at 3 o'clock this morning by one of the armed military sentries on duty on lower Chehalis avenue.

The sentry, with others, was guarding the various approaches to the Lewis county jail where a number of I. W. W. were confined.

Godfrey had been working till late in the night and was on his way up street. When he approached Main street, it was said that Godfrey was hailed by the sentries who advised him to halt.

Godfrey was especially cautioned that when challenged he should stop. However, a short distance further along when challenged a second time, he fired five times, Godfrey failed to halt.

Two shots were fired in the air before the third, which wounded him, was used to enforce the command. He is at a local hospital.

$2000 in Shoe Sought

Money Thrown Into Coos River During Housecleaning.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Nov. 14.—(Special)—W. L. Mast, professional diver of Eandon, is scouring the bottom of Coos river at the Henry Higgins ranch on the north fork, to secure $2000 in gold coin and currency which was accidentally thrown into the river by Mr. Higgins' brother during a house cleaning.

The money had been cached in the house for some time and its last secret hiding place was an old shoe. With the rest of the rubbish, James Higgins dumped the heavily laden shoe into the river.

Diver Mast was engaged for the work at a price of $200. He has been searching for two days and the money has not been recovered.

Sentries Patrol Streets

Thousands Stand in Silence as Lieutenant Grimm and Dale Hubbard Are Laid to Rest.

CENTALLA, Wash., Nov. 14.—(Special)—In a hall draped with the trappings of former festival, but with the colors of America standing at guard, Centalla and the American Legion of Washington paid tribute and bade farewell today to four very gallant gentlemen who served their country overseas, and whose return after battle was met with the bullets of the I. W. W. and death in the Armistice day celebration and tragedy of last Tuesday.

While the members of the American Legion from every point in Washington and the citizens of Centalla marched through the streets to the great bare auditorium, while, rapt and spacious, wherein the cadets were draped with the flag, other ex-service men kept watch and ward on the streets of the city and on the hills which surround it.

Funeral Draws Thousands. The four to whom in memory comrades and citizens turned yesterday to a pledge that the flag shall remain unsullied and that I. W. W. and its kindred brood must be stamped out were Lieutenant Warren O. Grimm, Dale Hubbard, Arthur R. McCreesh and Ben Casagrande.

Legion After Participants. The ceremony that drew the thousands to this city, and that parked the streets about the auditorium with masses of people this afternoon, was the funeral service for the three murdered comrades.

City Sad but Resolute. For the streets wore the appearance of an armed city, grim and saddened, but resolute to stand the test and answer any call.

L. W. W. Prisoners Forced to Dig Grave for Self-Boasted Participant in Attack on Parade.

By BEN HUR LAMPMAN. CENTALLA, Wash., Nov. 14.—(Special)—Crusading against the "wobblies" in Lewis county may soon come to a close for lack of suspects.

The dragnet that has compassed the county and swept every hamlet and lumber camp has dumped its scores into the little Centalla jail, crowding the bull pen and giving every cell a pair or more of occupants.

As for the missing tenth target of the complaint, Bert Bland, the capture of none of the alleged perpetrators of the Armistice day outrage would bring more sincere satisfaction to the searchers.

Armed Robbers Loot Poolroom of $4000

Three Masked Men Hold Up Patrons and Owner.

J. W. Chandler, Proprietor of Hall at Third and Alder Streets, Loses Cash and Diamonds.

Three masked and armed highwaymen held up the Idle Hour poolroom, near Third and Alder streets, in the heart of the downtown district, at 11 o'clock last night, obtaining more than $4000 worth of cash and diamonds, besides watches and other articles.

The robbers fired one shot to intimidate their victims. They spent about 25 minutes ransacking the premises, and escaped before the police were notified.

Mrs. J. C. Campbell, 1102 East Twenty-fourth street North, was held up near her home by a boy about 15 years old, who refused to take 25 cents, all the money she had.

Mr. Chandler, proprietor of the hall, listed his losses as follows: $1100 cash, diamond ring, $2000, and a diamond stickpin, $900.

Mr. Chandler, Foley and "Mysterious" Billy Smith, ex-prize-fighter, were sitting opposite from the door by which the robbers entered.

All right, I'll shoot it off. threatened the robber.

Mr. Chandler got the ring off without further delay. Another robber, a short, heavily built man also weighing about 170 pounds, searched the victims' pockets.

The robbers asked Smith regarding his health, but did not search him or take anything from him.

Conciliatory Talks Made

Conference Is Informed That National Expects Settlement of Difficulties.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU. Washington, Nov. 14.—William B. Wilson, who started in life as a coal miner, and for years was secretary of the United Mine Workers, as secretary of the United States department of labor stood up fearlessly as the advocate of the public today when the conference of miners and operators convened to negotiate a new working agreement.

He did not shrink from talking plainly to the representatives of his own former organization, the United Mine Workers, pointing out their mistakes with the same candor that he emphasized the faults of the operators.

Lewis Sees Indifference. Lewis' entire attitude was one of indifference during Secretary Wilson's remarks, but the attitude of William Green, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, was entirely different.

After presenting the plan by which he would have the operators and miners get together, Secretary Wilson speaking with the deepest earnestness said:

It is but fair to say to you in the beginning of this conference that a 30-hour week in the present industrial condition of the country is impossible.

He said that to reduce the working day would only force the operators to employ more men in order to keep up the output necessary to secure adequate allotment of cars and the miners would not benefit in the end.

Washington to Map Out Fight on I. W. W.

Prosecutors of Three Biggest Counties to Confer.

Campaign for Suppression of Seditious Publications Also Will Be Outlined.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 14.—Prosecuting attorneys of King, Pierce and Spokane counties will meet Sunday, if possible in Tacoma, to determine upon the lines of a campaign for the suppression of seditious publications in these three most populous communities of the state and also to devise methods of a more vigorous attack on the I. W. W. reds and other radicals.

As an emphasis to his general call to all prosecutors, sheriffs and police officers of the counties and cities of the state, Governor Hart has directly addressed Mr. Brown, prosecuting Attorney W. D. Askren of Pierce county, and prosecuting Attorney J. B. Lindsay of Spokane county, urging them to suppress treasonous publications.

In addition to the suggestions contained in the enclosed letter will you please make through investigation and endeavor to get necessary evidence to justify an action for the suppression of any seditious publications now being issued in your county.

Prosecutor Brown upon receipt of the governor's letter at once telephoned prosecuting Attorney Askren, who said he would communicate with Prosecutor Lindsay in Spokane.

They are trying to get together as soon as possible and will have a conference in Tacoma Sunday if Mr. Lindsay can get over, said Mr. Brown. "If not then, we will meet on Monday."

Women "Break" Strike

Down With Agitators' Cry Female Workers in Mexico.

LAREDO, Tex., Nov. 14.—Women employees in a factory at Cordoba, Mexican state of Vera Cruz, have "broken the strike in that place," according to word received here today.

After presenting the plan by which he would have the operators and miners get together, Secretary Wilson speaking with the deepest earnestness said:
