

FILM CENSORS' CUTS, ARRESTS THREATENED

Release of "Thirteenth Commandment" Causes Row.

CUTS FAIL TO SATISFY

Mrs. E. B. Colwell, Secretary of Local Board, Says Picture Did Not Have Usual Permit.

Failure to comply with the city ordinance provision by allowing the film "The Thirteenth Commandment" to be shown at the Columbia theater without the proper eliminations will be the reason given by Mrs. Elmer E. Colwell in a complaint filed in court which she asserts, she will file against C. M. Hill, Mrs. Colwell is secretary of the Portland board of motion picture censors. Mr. Hill is branch manager of the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, which released the "Thirteenth Commandment." Until yesterday, when his resignation was received by Mayor Baker, he was a member of the board of censors. Mrs. Colwell alleges he failed to give the usual permit which must be signed by the board in release of the picture to Manager Raleigh of the Columbia.

Mrs. Colwell is secretary of the Portland board of motion picture censors. Mr. Hill is branch manager of the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, which released the "Thirteenth Commandment." Until yesterday, when his resignation was received by Mayor Baker, he was a member of the board of censors. Mrs. Colwell alleges he failed to give the usual permit which must be signed by the board in release of the picture to Manager Raleigh of the Columbia.

The film was originally censored last Friday. It was shown Saturday and Sunday and until last evening at 7 o'clock with some eliminations. At 7 o'clock Mrs. Colwell, with Miss Lorene Dismore, assistant commissioner of public safety, told Mr. Raleigh the picture would have to come off immediately if the eliminations made resulted in the picture being far more suggestive than when the film was originally shown. With additional eliminations made the film was allowed to run later last night.

Mr. Raleigh offered to make any further possible changes in the picture, but Mrs. Colwell declared that the picture must come off immediately. In complying with her request, the Columbia theater, according to the manager, is out approximately $1000, as it resulted in the loss of an entire show and the price of "The Vigilantes," which is now of no further use as a first run picture, and incidentally it meant the changing of the orchestral setting without any warning to the musicians. Several hundred persons refused to see a substitute picture, and it was necessary to refund the admission price.

Censors Are Hoofed. When Mr. Raleigh addressed the Columbia audience explaining the situation and asking guests in the house to remain through the extra show until the picture was shown, "The Vigilantes" could again be shown the sentiment against the board of censors was clearly shown. Hooting and jeering in the audience, and while enthusiastically clapping occurred when the assurance was given that the picture would be reinstated as soon as possible.

"I have no fault to find with the board of censors," said Mr. Raleigh following the incident, "but I do object to the idea being spread broadcast that the board is showing suggestive pictures. The pictures are supposed to come to me censored, but very often I make additional cuts as I feel that the financial success of my house rests on its reputation for cleanliness and fair play. It was not fair play to the picture, but away from the Columbia without due warning. The picture was very far from suggestive as we were showing it."

JELLOE NAVY'S QUEST

BRITISH ADMIRAL MAKES ROUND OF WASHINGTON CALLS.

Great Guns Are Seen—Engineers Hesitate to Say How Far 16-Inch Rifle Will Shoot.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The American navy was "hoor" tonight at a reception given to Admiral Viscount Jellicoe, commander of the British high seas fleet in the battle of Jutland. The reception, which closed a busy day for the visiting naval officer, was at the residence of Secretary Daniels. Viscount Jellicoe, who arrived yesterday from New York, started the day with formal calls on Secretary of State Lansing and Secretary Daniels. Later he received Vice-President Marshall and was received on the floors of the senate and house. The outstanding feature, however, of the day was an official inspection of the Washington navy-yard, in the course of which the visiting admiral was shown not only routine work on the big guns which will comprise the batteries of the new dreadnaughts, Tennessee, California and Maryland, but new developments in naval armament of which no information hitherto had been disclosed beyond naval circles.

Admiral Jellicoe and the officers in his party witnessed in the new gun shops the shrinking of a jacket on a 16-inch 50-caliber rifle. They also were shown an experimental 16-inch rifle which will have an elevation of 30 degrees. Engineers of the yard hesitated to predict the range of this pistol, 30 degrees being the highest elevation yet tried, in this position the gun threw a shell more than 25 miles.

The visiting admiral was the guest of Assistant Secretary Roosevelt at tea, and dined with Secretary Daniels.

"After receiving the benefits I have from Tanlac I am ready to join all the others who praise it," said H. G. Clark Sr., R. F. D. 1, box 25, South Tacoma, Wash., recently. Continuing, he said: "For years and years, I don't remember exactly how long, I have been troubled with indigestion and have had an extremely poor appetite, so poor, in fact, I have had to force down practically every mouthful I ate, and often, after eating, I sat as long as I could without eating at all. For I knew I would be in misery afterward. After every meal I would have such severe pains in my stomach they would nearly drive me wild and I would look something terrible. I also had rheumatism in my back, and as my kidneys bothered me a great deal I had the worst sort of pains in the small of my back. I had great difficulty in straightening up again. I could get but little sleep on account of pain and I started to get up in the morning, feeling worse than when I went to bed. I became badly run down and felt tired and worn out at anything I did. I was so weak I could scarcely get about. "I heard so many people praising Tanlac, and I thought I would try it. I decided to try it, and I must say it was simply remarkable how I began to improve. I continued taking it until now I am completely over all my troubles, and I can eat anything I want without feeling any bad after effects. I am entirely rid of the rheumatism and am never bothered with my kidneys and the pains in my back are all gone. I sleep fine and never wake up once during the night and always get up feeling greatly refreshed. In fact, I am stronger and enjoying better health than I have in years and am now able to do anything I want. Tanlac, I cannot praise it too highly. Tanlac is sold in Portland by the Owl Drug Co.—Adv."

Mrs. T. M. Seibert of Sawtelle, a suburb west of Los Angeles, testified as to New's mental state when the trial was resumed tomorrow. Mrs. Seibert, part owner of the most important prosecution witnesses, Mrs. Seibert, formerly a resident of Chicago and Indianapolis, testified she was well acquainted with New, having been a close friend of his mother, Mrs. Lulu M. Burger, when she accused and his mother lived in Indianapolis. Mrs. Seibert said Mrs. Burger always talked New with her when she called at the Seibert home in Indianapolis when New was a small boy, and she thought he acted rationally. "He always seemed like a smart, well-behaved boy," she said. E. W. Boness, part owner of a traveling vaudeville agent, testified New acted as advance agent for the company through California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming in 1918 and performed his work with the greatest of efficiency. He acted rationally, the witness said, and he expressed the opinion New was sane.

H. E. Boring and H. Michael, foreman and owner, respectively, of a ranch a few miles from here, where New worked in 1917, testified he acted rationally at all times. The defense closed with the testimony of Dr. Edward H. Williams, an alienist, the last of five experts called who testified New, in their opinion, was insane when he shot Miss Lesser. Dr. Williams referred to New as a "mental inferior" and later said his works were of the paranoiac type and he showed symptoms of dementia praecox. He said he would not class him as an "imbecile."
