Admission of Chinese Farm Laborers Urged.

WHITES REFUSE TO WORK

Continued Food Shortage Inevitable Unless Bars Are Let Down, Says Frank C. Jordan.

Frank C. Jordan, secretary of state of California, is in Oregon for the purpose of sounding public opinion as to the advisability of amending the Chinese exclusion law so that Chinese can be admitted to work on farms. Thus far Mr. Jordan says he chinese can be admitted to work on farms. Thus far Mr. Jordan says he has found very little opposition to the plan. He declares that unless labor, such as the Chinese, is provided for farm work there will be a shortage of food production, with increasing high prices.

Mr. Jordan's plan is to have the voters of the il western states memorialise congress to permit the admission of selected Chinese labor for farm work and domestic service. He proposes that this Chinese labor shall be under government regulation.

"There is a problem confronting the farmers," says Mr. Jordan, who is at the Benson, "and that is labor. In California we have very little white labor on the farms, the work being performed by Hindoos, Mexicans and Japanese. American-born boys do not want to work on farms. Those who left farms and went into the army have had a taste of city life and they are not returning to the farms. This means reduced production of food.

Millions of Aeres Idle.

farms. This means reduced production of food.

Millions of Aeres Idle.

There are 75,000,000 acres in the west which could be cultivated and made to produce food. Native-horn labor is not available. My plan is to bring over Chinese. It is said that organized inhor will object. Why should it? Organized labor does not extend to the farms and the Chinese farmers would not be competing with organized labor. I do not want the standard of American living lowered, and it will not be lowered. The Chinese live their own lives, do not intrude on the whites and they are honest, industrious and hard workers. If the Chinese can be put to work on the farms production will be increased, even more than doubled, and this will not only bring down the cost of living, but it will also benefit the condition of the skilled workers in the cities. There are fewer unskilled laborers in America now than formerly for the reason that during the war a great army of the unskilled became skilled, and are therefore in position to command better pay than formerly.

"It is imperative that some form of labor be found for the farms. Aliens who worked on farms have gone back home to aid in the rebuilding of Europea and the new immigration laws will make it difficult for European cheap labor to enter this country. The only source of supply I can discover is China.

Plan Strengly Supported.

"Much to my surprise, wherever I.

Plan Strongly Supported.

"Much to my surprise, wherever I have sounded out people they have favored the idea of bringing in Chinese for farm labor, which shows that the people have been giving this labor problem thought. The people who have farms and who have had trouble cetting researched. who have farms and who have had trouble getting needed help are quite willing to see Chinese on the job. Business men take the same viewpoint and so far as organized labor is concerned. I cannot see where it has any cause for objection, as increased food production would help that element. In any event the Chinese would not be coming into competition with organized labor.

"If I find sentiment sufficiently strong I will launch a drive, and this will be in the nature of a memorial will be in the nature of a men congress. Every registered vote in the western states will receive let-ters dealing with the subject, for the whole matter is one of education Later they will receive sample ballots so they can vote for or against the admission of Chinese for farm labor, and these will give congress an ex-pression of the people of the west. People's Views Desired.

There should be some system of ecting the Chinese to be brought er. They should not be coolles, but over. They should not be coolles, but farmers. They could be examined before being permitted to sail for our shores. Government bureaus of registration could handle the Chinese, so that when a farmer needs a Chinese for certain tasks he can apply to this government bureau and be supplied. How the Chinese should be handled is a matter of detail, which can be considered later. The main thing now is to ascertain how the idea is received by the people, and that is why I amout on a sounding expedition."

Mr. Jordan has been in politics in California since he was 24 years old, and has never been defeated.
