

IRISH BEAUTY ASKS $500,000 FOR LOVE

Amy O'Connor Accuses Allen Grey of Broken Faith.

STORY LIKE "THRILLER"

Plaintiff, Member of Prominent Family, Relates Story of Travel and Entertainment.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 9.—(Special.)—Romance as it can come only with the association of a woman of striking beauty and a man of great wealth is being disclosed in the federal court in the story of alleged facts related by the plaintiff in the case of Amy O'Connor of London, England, against Allen Grey, Evansville millionaire, trial of which began today.

Miss O'Connor, 39 years old, went occasionally as her lawyer Eph Inman, related to the jury the story of her life as it led to her meeting Grey in 1911. She is accompanied at the trial by her sister, Gladys O'Connor of New York.

Allen Grey, 60 years old, throughout the recital of alleged facts by Mr. Inman, sat for the most part with closed eyes, occasionally opening them for a moment to glance in the direction of the plaintiff.

It is alleged in the statement made for the plaintiff that Mr. Grey is worth more than $3,000,000 and the story given in detail to show that the plaintiff's family stood high socially, financially and morally and it was related that she had been educated in the leading schools and universities of Dublin and in France and Belgium.

The story of the alleged friendship between the plaintiff and her defendant as read to the jury had all the details and elements requisite for a "best seller." In it was told how Allen Grey, while traveling with a friend, General Wilson, met Lena O'Connor returning to England from attending school in Belgium and how, at Charing Cross station in London, Lena O'Connor introduced Allen Grey to her sister Amy.

Allegations made in the story told by the plaintiff indicate that Allen Grey spared no expense in entertaining the woman with whom he is said to have associated himself for six years. There were dinners in the leading hotels of London and France, and golf at famous country clubs and motor trips over the Continent.

After the outbreak of the war Grey is said to have returned to New York September 15, 1914, and Miss O'Connor followed and arrived here November 16 and registered at a hotel reserved exclusively for women. The plaintiff charges that the defendant took her to an apartment at 1650 Broadway, where they might be alone.

It is said that on December 21, 1917, Grey announced to Miss O'Connor that he would not marry her. She says that he explained that his brother had told him that she had been chosen for a marriage and he was too old for her to be married. She has filed suit for $100,000 damages against the brother, William Grey, for alienation of affections.

ROSE EXHIBIT SET FOR JUNE 21 AND 22

Erection of Outdoor Booths Is Proposed by Society.

MADISON STREET CHOSEN

Block Between West Park and Tenth to Be Used for Displays. Officers Are Elected.

Monday and Tuesday, June 21 and 22, were selected last night as the dates for the 1920 annual rose show of the Portland Rose society, and Madison street, between West Park and Tenth street, was chosen as the location for the show to be an outdoor affair and different in many respects from any rose shows held here in the past.

The action was taken at the annual session of the Portland Rose society held at the green room of the Portland Chamber of Commerce. The first two days of the Shrine-Rose festival week were chosen so that rose growers in Portland would not be required to hold their roses until the end of the week, but would be able to cut the thousands of blooms not used at the rose show for the benefit of the various shriner events.

The directors of the Rose Festival association will be consulted before the date is set positively, but little doubt was expressed last night but that the plan for the outdoor exhibition will be considerably greater than that of the indoor show of the past.

A new feature will be the regulation providing that only members of the society be allowed to exhibit at the show, instead of having it thrown open to the general public. The growth in membership during the last few months from about 60 to more than 200 has made this an advisable step, it was stated.

Officers Are Elected. The work of the association for the past year was briefly reviewed in the reports of officers, the most important feature being the affiliation with the American Rose society in May, 1919, and insuring the permanent status of the national rose gardens in Portland. Officers for the

PROFITEER CASE IS SET

Demurrer of Defense to Indictment Is Overruled.

Government prosecution of alleged sugar profiteers progressed a step further yesterday when Federal Judge Bean overruled a demurrer filed by the defense to the indictment under which Mr. Anderson was charged with profiteering in sugar while hearing the case was set for March 29.

Mr. Anderson was one of several men arrested by the federal authorities some time ago, charged with selling sugar at "profiteering" prices, ranging from 14 to 16 cents a pound, and was charged with a demurrer in an attempt to have the case thrown out. The action of the court yesterday is taken to indicate that the government is prepared to go forward with the case, and that demurrers which may be filed by the others charged with profiteering in sugar will likewise be denied.

NEW BILLS AT THE THEATERS

Alcazar. HENRIETTE DE SERRIS offers a highly artistic and novel act to top the new bill at Pantages this week. Madame De Serris is an alert, progressive artist who has made a study of her audiences apparently and gone deeply into subjects that will interest and educate. With company of men and women, all trained so perfectly that they take poses and hold them for several minutes, Madame De Serris presents replicas of famous art works, including Greek deities, paintings and statuary. Of these "The Angelus" is faithfully reproduced in color and perspective and was warmly applauded. Another colorful painting, "Confidences," won applause, as did also the beautiful and dramatic reproduction of "Phrosine and Melidor."

Of the stately a splendid and ambitious grouping was "In Defense of the Faith" with soldiers at their guns defending a wounded hero, with Victory surmounting the group, all of it apparently chiseled out of marble, unclothed figures came to life. Another masterpiece, "Attacking a U-boat," was a fine artistic achievement and much applauded.

Young Miss Duffy is a dandy dancer and was cunning little tricks of trade that divert. They have a whistling specialty, a telephone exchange and other oddities of entertainment. A trio of funsters are Eldridge, Barlow and Eldridge, who offer an episode in dance and song in a rural grocery store. One of the two girls is so thin the storekeeper gets her mixed with the spaghetti and the other one looks like an overfed pig. Their antics are so funny and create a riot. The man has a line of new periwinkle and the rejoinders he makes while phoning customers are amusing.

Ward and King have a capital act. One poses as a half-conscious nobody, home type of English dandy and the other is an alert wide-awake American trying to explain to him the various phases of English dandyism. The conversation gallops along, the audience breaks into a continual roar of laughter which never ceases as long as the two comedians keep up their nonsense. As a wind-up they dance cleverly and one of them imitates a flute so naturally that even the orchestra looks deceived.

Bud Snyder and Joe Melio and one other have a riotous last act in which one of the trio does sensational tricks on his bicycle and the other two as tramps, pantomime delightfully. One of them Theda Bara around after she has added some crazy dance or made a disastrous mistake in her calculations. He is diminutive and his weird tramp make-up adds cheer. His falls and accidents have such a semblance of reality that he constantly holds attention.

Curtis Simmons, secretary, re-elected; H. R. Blauvelt, financial secretary; R. J. Joliffe, treasurer, re-elected. Some advice in regard to rose pruning and culture this spring, in view of the heavy freeze in December, was rendered from a letter sent to the society by J. G. Bacher of the Swiss Floral company. Mr. Bacher, unable to attend the meeting, had sent a letter which was read to the society by Mr. Currey.

RETROACTIVE PAYS WON

PHONE COMPANY EMPLOYEES ENTER INTO CONTRACTS. Small Increases in Wages Also Granted in Change From Daily to Monthly Scale.

Small increases in wages, retroactive to February 1, have been secured by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company for certain classes of employees in Portland, as the result of agreements entered into by officers of the company with newly organized groups of men. Under the new contracts the central office men will be paid by the month, hereafter, instead of by the day, the minimum pay in this department for a man of more than three years' experience being advanced from $14 a day, approximately $154 a month, to $165 a month, with a salary of $175 a month to men of peculiar merit. The outside repairmen will receive 10 percent increases from $6 a day to $33 a week.

The central office employees signed a contract with W. D. Moore, retiring district manager, and J. J. Adams, who leaves shortly for Seattle, and H. J. Tinkham, new superintendent of plant, who came here from Spokane to take Mr. Moore's place on Saturday, while on Sunday the outside repairmen signed their contract. Under the provisions of the new agreement the central office men will also receive two weeks' vacation on full pay each year, but will get only straight time pay for overtime, instead of double time, as heretofore. "The Price of One Tire for God!" "We were going over our family budget for the year," said a well-to-do business man to his pastor. "Suddenly I looked up at my wife with a gasp of astonishment. 'Do you see what we have done?' I exclaimed. 'For amusement and the automobile we have allotted ten times as much as we are planning to give to the church and charities. I never realized it before.'"

What they had set aside for benevolence would just about buy one new automobile tire. The price of one tire—for God! The Christian Steward recognizes that God is the owner of his life and wealth; he acknowledges his Stewardship by setting aside first of all a definite portion of his income for God's use.

The Protestant denominations, in cooperation with the Interchurch World Movement have designated February as Christian Stewardship Month. The goal of all the churches together is 10,000,000 Christian Stewards, regularly enrolled in the holy habit of giving of themselves and their resources.

Sunday, February 22nd, has been chosen as Stewardship Acknowledgment Sunday. Will you be one on that day to formally acknowledge God's ownership of your life, your labor and your income?

Will you dedicate some definite portion of your income in His cause? Will you lift God's portion from the bottom of your budget to the top? No other single act that lies within your power can do more to hasten the coming of His Kingdom.
