Captain Conville.

AT LIBERTY TEMPLE,

Main 313.

The game is now at its helght—its most exciting stage; and it's a truly wonderful game—this patriotic effort of unemployed veterans and employers to get together—this effort of a patriotic community to provide for its own.

We still have several hundred exsoldiers and sailors who are not yetpermanently placed where they can earn a decent living for thomselves and familles—men who are willing to start in at a reasonable salary where there is opportunity to work permanently lnto a better position—men who did their dury when duty called—men who MUST be placed by the employers of Portland and vicinity.

How is it going to be done? Between made by this office since the bureau opposed—a record that reflects credit upon Portland—a result made possible because the majority of Portland employers are "playing the same."

The remaining few hundred can be taken care of in a day if you, and you, and you, who havent "come across with your share of effort to help absorb the unemployed ex-service men, will GET BUSY NOW—go carefully over your payroll, your list of employes—weed out bere and there whore the cricumstances tustify it—readjust it in every way possible—and phone, write or call upon Captain Convilia concerning the confidential details of your problem. ALL-AROUND cook wants position, but BOY, 15, wants job, store or office, will work steady. Main 4485.

should fay their cards on the table—
open minded, sincere and eagerly ready to act on the captain's recommendations. And most of them do. The employer—in Portland or clsewhere—is likewise invited to lay his case before Captain Conville—to put it squarely up to him to steer the way.

Let's start this policy today—now—and Portland's ex-service men's employment problem will be settled before the week end.

The list of classifications represented
by registered unemployed is appended;
look it over before you employ anyone,
