

MYERS INSTRUCTED TO TURN OVER KEYS

Postoffice Being Operated by Inspector Barclay.

DISMISSAL THOUGHT FINAL

Starkweather's Telegram Asking for Investigation Arouses Ire of Some Democrats.

Frank S. Myers, removed from the office of postmaster by order of President Wilson, was instructed yesterday that he is no longer custodian of the postoffice building and to turn over the keys to Thomas V. Hutchins, assistant custodian.

Some Democrats Annoyed. Since Harvey G. Starkweather telegraphed to Senator Townsend, chairman of the senate committee on post-offices and post roads, requesting that the Myers case be investigated by the committee, other democratic leaders are annoyed.

It is expected that Mr. Myers will go into the courts to prove that he is postmaster and entitled to the compensation of $6000 a year, notwithstanding the statement of the postmaster-general that the department knows what it is doing and the legal points involved have been determined by the courts.

Myers to Be Ignored. So far as Inspector Barclay is concerned, the whole affair is a closed incident and he is pursuing the even tenor of his way. He declares that he is following instructions from Washington and that there is nothing personal between Mr. Myers and himself.

So long as Mr. Myers does not attempt to interfere with the orderly processes of the postal department, no attention will be paid to his claims to the postmastership.
