

Morning Oregonian

ESTABLISHED BY HENRY L. FITZCOCK... PUBLISHED BY THE OREGONIAN PUBLISHING CO., 222 N. W. 5th St., Portland, Ore.

Subscription Rates—Invariably in Advance... Daily, Sunday included, one year, $8.00

How to Read—Send postoffice money order, express, bank, stamps, coin or currency...

Postage Rates—12 to 16 cents, 1 cent per copy...

Eastern Business Office—Verres & Conklin, Inc., 100 N. Dearborn St., Chicago

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

“MUTUAL CONCESSIONS.” The Oregonian prints elsewhere the strong, timely and very admirable resolutions adopted by the New York Chamber of Commerce...

cannot succeed in view of the fact that his insistence on the league covenant without change has blocked legislation of all kinds, and of the general opinion that the strike and disturbances have their origin in his past policies and are the main cause of high prices.

The democratic party has lost public confidence because of its record in the public mind has proved unsound, and because its eleventh-hour stand for the law and the public interest is recognized by movements to obtain the support of those elements which stand requires it to force into submission to law. The party is judged not by the position which it now assumes, but by its record of its six years in undisputed control of the government. The evils which it now professes to combat are seen to flow from that record, and it cannot escape an adverse verdict.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES. The Spokane Spokesman-Review has information that the so-called triple alliance of the state of Washington, the federal government and National Master Wilson of the Grange as a political organization, and the Washington state executive committee has issued a statement setting forth the reasons for the action in order toward the three-headed arrangement. It says:

No member of the grange is violating his obligations under the triple alliance or of any other political or social organization. The triple alliance is the use of the ballot. On the other hand, any member of the grange who is a member of any other political or social organization should not be charged with the triple alliance. It is the grange spirit, as some of the alliance members have said, which should be sought to do. On the contrary, he is a citizen and is exercising his prerogatives as a citizen.

It is further declared that when any member of the order joins a political party or combination "such action must be taken as an individual and not as a member of the Grange."

Here now is a repudiation of the triple alliance, which purports to be an association of the State Federation of Labor, of the Railways and Welfare League and "farmers organizations."

At the Dalles, the other day, the Farmers' union, in defiance of the order in principle of the triple alliance, resolved against partnership with any other than farmers' organizations.

These developments are interesting in the light of the signs of the times. They should be particularly interesting to Brother Spence, grand master of the Oregon Grange, who can see and interpret a sign of the times as quickly as anybody.

ABOUT HARBORS, PRO AND CON. San Francisco bay has been heralded so long as the greatest harbor on the Pacific coast that the request for its betterment has been printed to provide a channel 42 feet deep and 1500 feet wide comes as a surprise to many who have credited boasts of its perfection. Those who have had the dangers of the Columbia river bar dinned into their ears will be surprised to find Mr. Daniels complaining that the entrance to San Francisco bay is "unsatisfactory for big battleships."

Such a shock was given to the democratic party by the election in Massachusetts, Maryland, Kentucky and New York city and by the congressional by-election in Oklahoma that every subsequent move of the administration has been made as an effort of the party to recover itself. In that light President Wilson's message should be read.

Democracy is reaping the crop from what it has sown. It yielded to union labor so often that in Massachusetts it was finally driven to choose between law and order and the right of union labor to advance the aid of the senate without its approval was essential to completion of his work. He made opposition to his opponents to arouse the spirit of the nation by every means that, while this nation should enter the league, reservations to the covenant should guard its particular interests. He thus became the champion of a new era of protection as opposed to an Americanism careful to sacrifice no national rights to its duty to other nations. Public opinion spoke in the democratic platform of Massachusetts and in the Oklahoma and Kentucky elections.

The president has placed his party in an equally equivocal position with regard to radicals and revolutionists. He now attempts to firm stands against them, and sets Attorney-General Palmer on their trail, but he finds progress obstructed by such men as Howe, Denmore, Bullitt, Herron and the swarm of other philosophical anarchists, parlor bolsheviks and college socialists whom he has appointed to office, and by the policy of reservation to the covenant which has given to radicals. The wide dissemination of bolshevism in this and other countries can be traced to his refusal in the summer of 1918 to join the allies in effective intervention against the bolshevik German plan to destroy Russia and to his moves for peace with the reds. He is now driven to fight an evil of his own creation, for the radicals he stands to lose his radical friends without winning the confidence of the great body of Americans which has consistently opposed them.

His recommendations of a budget system, of tax reform and economy, of legislation in behalf of the veterans, of protection to key industries, of prohibition of alcohol, of present issues which the republicans have already made their own by introducing bills now pending in congress. His attempt to place upon his opponents the responsibility for failure to pass laws against profiteering direction of the secretary of war" at the time when revolutionary agitation was at its height, though he had been denounced by General Crowder as "incalculably more dangerous than an enemy spy." Baker held that the release was a possession of a discharge certificate and could not therefore be again imprisoned, in flat contradiction of the opinion of the judge-advocate general, his legal adviser, that "the release was without authority" and that Brooms "can be legally taken into custody and returned" to prison. In short, Baker strained the law and took advantage of a mistake to liberate an enemy of the government which he is sworn to defend.

When such things are done in these perilous times, there is no cause for surprise that enemies of democratic institutions are loud, active and rampant. They know that they have friends at the center of power. They are in practical control of two departments of the government, so far as arrest and punishment for treason, sedition and rebellion are concerned. When the alien revolutionist gets into the clutches of the immigration bureau, the heads of the labor department intercede, and in nine out of ten cases the alien is released. When a citizen falls foul of military law, Mr. Baker comes to his relief. When over 400 fake conscientious objectors were released at Leavenworth with honor and distinction, by and new clothes, responsibility was placed on some unnamed subordinate official of the war department.

It is in his own hands that the ball money came out of the Mexican treasury, if any was deposited, and that the entire transaction was fictitious, designed to put Carranza on the correct position to write the note.

If the Mexican government were such as the United States could trust to execute the courts independent of executive interference, there would be no excuse for making a case which is in the hands of the courts a subject for diplomatic negotiation. By signing the Carranza government, President Wilson has committed a crime that has character, when any man with the least knowledge of how things are done in Mexico knows that Carranza's false defense is founded on this false premise, but Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

stars and starmakers. PRINTED in the programmes of the Alcazar theater is a little missionary line. It is doing a lot to curb the evil abroad in the land of the stars and starmakers. The habit is a fixed one with a majority of theatergoers, to begin to grope for rubbers and put them on, adjust headgear and under wraps and be half way up the aisle before the last curtain. As soon as it is established in the plot that the heroine and hero will wed, thoughtless souls in the audience begin to make preparations to beat someone else up the aisle. Editorials by the millions have been written in protest of the folk who chatter or sing while the entertainment is going on, and about the brother poet, who reads or recites, who stands up the aisle in order to hear all that's going on the stage and also be the first to reach the street. But no conviction prevails that these poets do not read editorials, or having read do not read editorials, or having read do not read editorials, or having read do not read editorials. Realizing this, the Alcazar management has caused to be inserted on every page of its programme, where every reader of the case or reader of advertisements must see it, this line: "Kindly remain seated until final curtain. Be considerate of others."

It is in his own hands that the ball money came out of the Mexican treasury, if any was deposited, and that the entire transaction was fictitious, designed to put Carranza on the correct position to write the note.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

Mr. Wilson has debarred himself from declaring it false and thus has laid the foundation for a plausible fiction.

CALL FOR MUTUAL CONCESSIONS

Peace imperative, if World is to be saved. Resolutions adopted by New York Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber of commerce of the state of New York, in common with the business men of the whole nation, believes that as a people we are now confronted in the world of morals and in the world of trade with a crisis similar to that which we faced on the 4th of April, 1917. We then realized suddenly that we had well-nigh waited too long, and for 19 months after that date the question of what the results of our democracy might be hung in the balance.

On the 11th of November, 1918, came victory. We again felt, as we had not for some time surely felt, that we had a right to have pride in our descent from a people who had founded our constitution in 1787 and preserved it in 1865.

Victory not only restored our self-respect; it also brought duties and opportunities. Our declaration that we sought none of the international indemnities, placed us in a position of moral leadership. We fought not alone to preserve our self-respect and to defend free institutions, but to end war. In our descent from a people who had founded our constitution in 1787 and preserved it in 1865.

When we made the demand it is probable that few of us fully realized what that demand involved. It necessarily involved the sacrifice of long-cherished precedents and practices. It involved at least the establishment of a council of free nations with such power of moral and economic sanction, with such machinery for the adjudication of international disputes, as would surely lessen the probability of war. The Versailles treaty sought, even though its machinery may well seem to some of us, as lacking in perfection, to achieve these ends.

The senate of the United States, faced with the specific provisions of a compact which demanded some departure from the well-settled practices of the government, hesitated. The delegates to the conference, peace delegates at Versailles undertook to meet this demand.

When we made the demand it is probable that few of us fully realized what that demand involved. It necessarily involved the sacrifice of long-cherished precedents and practices. It involved at least the establishment of a council of free nations with such power of moral and economic sanction, with such machinery for the adjudication of international disputes, as would surely lessen the probability of war.

The Versailles treaty sought, even though its machinery may well seem to some of us, as lacking in perfection, to achieve these ends.

The senate of the United States, faced with the specific provisions of a compact which demanded some departure from the well-settled practices of the government, hesitated.

The delegates to the conference, peace delegates at Versailles undertook to meet this demand.

When we made the demand it is probable that few of us fully realized what that demand involved. It necessarily involved the sacrifice of long-cherished precedents and practices.

It involved at least the establishment of a council of free nations with such power of moral and economic sanction, with such machinery for the adjudication of international disputes, as would surely lessen the probability of war.

The Versailles treaty sought, even though its machinery may well seem to some of us, as lacking in perfection, to achieve these ends.

The senate of the United States, faced with the specific provisions of a compact which demanded some departure from the well-settled practices of the government, hesitated.

The delegates to the conference, peace delegates at Versailles undertook to meet this demand.

When we made the demand it is probable that few of us fully realized what that demand involved. It necessarily involved the sacrifice of long-cherished precedents and practices.

It involved at least the establishment of a council of free nations with such power of moral and economic sanction, with such machinery for the adjudication of international disputes, as would surely lessen the probability of war.

The Versailles treaty sought, even though its machinery may well seem to some of us, as lacking in perfection, to achieve these ends.

The senate of the United States, faced with the specific provisions of a compact which demanded some departure from the well-settled practices of the government, hesitated.

The delegates to the conference, peace delegates at Versailles undertook to meet this demand.

When we made the demand it is probable that few of us fully realized what that demand involved. It necessarily involved the sacrifice of long-cherished precedents and practices.

It involved at least the establishment of a council of free nations with such power of moral and economic sanction, with such machinery for the adjudication of international disputes, as would surely lessen the probability of war.

The Versailles treaty sought, even though its machinery may well seem to some of us, as lacking in perfection, to achieve these ends.

The senate of the United States, faced with the specific provisions of a compact which demanded some departure from the well-settled practices of the government, hesitated.

The delegates to the conference, peace delegates at Versailles undertook to meet this demand.

When we made the demand it is probable that few of us fully realized what that demand involved. It necessarily involved the sacrifice of long-cherished precedents and practices.

It involved at least the establishment of a council of free nations with such power of moral and economic sanction, with such machinery for the adjudication of international disputes, as would surely lessen the probability of war.

The Versailles treaty sought, even though its machinery may well seem to some of us, as lacking in perfection, to achieve these ends.

The senate of the United States, faced with the specific provisions of a compact which demanded some departure from the well-settled practices of the government, hesitated.

The delegates to the conference, peace delegates at Versailles undertook to meet this demand.

Those Who Come and Go.

To be snappy and smiling and give service when you have trouble at home is a trying task, but Gene Truesdale, head bellman at the Benson, is getting by. He is what happens when the Truman home. Yesterday morning, along about the hour of twelve, the water tank in the kitchen decided to go on a rampage. The metal split from top to bottom of the tank and the impromptu shower of its confinement, decided to live its own wild life. The water gushed from the side next to the wall. The pressure of the water dissolved the plaster and plaster began to break being on the side next to the wall. The pressure of the water dissolved the plaster and plaster began to break being on the side next to the wall.

The dentist who prunes your incisors And pans with a guttural groan, Your earlier dental advisers, Had hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your incisors Has hardly three teeth of his own. And now and then, even the preacher, Asks that to smoke is not right, Elopes with Sunday school teacher That night.

The rainbows you sought for are scattered Like mist in the glance of the sun, The doctor who prunes your