

POINTEREVISIONS
REVOLUTION IN U. S.

Germ of Civil War Seen in Demands of Labor.

STRIKE CURB ADVOCATED

Much Fought Feature of Cummins Railroad Bill Championed by Aspirant for Presidency.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 20.—The "anti-strike" clause in the Cummins railroad bill, now in conference between the houses of congress, is the first substantial move made "to solve a problem which has in it the germ of civil war and revolution," United States Senator Miles Poinexter of Washington, an aspirant for the republican nomination for president, declared tonight in an address on "Anti-Strike Legislation," before an audience of business men here.

"If it is not solved by law," he said, "it will be solved in blood and perhaps in the destruction of our institutions. It involves the question whether industrial disputes, the adjustment of wages, the terms and conditions of employment of labor in commerce and industry, where employer and employe cannot agree, are to be adjusted by the orderly process of government, through reason and public opinion as officially expressed, or by force, terror and intimidation. "While it is confined to those engaged in interstate commerce, it indirectly affects every industry, because every industry is dependent upon public transportation. And if the principle is established by the enactment and enforcement of this section, the path will be cleared which can be followed both by the federal government and by the states in the industrial struggles of the future.

Right to Quit Conditioned.
"It will be noted that the word 'strike' is not used in this section. Under it men would have a right to quit work, either singly or collectively, unless it were proved beyond a reasonable doubt that such quitting was in pursuance of a combination or agreement intended to hinder, delay or prevent the operation of trains or other facilities of transportation. "When the people of the United States gave congress exclusive power to regulate commerce, they, by necessary implication, imposed upon it the duty to protect it. The one absolutely indispensable agency of our modern society is transportation, and the power to preserve it is synonymous with the power to preserve the government and the nation itself from destruction. "When transportation is enforced as an economic demand, it is a physical attack upon the life of the nation. "The pending bill establishes a wage-adjustment board and a transportation board for the hearing and adjustment of disputes, and the question involved here is whether we are to determine economic disputes by this legal machinery or by the adjudication of force, in a species of civil war.

Threats Held Menaced.
"Express threats have recently been made by those in positions of power that it would be used to compel the people to use the railroads and turn them over to the officials and employes under what is known as the Plumb plan. "It has been openly proclaimed by men who were largely active in the coal strike and steel strike and the threatened railroad strike that their purpose was not merely to increase wages and shorten the working day, but that it was to abolish the wage system, to communize industry and to overthrow the government. "The government has within itself the power to preserve itself from destruction and its people from the tyranny of irresponsible men, and this bill should be enacted into law."

caucus plan and also to the pending motion of Senator Underwood, democrat, Alabama, for appointment of formal conciliation commission. "The present bi-partisan meetings of the leaders shall fall it will be useless to appoint other conciliation committees. Participants in today's conferences of the informal committees, of which there were two last night, by suspension of the compromise movement were virtually reached at the first session to abolish work with a reservation to the league of nations covenant. After more than two hours of spirited debate, the whole subject was put over.

Better progress, however, was reported at the second session. The preamble to the Lodge reservations, requiring formal acceptance by three of the five principal powers of America...

Dyspepsia and Business

They Don't Hitch—To Be Fit and Yet Eat What You Like—Follow Your Meals With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets—No Gas, Sourness, Nor Heaviness of Indigestion.

Business men and women are apt to fall for the peculiar theories advanced by food faddists. But it isn't what you eat but what you digest and assimilate that should command thought and attention. You may eat fried eggs, sausage, ham or bacon for breakfast and feel tip-top at lunch time. If you follow the meal with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet, of if your stomach is fed at the first appetizing and satisfying sensation of heaviness instead of the food sticking in your throat, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets relieve these distresses and introduce you to the next meal with a contented and a quiet, restful stomach. Many physicians prescribe these tablets for indigestion, dyspepsia and other digestive disorders, as they contain the alkaline properties that work with an alkaline effect just as the stomach does in a state of health. They are particularly adapted for business men and women, who are often called upon to discuss important business matters at a luncheon or dinner. Get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store, eat all you want of what you like with no gassy stomach, no sour, belching, bilious distress, no coated tongue, no heavy, drowsy feeling after eating. KENYON ALIEN BILL HELD UP

Amount of Appropriation Delays Action on Americanization Act.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Consideration of the Kenyon Americanization bill continued in the senate today, but final action was deferred until an agreement could be reached on the appropriation which the bill would carry. As now drafted the bill would appropriate $42,500,000 for the education of aliens and illiterates until the end of the fiscal year in 1923, but this amount is considered excessive by Senator Kenyon and others. Resuming his speech begun yesterday in opposition to the bill, Senator King, democrat, Utah, took up virtually the entire day. He questioned congress' authority to enact such a bill, declaring it was an interference with the powers of states. Many states, Mr. King said, already have made large appropriations for Americanization purposes and are providing for the education of aliens as the senate bill does. Within ten years, the senator asserted, there would be few illiterates in any of the states. Instead of creating federal machinery for Americanization work, Senator King proposed an appropriation for the citizenship bureau which would enable it to co-operate with the states.

TRADE WITH JAPAN GROWS

AMERICAN MARKETS, HOWEVER, LITTLE AFFECTED.

Imports From Nippon Are Mainly Cheap Grade Manufactures, Toys and Novelties.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Despite the steady growth of imports from Japan since the signing of the armistice, officials of the department of commerce indicate that American markets have been but little affected by the influx of oriental goods. Imports from Japan have increased mainly in value than in quantity it is said.

During the 11 months ending with November, 1919, the latest available figures, America imported goods valued at $267,130,187 from Japan, compared with $24,559,502 in 1918 and $228,556,617 in 1917.

One reason for the increase in imports is the shipping facilities, now available. Officials here said that Japan's expansion in foreign trade is regarded as general. Japanese goods which are of the cheaper grades, it is said, do not compete with high class American manufactures. Low grade paper and cotton goods, tea, vegetable oils, silk and bamboo manufactures are said to form the bulk of the Japanese imports. The only classes of manufactures in which Japan and the United States are on a competitive footing are toys and novelties in which the two countries now lead the world, officials say. The constant increase in Japanese export trade not only with the United States, but with the world, indicates that a heavy demand will be made in the far east for American machinery and mechanical devices, experts declare. Japan, it is said, can produce cheaply low grade goods, but must import machinery with which to do it. Trade experts seem to concede that Japan's lead in the cheaper lines but they believe the demand for American manufacturing machinery and office appliances will keep step with the growth of Japanese trade.

John Papatoki tried to run over Sam Politis, proprietor of a fruit stand at Tenth and Hoyt streets, with his automobile and as a result Politis picked up a piece of wood and struck the automobile driver on the side of the face, raising a welt under the eye. This was the substance of testimony which was delivered in municipal court yesterday when Politis appeared to answer a charge of attack and battery. It was brought out that there had been enmity between the two for some time and that they had had a previous case in the circuit court relative to some property.

CONGRESS AIDE ATTACKED

COMMITTEE SECRETARY TO BE RADICAL ADVOCATE.

Concurrent Resolution Requests Removal of Edward Keating, Colorado Ex-Representative.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A concurrent resolution proposing that congress remove Edward Keating, ex-representative from Colorado, as secretary of the congressional committee for reclassification of salaries of government employes, was introduced today by Representative Blanton, democrat, Texas, and referred for consideration to the house committee for reform in the civil service. Keating of unwarranted promises of salary increases to the government workers and organized labor generally of congress because of their opposition to the Plumb plan for tripartite control of the railroads.

While employed by the commission, Mr. Keating, according to the resolution, also has been employed by the Plumb plan league "to disseminate vicious propaganda and to edit and circulate propaganda of a sensational and boisterous sentiment," which is engaged in "exploiting" railroad employes and organized labor generally for $10,000,000 "that is being wasted and misapplied by the Plumb plan league."

ERRATIC BUYING BLAMED

Northwestern Miller Explains Drop in Flour Prices.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special.)—The Northwestern Miller in its weekly price review, says erratic and lower wheat prices have been followed by a drop of 15 cents to 30 cents per barrel in flour. Little buying activity is reported, as purchasers seem to have fair stocks, but mills are busy filling old orders and the grain corporation has advanced government straight soft winter wheat flour 40 cents and declares it has sold a quarter of a million barrels since late in December. Eastern mills soon expect to ship flour ground from Argentine wheat into the west.

SPUD BOYCOTT SPREADS

SAN FRANCISCO MARKET MAN JOINS HOUSEWIVES.

More Expected to Follow—Shima, Japanese Potato King, Held Responsible for Prices.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—(Special.)—"Boycott on Potatoes." This slogan was hung out Monday in front of a produce market at California and Divisadero streets. The firm has decided to join the housewives' league in boycotting tubers at present prices by refusing to handle them until the commission men lower the price, and others are expected to follow. George Shima, the Japanese potato king, is charged by members of the housewives' league as being responsible for the present high-raising prices of potatoes. "Spuds" now are retailing at four pounds for 25 cents. This price, the housewives say, is unjustifiable. They have been looking into the cost of potato production and find that while the cost increased 67 per cent in 1919 over that in 1918, a normal year, the farm returns to Shima were increased more than 150 per cent. Shima, who has been in California 50 years, is credited with being many times a millionaire. He is said to have made much more in Idaho than in Oregon and California than in potato production. There is no question, however, that he controls the market and fixes the price, now abnormally high. Shima is said to have had two bad years—1917 and 1918—due to partial crop failures; now, with a good yield, he will make more money out of potatoes than ever before. The council at its meeting last night framed a letter to the employers, asking an immediate conference with a view to ending the strike and circumventing possible radical disturbance, it was announced.

SEDITION APPEAL TO GO TO LONDON.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 20.—The case of R. B. Law, secretary of the Defense league.

A Bundle of Habits

From birth our lives are largely given to the acquiring of habits. Many habits must displace others previously formed. Commercially, we form most of our buying habits from 20 to 40. During these years each generation decides for itself on material things. The habit of the last generation of the "Saturday-night bath" is displaced evidently, for the modern hotel advertises every room with bath. Perhaps the bathroom fixture people did not bring this change about—but they profit by it enormously. Sunstik wants us all to form the habit of using more lemon products the year round. If they can form a new habit or strengthen an old one they will sell more train loads of lemons. What does habit do for or against your business? Advertising can change habits.
