ENGINEER TELLS GRAYS HAR BOR TO START BUILDING.

Government Help Can Only Come After Much Agitation, He Says, and Start Must Be Made.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Nov. 26,-(Special.)-James E. Blackwell, consulting engineer of the United States shipping board, in a speech here under the combined auspices of the Aber deen Chamber of Commerce and the Grays Harbor Realty Board, urged energetic development of port facilities on a scale sufficiently large to attract the attention and interest of the federal government and assure its assistance:

A plan of construction to be carried out a unit at a time, while the ques-tion of federas aid is being agitated, was suggested by the speaker. Such a plan would provide for the building of docks, to be followed by ware-houses, coal bunkers, drydocks and Describing Grays Harbor and its tributary country as a storehouse of wealth, the resources of which have hardly been touched, Mr. Hackwell reminded his audience that other communities have been able to enlist federal aid for their port improvement projects only after years of consistent agitation, and expressed the belief that Grays Harbor might have to iravel the same road.

He emphasized the necessity of omprehensive plan to be put in effec-

ROSE DRIVE OPENS TODAY

BOYS TO PLACARD PORTLAND WITH POSTERS.

"Plant a Rose," Will Be Alluring Command to Citizens as Means to Beautifying City.

The first step in the campaign for nore roses for Portland will be taken today, when the Portland Rose so ciety and the Boy Scouts of Portland will co-operate to remind residents of the city that the flower which has given it its name among cities is crying for greater attention.

Ten thousand posters, showing a beautiful Caroline Testout, Portland's favored rose, in colors, and the message, "Plant a Rose!" will be distributed over Portland this morning and affections by hundred of ling and afternoon by hundreds of loy Scouts. Automobiles will be halted by the youthful advocates of a more colorful city and vehicles, store windows and bulletin boards will be brightened by the posters.

The campaign which is beginning today will be continued right up to rate campaign which is beginning today will be continued right up to the next Rose Festival. The first concern of the Rose society in launching the movement is in beautifying Portland in anticipation of the coming of the Shriners next June.

Portlanders may expect to hear daily reminders that there is room for more rose blooms in their gardens.

for more rose blooms in their gardens and on their lawns. Citizens are urged to familiarize themselves with rose culture, and are asked to call on the Portland Rose society and on ocal florists for guidance.

Between now and the first of th "Retween new and the first of the year is one of the best times to plant roses." said H. J. Blaesing, president of the Portland Rose society and a leader in the present campaign, yesterday. "November is the best month of the year, and December is a good month. If the ground is not frozen. Hoses can stand cold weather, and plants bedded now will be in bloom next Summer."
