

STAND OF O. OF W. FAVORABLE TO OREGON

Howe Credits Threat Not to Play in Conference.

50-50 SPLIT IS VIEWED

Ruling, Although Favorable to Small Colleges, Is Considered as Cause for Objection.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Dec. 9.—(Special.)—Professor H. C. Howe, coach of the basketball team and Trainer Bill Hayward returned yesterday from the meeting of the Pacific coast conference held last week-end in Seattle. Graduate Manager Marion F. McClain remained in Seattle to work over the details for the coming year with other managers and has not yet returned.

"The ruling favoring a split of the proceeds of a big game," he said, "was suggested by the smaller schools, but the plan adopted was the one brought up by the University of California.

"This ruling allows each team a 50-50 split of the receipts after the student body of the local school has been admitted free.

"The plan is all right for smaller schools," commented Professor Howe, "but I think Washington is quite right in being willing to play on that basis. I also believe that Washington will stick to its decision not to play any conference games under that agreement. Washington claims that it has plenty of shipyard teams to play, and that it will also arrange a game outside the conference with the University of California.

"Professor Howe also believes that the smaller teams should set something besides expenses when playing in a big contest with an institution like Washington or California.

"Peeve" Felt at Pasadena. California and Washington are peevish at Pasadena for commercializing the post-season contest, according to Howe, and that was the reason for the adoption of the ruling creating a post-season game under the auspices of the conference.

The reason given by Professor Howe for the rejection of the application of the University of Southern California for membership in the conference was that the standards for entrance to that institution were very low.

Track Schedule Meets Difficulty. Some difficulty was experienced in arranging the coast conference track meet, according to Howe. Stanford's invitation to stage the meet was accepted, and that was the only date that California could enter the meet was May 15, or two days after commencement at the southern school.

MOVING PICTURE NEWS

Scene from "The Right to Happiness" in which Dorothy Phillips plays a dual role and which is showing this week at the Columbia theater.

TODAY'S FILM FEATURES.

Liberty—Constance Binney, in "Strawlike Susan." Strand—Theda Bara, "La Belle Rieuse." Majestic—Malge Kennedy, in "Friend Husband." Peoples—Olive Thomas, "The Spite Bride." Columbia—Dorothy Phillips, in "The Right to Happiness." Star—Robert Anderson, "Common Property." Sunset—Mable Normand, "Upstairs." Circle—Bryant Washburn, in "Putting It Over." Globe—Charles Ray, in "The Busher."

"The Right to Happiness" is an anti-bolshevik picture. It is the present feature of the Columbia theater. Dorothy Phillips, the fascinating star of "The Heart of Humanity," is its lead and it was made under the same director, Allan Hollander, who, by the way, is Miss Phillips' husband.

"The Right to Happiness" is the story of two girls, twin sisters, who were separated in infancy and who grew to womanhood in different countries, environments and circumstances. One of these girls gave her all for others in their "right to happiness." The other girl gave nothing. She was happy—as far as she knew. The picture is full of dramatic, historical and romantic interest. Its locale is Russia and the United States and its time is both the present and the past.

The picture as a whole is a plea for co-operation and friendliness between classes. It more than lightly touches the surface, for it traces back through the pages of history to other days of unrest. It shows the progress mankind has made. It shows the safety of America over all other nations and it shows the progress that is to be made.

Screen Gossip. "Good evening! Do you like music when you work in the pictures?" This is a question argued pro and con.

President Heydler Emphasizes Need of Working Agreement With Minor League Clubs.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The annual meeting of the board of directors of the National league and the regular meeting of the club owners took place today. President Heydler said the meeting might last through the greater part of the week.

The new board of directors was elected, consisting of Messrs. Stoneham, New York; Grant, Boston; Dreyfus, Pittsburgh; and Veck, Chicago. It was decided that in future two western and two eastern clubs will be represented on the board and that the would alternate each succeeding year.

Major B. Riekey, president and manager of the St. Louis club, explained that there was still a doubt as to whether he or some other person would manage the team next season.

The league voted in favor of a 154-game schedule for the 1920 season, which will open on Wednesday, April 8, subject to the approval of the American league, which will meet tomorrow. The training season was extended from four to five weeks.

Minor Situation Bothers. "The breaking away of the minors from the national agreement may likewise be viewed unfavorably; for, although the majors have not sufficiently broken out of their shell, conditions are bound to ensue unless proper working understandings are reached between a central government. The minors have notified us that they have appointed a committee to handle the matter, and there is no question as to the wisdom of holding a joint conference. It is my judgment, however, that no new business should be entered into on legal advice of how best this can be done without running into conflict with the Sherman law.
