Commercial Agent Tells of Far Eastern Trade.

MERCHANTS ARE EXACTING

Business Men Have Friendly Feeling for U. S. but Demand Protection Against Frauds.

"Americans who contemplate trade with the people of the far east will find it necessary to establish permanent representation there and to extend longer credits than have been the rule in this country," says Harry M. White, who has headquarters at Soerabaya, Java, as sales agent for the Standard Oil company of New York.

Buyers Demand Protection.

"Demanding credits in the United States, against which the seller may have no recourse, is a practice which is making it difficult for the buyers over there to feel that they are entitled to an opportunity to examine and accept or reject the merchandise," says Mr. White.
