REED COLLEGE HEADS TO DINE.—Reed college will be the host tomorrow evening at a dinner in the college commons for members of the new board of regents, trustees and faculty. Recently the Reed board of trustees was enlarged from five to 11 members, the new organization to be known as the board of regents. The move was made to extend the usefulness of the college in the city of Portland, and the college dinner is to serve as a get-acquainted meeting for faculty and regents. Newly elected to the Reed board of management are, Albert E. Doyle, Forrest S. Fischel, Mrs. Elliott Corbett, R. L. Sabin, E. B. MacNaughton and Dr. Laurence T. Selling.

PROHIBITION DIRECTOR OPENS OFFICE.—J. S. Smith, recently appointed director of prohibition enforcement in Oregon, is mapping out final plans for carrying on his work in this district. He has opened up headquarters in the customs-house building and will begin upon his active duties within the next few days. W. A. Kelly, prohibition supervisor for the San Francisco district, is in Portland this week for a conference with Mr. Smith. Inasmuch as much of the liquor brought into the state comes via the bootlegging route from San Francisco, the two federal officers will co-operate to suppress the illegal traffic.

NAME AROUSES SUSPICIONS.—V. Brandi, whose name alone made deputy sheriffs suspicious, ventured into the county jail yesterday to visit his friend Angelo Marcorio. He remained as a guest of Sheriff Hurlburt when the name "Brandi" on the visitors' blotter was recognized as belonging to a man much wanted by federal authorities for conducting a moonshine still.

INSANE PRISONER TRIES TO ESCAPE.—George Quinlan, insane, made a violent effort at escape in the county jail yesterday morning, breaking his way through a glass door and threatening jailors with a pocket-knife which he had secured unknown to his guards. RAILROAD OFFICIALS CONFER.—In preparation for the work of the coming year and for the consideration of changes to follow the return of the roads to private control, conferences of the executive officials and operating heads of the railroads are being held. A meeting of officials of the Hill lines will be held at St. Paul, beginning January 15, at which the budgets of the companies will be considered. Federal Manager Davidson, in charge of operation of the line for the railroad administration, and W. F. Turner, president of the company, will attend as representatives of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle. Corporate plans for the management of the properties probably will be considered at the meeting, as the expected return of the roads on March 1, will be only six weeks off when the meeting is held.

Subjects taught include mathematics, English for foreigners, eighth grade subjects, bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, dressmaking, English, manual training, mechanical drawing, commercial arithmetic, high school English and chemistry.

CARLINE RENAMED.—The Portland Railway, Light & Power company is not putting on additional car service, but it has established a new symbol for an old line. The "Depot-Morrison" carline, extending from Irving and Sixth streets, in front of the Union station, via Fifth, Morrison and Nineteenth and thence to Willamette Heights, has for many years been marked with the symbol "W," which did not seem to identify it with the route with strangers. This designation was adopted when it was first established as a line to serve the Willamette Heights district. It has been rechristened and will hereafter be the "D-M" car.

BURGLARY HEARING TODAY.—John Doerfer, machinist, 22 years of age, will have a hearing in the municipal court today on a charge of burglary following his arrest last Saturday by Inspectors Van Deusen, Russell and Horack. Inspectors declare that they have evidence implicating Doerfer in the burglary of the Larkin Prince Hardware company at Newberg on December 27; the Paige Detroit auto works, Twenty-eighth and Savier streets, and the Perkins & Sevier establishment, 374 Hawthorne avenue, during the month of November.

STUDY OF CENSUS QUESTIONS DESIRED

Effort Made to Avoid Loss of Time by Workers.

SCHOOLS EXPLAIN WORK

Hotel Men Promise Prompt Compliance With Regulations of Government.

An appeal to the people of Portland was issued last night by O. W. Mielke, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce publicity committee, to take more seriously the work of enumerators and to study the questions sooner or later to be asked and be prepared to answer them.

"The census workers are being held back in their work because many people do not take the trouble to study census questions in advance of the call of enumerators and therefore are unable to make ready answer," said Mr. Mielke. "This means that enumerators have to spend more time than should be necessary in large numbers of cases, thus hindering the progress of the whole proposition. All of the daily papers have published the questions, and if people will turn to these and make careful answers in advance by writing them down they will help the enumerators materially and will be doing a patriotic duty thereby."

Daily Papers Assist.

W. D. Bennett, supervisor of the census for this district, says that where the daily papers are read people generally are ready with answers and realize the importance of the census, but that in other localities trouble is being encountered. The Chamber of Commerce is taking steps to overcome this difficulty by carrying on a campaign of education by various means in the foreign quarters.

Mr. Bennett yesterday reported that some of the hotels have not given proper co-operation, in that they have not complied with the requirements of the government to distribute individual slips among permanent patrons. R. W. Price, president of the Oregon State Hotel Men's association, yesterday expressed the hope that this will be remedied at once.

"We want all of the people in this city counted," said Mr. Price, "and there are a great many in the hotels—more than one would think who has had no experience in this line of business. I hope that the hotel men will give the census supervisor the heartiest co-operation in all ways and help the city to get its correct population figures and other information into the hands of the government's agents at the earliest possible moment."

Schools Start Classes.

D. A. Grout, city superintendent of schools, reported last night that practically all west side schools started classes in census information yesterday afternoon. Pupils in the higher grades were instructed in the importance of the census from the standpoint of the city's prestige in a business way and were urged to carry this message home to their parents and other members of the family.

By today these classes will be formed in a large majority of the city schools, said Mr. Grout, who is personally and vigorously pushing the proposal of the Chamber of Commerce that the school children be told about the subject by their teachers.

"Generally speaking," said Supervisor Bennett yesterday, "we are making good progress. My force is keeping everlastingly at it, only one enumerator has dropped out because of illness, and splendid work is being done. I hope, however, that more people will prepare in advance their answers to questions. In that way they can save a great deal of time and help the enumerators more than in any other way."

In the foreign quarters many people have the fear that their answers to certain questions may bring them trouble of some kind and Mr. Bennett appeals to all persons having influence with these to correct this impression.

POSTAL EMPLOYES HELD

Drivers of Parcel Post Trucks Charged With Thefts.

Three drivers of parcel post trucks for the postoffice department in Portland were placed under arrest yesterday by deputy United States marshals, charged with the theft of articles from the United States mails. The men are Gus Conrad, aged 25; Joe Herskowitz, aged 35, and Joe Dolkers, aged 25.

It is charged they have carried on thefts of small packages from parcel post trucks for some time while delivering packages from the railroad station to the postoffice. A shotgun, several boxes of candy, gloves and various articles of wearing apparel are among the articles alleged to have been taken by the trio. They are held for investigation by the grand jury.

AUTO FATALITY IN COURT

M. Underwood, Driver in Collision, Held for Manslaughter.

M. Underwood, who, with C. J. Anderson, was indicted by the Multnomah county grand jury last week for involuntary manslaughter owing to the death of Gustav Johnson in an automobile collision November 21, was arraigned in the court of Presiding Judge McCourt yesterday. He was given 48 hours in which to raise bail of $1000 and released on his own recognizance.

Underwood, who is 78 years of age, was driving to Portland recently, from Iowa. On November 21, the automobile he was driving collided with a machine operated by C. J. Anderson at East Eighty-second street and Powell Valley road. Johnson, who was a passenger in the Anderson machine on his way to look at some real estate offered for sale, was thrown from the car and killed instantly. Civil action for $7500 damages is pending in the local court against the men indicted.

Montesano Prisoner Is Prize Eater, Jailer Says.

Romole Ceccarelli Downs Loaf of Bread, Six Eggs, Apple, Orange, Quart of Water After Supper.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Jan. 6.—(Special.)—"Eat much? I'll say he does," remarked the county jailer at Montesano in reply to a question about Romolo Ceccarelli, a federal prisoner held there.

"His eating record is as hard to equal as his name is to pronounce."

The jailer then elaborated.

"Romolo the other night ate a loaf of bread, a dozen fried eggs, half a pie, an apple, an orange and drank a quart of water. This three hours after he had eaten a hearty supper.

"Of course, Romolo didn't do all this for nothing. He had bet $2 that he could eat what he did eat in half an hour. He did the job in 25 minutes, and at that he cooked the eggs himself. Romolo won the bet, out of which he paid $1 for the provender."

Romolo now wants to bet that he can eat four loaves of bread or two dozen eggs and one loaf of bread at a meal.

Investigation of Criminal Matters Is Begun by Jurors.

Investigations into federal criminal violations were started by the new federal grand jury immediately after it had been organized and charged by Judge Wolverton yesterday afternoon. In the women's division 116 persons were referred to positions during the month, according to the report made yesterday to the city council by the directors of the bureaus. Crook Girls Aid Fund.

PRINEVILLE, Or., Jan. 6.—(Special.)—For the benefit of the woman's building fund of the University of Oregon, the girls of the Crook county high school, prompted by university students who spent the holidays in Prineville, gave a basket social Friday night, which netted $250 for the fund. The students had sought to raise $75 during the vacation. Preceding the auction of baskets, a programme was furnished by University of Oregon students.

WOULD A "TEN" or A "FIVE" HELP ANY?

In the happy vernacular of legal tender, "tens" and "fives" are interpreted in dollars. And these are the amounts that The Sunday Oregonian is offering in its prize weekly letter contest, open to any and all who have the requisite data for candid communications on

"The High Cost of Living in Our Home"

—Offering Weekly Prizes—

FIRST, $10; SECOND, $5

To secure accurate information on the increased costs of living, as they have affected individual families, during the six-year period, 1914 to 1919, inclusive, The Sunday Oregonian offers two cash awards each week for the best letters upon the subject.

The following general rules will apply to the contest:

1—In terms of cash give lump sums expended during the six-year period, by individual years, or by direct comparisons, of 1914 with 1919, for the following items: Food, rent, fuel, shoes, clothing.

2—Percentages of increase should not be employed. Give as nearly as possible exact annual expenditures for the individual items, showing by comparison the increased cash outlay for actual living expenses.

3—Limit manuscrips to 750 words or less. Value of data given will be considered above mere literary merit.

4—Give full name and address for information of the contest editor, though same will be withheld from publication if requested.

5—State number in family for each comparative year, rating as adults all over 16 years of age.

6—Write plainly in ink or typewriter on one side of the sheet only, and address all letters to "Contest Editor, The Oregonian, Portland, Or." Right is reserved by the contest editor to use all manuscripts.

From the information thus gathered The Sunday Oregonian, at an early date, will publish weekly the two prize winners and other meritorious letters.

Information on costs of other items such as travel, medicine, physician's care, or any expenditure that has increased, may be included in the letters, but the main comparative information should be confined to the five items named in the rules of contest.
