

ONLY $41,725 LEFT FOR EMERGENCIES

Statement of City Finances Submitted to Council.

ECONOMY IS IMPERATIVE

Appropriations Not to Be Used Unless Absolutely Needed; Fund to Last Till November.

A detailed statement of the city's finances was submitted to the city council yesterday by Commissioner Piar. The statement was compiled by Chief Deputy Auditor Grube and showed the available balance in the emergency fund to be $41,725.98, which must cover all emergency expenditures until the end of the present fiscal year on November 30, 1920.

Balance is Only $41,725. The warrants outstanding on November 30, 1919, amounted to $13,381.01, the incurrences and special appropriations $19,344.97. The budget appropriations for 1920 totaled $2,680,078.85 and the appropriations made since November 30, 1919, totaled $17,356.01. Money appropriated or set aside to be appropriated was estimated at $4,307,428.42, leaving a balance in the general fund of only $41,725.98.

The city usually has from $150,000 to $200,000 available for emergency appropriations, but the increases granted in salaries of city employees took some of the money intended for this fund. As a result the city began with less than $125,000 in the general fund for emergency purposes, and the drain on this fund has been exceedingly heavy throughout the last two months.

Council Decides on Plan. Members of the city council agreed yesterday that nothing except for absolute essentials could be appropriated from the general fund. Wherever it is possible, appropriations will be canceled and the money in such appropriations allowed to revert to the general fund. Increased revenue, above the estimates made at the time of the preparation of the budget will also aid the council in its financial difficulty.

The present financial condition of the city makes it almost certain that another special levy will be sought from the people next November until the prices of both labor and materials drop materially. Without the special 2-mill levy, which was authorized last November for one year, the city would be absolutely broke, as the declared members of the council, not only in the general fund but in many of the funds of various municipal departments.

OREGON LAW IS UPHELD LOCAL COURT RULES ON PROHIBITION JURISDICTION. Federal Amendment to Constitution Declared Not to Have Superseded State Statute.

Does the prohibition amendment to the national constitution supersede the Oregon law prohibiting traffic in liquor and make it necessary for all bootlegging and similar prosecutions to be brought in federal instead of state courts? It does not, in the opinion of Martin W. Hawkins, district judge in department 3, handed down yesterday in the first case brought by the state against Ed Tracy, in which a demurrer was filed by Attorney Paul Long on the ground that the court had no jurisdiction. Judge Hawkins held that a power once residing in the state and not given up by virtue of the amendment remains in force.

Section 2 of the 18th amendment, cited by the jurist, reads: "The congress and the several states shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation." Attorney Long held that the state would be obliged to enact new legislation in order to comply fully with the provisions of this section. The judge disagreed with him.

"Is the law passed by the state by virtue of the exercise of its police power still in existence? he asked. "The court feels that it is. Unless the federal amendment gives congress the exclusive right to legislate on this subject, either directly or by inference, a state is not deprived of its right. A reading of section 2 discloses the fact that such was not the intention."

MOVING PICTURES NEWS

Scene from Mabel Normand's latest photo comedy, "Pinto," showing at the Rivoli theater in conjunction with the marvelous naval pictures taken from the German submarine U-35, which sank 21 allied vessels.

Among those already selected for the supporting cast are Tully Marshall, Hugh Thompson, Russ Powell and Harry Larraine. Gouverneur Morris in collaboration with Director Wallace Worsley is putting finishing touches to the screen version of the story "The Penalty." The leading feminine part will be played by Ethel Grey Terry, who will be supported by such talent as Lon Chaney, Kenneth Harlan and Charles Clary.

It isn't so many moons ago that whole church congregations gasped in horror and in unison at the mere suggestion of showing a movie in a church. The popularity of the motion picture in the church today reminds us of other days when the introduction of music was regarded as an invasion of the devil. Motion picture producers claim that in the near future the movie projector will be a part of the regular equipment of every church, just as the organ is today. This prediction is on its way toward realization now, for according to a recent "count" made by the community motion picture bureau, 2142 churches in the United States are using movies regularly.

An unusual tribute was paid Norma Talmadge's popularity in New York City last week when two rival houses, the Rivoli and the Strand, both ran her most recent pictures as the feature of their programmes. "She Loves and Lies," the last of Miss Talmadge's releases, in which she plays three different characterizations—a young actress, a young art student of Greenwich village, and an elderly woman of 83 winters—packed the Rivoli, while "A Daughter of Two Worlds," from LeRoy Scott's novel, broke the record for the past eight months at the Strand. This is the first time that rival exhibitors have been sufficiently confident of a star's tremendous drawing power to deliberately release for initial New York showings, two new pictures simultaneously. Miss Talmadge's next release will be "The Woman Given," adapted from Owen Johnson's novel, and directed by Roy Neill. John Holliday, Edmond Lowe and Lucile Lee Stewart are prominent in the supporting cast. As soon as this picture is completed Miss Talmadge is going to Havana for a two weeks' vacation, and then to Palm Beach, Fla., where her sisters Natalie and Constance will join her for a month.

The failure of Wallace Berry, who plays the role of the sheik in the "Prisilla Dean" production, "The Beautiful Beggar," by H. H. Van Loan, to remove his shoes in the mosque scenes, cost several thousand dollars. Tod Browning, who is directing the feature, did not notice the "faux pas" on the part of Berry until the day's run had been projected on the screen. The scenes had to be reshot. As there were several hundred extra people used in the production of the story, Wallace felt guilty at his oversight.

Barney Sherry, who plays Inspector McDowell in Marshall Neilan's forthcoming picture, "The River's End," will give the course of a year he buys no less than 50 suits of clothes to meet the requirements of the variety of parts he plays in that time.

Screen Gossip. The next Mary Roberts Rinehart story selected to be produced at the Goldwyn West Coast studio as an eminent author production is "Empire Builders." It has been decided that Cullen Landis will be entrusted with the characterization of the great boy's part. The remainder of the cast has not been selected.

It is expected Mabel Normand will start work the latter part of this week under the direction of Victor Scharitinger on "The Slim Princess."
