SCHOOL CHILDREN TO WAGE WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS. Christmas Seal Funds Procured by Youngsters to Go to Support of Mills Open-Air School.

An army of 25,000 salesmen of the school seals will open today the greatest war against tuberculosis ever waged in Oregon. The annual campaign of the pupils of the Portland public schools on behalf of this humanitarian work takes place this week.

Special interest attaches to the school sale this year, for the Oregon Tuberculosis association has announced that all of the proceeds from Christmas seals will open today the greatest war against tuberculosis ever waged in Oregon.

There will be special articles by expert writers, detailing the remarkable progress of highway construction in Oregon, and also a fully illustrated scenic photos and pictorial maps.

Millions in money are being expended in opening the state to the tourist and making possible the marketing of home-grown goods. The annual edition will tell how this fund is being developed, what has been done and what is projected for the 1920 construction season.

All other phases of the state's development will also be fully covered by story and picture.

This particular branch of the sale will go to the support of the A. L. Mills open air school, conceded to typify the latest development in the open-air school movement.

Making 190 Per Cent Boys and Girls is the subject of an article on the school written by George Evers, regional secretary for the northwestern branch of the National Tuberculosis association. The article appears in the December issue of the American School Board Journal.

While this school is a part of the public school system, the salary of the nurse and the matron and the cost of food in the association, and it is for this work that the school children's seal sale will be used.

Saturday seal sale netted $32,044. The grade teachers association occupied 14 booths and did excellent work. The seal sale is a part of the Portland Federation of Women's organizations, Mrs. C. L. Dutcher, chairman, Portland Research club, Mrs. H. Bliss, chairman, and Central W. C. T. U., Mrs. Lulu Horning, chairman.

Lewis A. Bond of Eugene, graduate and honor student, was elected president. Hubert G. Schenk of Eugene, assistant instructor in the department now engaged in research work, vice-president; Miss Rachel E. Schenk of Eugene, secretary-treasurer. Other members of the organization are Merrill D. Ely, Portland; Mary Packwood, Portland; Claire F. Holdridge, Trent; Newton J. Bates and Victor J. Hubbard, both of Eugene.

The following were elected honorary members: Mrs. Ellen Condon McCormack, 78, of Eugene; Dr. Warren D. Smith head of the department; Dr. Earl L. Packard, professor of geology here; Dr. Graham John McNeill, 12; Chester Washburne, '08; Henry Howe, '18; and Richard Nelson, 1919.

Mr. Dempsey was born in New York city and was 58 years of age. He came west with his parents and lived in Santa Rosa, Cal., until 1877 when he came to southern Oregon. In 1880 he became a resident of Eugene, where he was prominent in the Masonic lodge of which he was a member. He was also a member of the First United Presbyterian church, Grace C. Dempsey, he is survived by one daughter, Zillah, a Christian teacher in the high school of Santa Rosa. He leaves also the following brothers and sisters: Frederick M. Dempsey, Portland; Dr. Robert M. Dempsey, Dr. Lillian E. Dempsey and Dr. Harrison E. Dempsey, all of Vallecito, Cal.

Mr. Dempsey acquired his knowledge of the lumbering business in this city and 25 years ago took over the Albina Lumbering company, acting president for a number of years, later becoming secretary of the Eastern and Western Lumber company, and finally, about 16 years ago, with M. F. Henderson as the business associate, established the Oregon-Washington Lumber company, of which he was president and created by the Roseburg business following the fire of 1914 which destroyed the mill and soon after took over the Multnomah Fuel company, in which he was interested until his death.

Isadore Schiel, a resident of the city for many years and a machinist by trade, died Saturday at the Sunnybrook sanitarium, following an illness of several years. He was born on December 26, 1856, and from about 1881 until the commencement of his recent illness was employed as a machinist at the Willamette Iron & Steel company, the Hart's Ice Machine company and the Commercial Iron works, he also was at one time organizer at the Reform church, Twelfth and Clay streets, and later was choir leader at the First German church, Fourth and Mill streets.

Mr. Schiel is survived by his wife, Mrs. Theresa Schiel, East Forty-first street, a son Robert, aged 11; his father, Isadore Schiel; two brothers, Christian and Theodore, and a sister, Mrs. Emma Wagner. Mr. Schiel's death is known as the Condor occurred just 10 years to a day following the death of his mother. The funeral will be held at 1 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, from the Finley chapel.

A Pearly Reminder of the Giver

WHAT more sensible, and at the same time generous, gift could be chosen than a high-grade bond? If you want an appropriate present for a member of your family, or for a friend, we can suggest nothing better.

You may select a bond that matures in a short time, or one that runs for a long term of years; each year the maturing interest will serve as a reminder of the donor, and also as an incentive to reinvestment.

The Bond Department of Ladd & Tilton Bank offers you "bonds of proved worth," bonds purchased by the bank itself, that will serve as ideal Christmas gifts. May we talk with you about them?
