STREET PERILS DRIVE HIM AWAY Newcomer Declares He Will Leave

Because of Auto Menace. Because of Auto Menace.

PORTLAND, Nov. 18.—(To the Editor.)—The "joke" is that notwithstanding the most extraordinary number of auto accidents here each day, and the wall that the pedestrian public is sending forth, they still continue to speed 'em, just the same! By actual count, from St. Louis papers received daily, you have nearly 200 per cent more auto accidents here than cent more auto accidents here than they have in that olty of over 1,000,- ooo population each day.

Trouble seems to be that no autodriver here takes the matter seriously. You coax and you shame them, and your special writers put out enough sob stuff to drive a brass monkey to tears, all to no avail whatever, when tears, all to no avail whateve a brief crusade of arrests with fines would stop the menace instantly.

I travel a great deal by auto. We get to a town—"Are they strict here?"
If "Yes," we are mighty careful as to speed and traffic rules. If "No," it is of course different. speed and traffic rules. If No, it is of course different.

I might add, I came here to make Portland my home, with my family, but I wouldn't think of subjecting them to the daily auto menace here.
