

MIDNIGHT FROLICS AT BEACH CHARGED

Mrs. Hawley's Name Linked
With That of Lifeguard.

INFIDELITY IS ALLEGED

Paper Mill Manager Answers
Wife's Complaint With Charges
That Guard Often Visited Her.

Charges of infidelity, in which his wife's name is linked with that of a lifeguard at the life-saving station at Barview, Or., are made by Willard Hawley Jr., manager of the Hawley Pulp & Paper company at Oregon City, in an answer and cross-complaint to his wife's suit for divorce.

The cross-complaint was signed by the young husband yesterday and mailed by his attorneys, Griffith, Letter & Allen, for filing at Oregon City today.

Direct accusations of infidelity and improper conduct on the part of his wife, Marjorie Hawley, are made. He asserts that while she was spending a vacation at Barview in July, 1918, she habitually disported herself in such undignified manner as to cause unfavorable comment in the community of Barview, and that she would attend nightly dances, leaving their year-old baby with an inexperienced girl of 15 years.

Lifesaver Is Mentioned.
"More particularly, this plaintiff became infatuated with a member of the lifesaving crew of the United States lifesaving service at Barview," states the cross-complaint.

It then relates that she was continually in the company of this lifeguard, whose name is unknown to him, and would stand watch with him during the day time and attend dances with him at night. The further charge is made that she permitted this lifeguard to wear a wrist watch in public which Mr. Hawley had given to her as a birthday present.

On the night of August 7, 1918, Mrs. Hawley entertained this lifeguard at her cottage from 1 A. M. to 4 A. M., the husband charges. He further asserts they sat upon a cot where they engaged in mutual hugging, kissing and other demonstrations of affection and endearment.

After his wife's return to Oregon City and on the evening of August 25, 1918, she entertained some young man of about her own age in the parlor of her home, charges Mr. Hawley.

Visitor Hidden, Is Charge.

He asserts that when he arrived home and entered through the rear door his wife hid her male guest in a back bedroom during the time the defendant remained in the house. After Mr. Hawley left the house to be gone for two hours, he says his wife's unknown guest emerged from his hiding place and continued to be entertained by Mrs. Hawley until a late hour.

The cross-complaint further charges Mrs. Hawley with neglecting the welfare of their child and with being a poor housekeeper. The defendant says he provided her with a good home, paid all the bills and allowed her $50 a month for personal spending money.

The plaintiff asks that the decree be granted him and that the custody of the child be awarded to him on the ground that his wife is incompetent to care for it. He further asks that her temporary alimony be reduced to $250 a month and wants her attorney fees lowered to $2500. He further asks that she be deprived of all dower or other interest in his real property.

SHINGLE CARGO SHIPPED

Kelly Output at Warrenton Is Resumed After Nine Years.

ASTORIA, Or., Dec. 29.—(Special.)—The first shipment to be made from the Kelly lumber mills at Warrenton in nine years was a carload of extra "A" star shingles manufactured at the mills of the company there, which this morning started rolling toward the San Francisco market.

This shipment marks the active resumption of operations in the shingle and lumber industry of the lower Columbia river by the F. G. Kelly Lumber company of Warrenton, whose big plant was closed down nine years ago, but which within the next six weeks will be operating to full capacity, employing regularly nearly 100 men.

Bonifay Schedule Changed.

Instead of going to Newcastle to load coal for Spain, as was previously announced, the steamer Bonifay, operated out of Portland by the Columbia-Pacific Shipping company, will proceed to Manchester to load United States army supplies for America. It was learned by the company yesterday. She is now at Liverpool and will go to Manchester through the new ship canal. The Bonifay is a wooden ship built by the Wilson Shipbuilding company at Astoria.

Corvallis Club to Give Ball.

CORVALLIS, Or., Dec. 29.—(Special.)—The Tillicum, the young married couples dancing club of this city, will give a New Year ball tomorrow night at which nearly 30 new members will be initiated. At the annual election, Sam Dolan of O. A. C. was elected president and T. C. McDevitt, secretary-treasurer.

GIFT OF "BRACER" COSTLY

Man Who Was Befriended When Ill

"Peaches" to Police About Liquor. Because he gave his home-made liquor to a sick friend, who later "peached" on him, R. E. Long yesterday felt the strong arm of the United States government and was sentenced by Federal Judge Wolverton to pay a fine of $100 and serve 30 days in jail. Long, who was arrested some time ago by the federal authorities on the charge of violating the liquor laws, had made a small quantity of "moonshine" for his own use, according to his story, but was unable to resist the appeal of a sick friend, who desired "just a drop to set him up."

In view of the man's statement, which seemed to be substantiated by evidence introduced, Judge Wolverton granted a two months' stay of execution and gave the man permission to seek a pardon from the president of the board of paroles at Washington, so far as the 30 days of imprisonment were concerned. The fine would have to stand, however, he held.

Sir Asquith-Gardner, chairman of the kitchen committee of the British parliament, has admitted that he had bought German wine for the use of members. The purchase was made on the request of the members themselves.

January Sales

to Bring Down Living Costs

Thoughts for the Second Day:—

The MEIER & FRANK store embraces more than seventy distinct departments under one roof, each section carrying a large and representative stock of its proper merchandise, each functioning perfectly as a business, although all directed by the same policy and all integral parts of the MEIER & FRANK institution.

These departments together comprise the largest mercantile business in the Northwest, far surpassing all other store's stocks.

Practically every department joins in the January Sales to Bring Down Living Costs.

Wholesale Cost of These Suits

The best advertisement of these suits is, to our way of thinking, the enthusiastic commendation of the men who have shared in the sale since its inauguration last Friday.

That's the test! It's not what we think nor what anybody thinks except the man who pays out his good money and who has very definite ideas of what he wants to buy with it.

—and lots of men who know a good thing when they see it came back for a second suit and brought friends with them.

It's not surprising! Say what you will, men are pretty shrewd judges of values so far as concerns their own clothes, anyway, and, wise in their generation, they are coming more and more to look ahead. (Bring the wife along, too, if you're blessed with one.)

This is a wonderful opportunity for the forehanded man whose thought is primarily of quality and who requires from us only the further assurance that the styles are right and will be right for some time to come.

—for men know stores if they don't know makes (although merchandising mastery insures that our clothes are made by the best in the land).

We will only add here that we brought forward fresh reinforcements from our regular stocks so as to insure adequate selections for those who come today.

Our entire Morrison-street windows are given over to men's clothing displays. Take a look in them on your way to use the Morrison-street entrance to the store.

Any elevator or escalator will whisk you in a jiffy to the Store for Men, Third Floor. Plenty of experienced salespeople.
