Robert Hall, Charles Langdale Receive 6 and 8 Years.

SIX CRIMES CONFESSED

Drug Store and Garage Looters Must Pay Penalty for Series of January Crimes.

Robert Hall 19, was given six years and Charles Langdale, 27, was sentenced to eight years in the state penitentiary by Presiding Circuit Judge McCourt yesterday afternoon when they pleaded guilty to participation in six drug store and garage robberies during the early part of January.

Russell Higginbotham, associated with Hall and Langdale in several of their exploits, also pleaded guilty, but asked that sentence be deferred until Monday.

It was with extreme reluctance that Justice McCourt imposed so heavy a sentence upon the youngest of the trio, Hall, who lacks but a month of his twentieth birthday, and in appearance is neat and prepossessing.

It was with extreme reluctance that Justice McCourt imposed so heavy a sentence upon the youngest of the trio, Hall, who lacks but a month of his twentieth birthday, and in appearance is neat and prepossessing.

Under the law, a sentence of life is authorized when there is some chance, some hope that because of your youth your experience may cause you to reform in later years.

Langdale is much older and is wanted in Utah and in Minnesota to face charges of bank robbery. The court did not express as much sympathy with him as he leveled the flat sentence of eight years.

Higginbotham, who will be sentenced Monday, expressed no regret or sorrow as he was not with the other two in all their crimes.

The men sentenced are said to have participated early in January in the hold-up of the Fashion garage, the City garage, the Almsworth garage, the filling station at Third and Stark streets, the Frank Nau drug store and the Nob Hill pharmacy.

ACTOR TO PLAY LINCOLN

BRODERICK O'FARRELL ENGAGED FOR BAKER SHOW.

Smith Stimmel Member of Bodyguard of Martyr President Coaches in Personal Traits.

Broderick O'Farrell, motion picture actor, has been especially engaged by the Baker theater management to play the part of Abraham Lincoln in the historical romance of that name next week.

The veteran, Smith Stimmel of Fargo, N. D. is in Portland this week addressing school children on the life of the great American, and telling the little anecdotes which concern the martyred president which he picked up at first hand.

When Mr. Stimmel learned of the production of the play by the Baker players, he willingly consented to take Mr. O'Farrell in hand and spent several hours explaining the little personal traits, the manner of talk and the peculiarities of Lincoln which will help the actor in presenting an historically correct personation.

"Pictures always show Lincoln more or less in repose," says Mr. Stimmel. "As a matter of fact, he could be very full of animation."

"His thoughtful expression, so often pictured, was not the only one of which he was capable. His blue-gray eyes could snap with fun and the expression of seriousness very quickly could change to a hearty laugh."

"Mrs. Lincoln, a Kentucky girl, was a woman very much the type of Miss Sinclair, who will play the part. She was inclined to be chubby, rather short, and made a very quaint appearance in the big hoop skirts worn in that day."

The play will combine actual incidents of Lincoln's life along with a real love story with genuine heart interest and suspense, which makes the drama of actual interest in addition to the historical interest in the great American.
