To Traveling Salesmen---

YOU know the value of the human voice! You know that next to a face-to-face conversation, the best thing is a long-distance conversation. With factories behind with orders, with shipping delays and changing prices, you know how your trade requires a constant, PERSONAL attention. But do you also know that here in the Northwest is a strictly long-distance telephone company, independently owned and operated? That we LIKE to handle rush calls, to locate parties, and to do everything that you might ask a long-distance operator to do? Then the next time you phone a customer or call the house just say, "Northwestern Long Distance" to the operator. A handy, compact book for recording long-distance calls will be sent (free) upon request.

VETERANS URGED TO ACT

George A. White Addresses ex-Servicemen at Eugene. EUGENE, Or., March 12.—(Special.)—George A. White of Portland was the speaker here last night before a mass meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which was held for the purpose of considering beneficial soldier legislation. The meeting was called by the American Legion, Spokane's American War Veterans and Veterans of Foreign Wars, who asked Mr. White to meet with them and explain the status of soldier legislation now before congress. The speaker said that while public opinion doubtless favors fair and equitable readjustment for those who were in service congress was uncertain whether action at this time would be popular and that it was up to the former service men to explain to the people the need for such legislation.
